

Gold closed in New York, on Saturday night last, at 112.

The Boston Gazette doubts if Butler can be returned from Essex district. The people there repudiate repudiation.

Governor Moses, of South Carolina, has been declared bankrupt, with liabilities about a quarter of a million in excess of his assets.

The Army of the Potomac Convention at Harrisburg during last week was largely attended by veterans of the gallant army that won so many laurels in defeat as well as in victory. Very many distinguished officers were present.

The Postmaster General is now in consultation with railroad companies with a view of carrying the mails on lightning express trains with no passengers and only stopping at great distributing centres.

The judicial salary bill, as it came from the House of Representatives, and now goes to the Governor for approval, fixes the salaries of the State judiciary as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Position and Salary. Includes Supreme Judge, Common Pleas, County Districts, etc.

It has been decided by the Supreme Court of New York that when an innocent wife gets divorced and alimony her subsequent marriage does not affect the alimony. The payments must be kept up.

Mrs. O. L. Anderson, having been divorced from two previous husbands and married to the third, her former husbands contributing one $672.50, and the other $3,000 per annum for her support, thought the court would relieve them, as No. 3 was able to take care of his fair charge.

The Masons.

BELLEFRONTE, Pa., May 13.—The following were elected officers of the Grand Commandery of Pennsylvania, to day.

Grand Commander, John H. Daenberry, Grand Bend; Deputy Grand Commander, Charles H. Kingston, Philadelphia; Grand Generalissimo, Andrew J. Kaufman, Columbia; Grand Captain General, W. H. Eggle, Harrisburg; Grand Prelate, Robert H. Pattison, Philadelphia; Grand Senior Warden, Samuel B. Dick, Meadville; Grand Junior Warden, J. P. S. Gobin, Lebanon; Grand Treasurer, M. E. Muekle, Philadelphia; Grand Recorder, Charles E. Meyer, Philadelphia.

In Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia, Tennessee, Texas, in every southern State where it has been possible to strike down carpet-bag domination, there is reconstruction in spite of reconstruction laws. The conservative element has vindicated the capacity of the southern people to restore order and security.

The Ohio state senate now stands 22 democrats to 11 republicans, and in the constitutional convention, where there is a republican majority, it is proposed to re-establish the state that the democrats can only elect 17 senators out of the 33. It is also proposed to divide the two largest counties in the state which happen to be democratic, so as to give the union party representation, without applying the rule to any other portion of the state.

An analysis of the votes of the representatives of the Southern States in the Centennial appropriation gives 34 votes in the affirmative, 31 in the negative, and 24 absentees. Kentucky and Georgia voted unanimously in the negative. Most of the carpet-baggers in Congress voted for the bill. This vote may be regarded as the response of the Southern people to the transcendent and vindictive spirit which they have been treated by Philadelphia ever since the close of the war.

No city in the Union has shown so strong a disposition to keep alive the resentment and animosity of the war as Philadelphia, and for this reason, the people of the South are extremely suspicious of the motives which are behind the proposition to appropriate three millions from the national treasury to celebrate the Centennial of American Independence.

assistant Secretary Sawyer is not well founded. He gives up no office until driven out of it. Conscience does not trouble him so much as check. Eltha B. Washburne, Minister to France, is announced as the coming Secretary of the Treasury.

What a lucky family the Washburns are. For the last quarter of a century the three brothers have been almost continually in office, mostly because they are "harmless creatures and have not the brain or frankness to take a firm position on any side. We hope he will make a good head of the financial department, but there are thousands of men throughout the country who would be his superior in that position.

The nomination of Hon. W. W. Eaton by the Democratic caucus of the Connecticut legislature on the first ballot, by a majority vote over both gentlemen who were named as contestants, will gratify the democracy of the whole country.

There has been begun on a new steamboat to ply between Wilkesbarre and Nanticoke on the North Branch.

A Terrible Calamity.

Three large reservoir dams, located near Haydenville, Massachusetts, gave way about eight o'clock on Saturday morning last, and the liberated waters rushed upon and partly destroyed the manufacturing villages of Williamsburg, Haydenville, Leeds and Florence. So potent was the weight and impetuosity of the current of water that portions of machinery, large stones, beams of wood and other articles were carried along at a fearful rate of speed, and manufactories, workshops and dwellings swept away as if they had been card houses, instead of permanent structures.

The Erie, and Mr. McHenry.

It is now reported, that Mr. McHenry before leaving Europe, had made arrangements with Mr. Watson by which the Erie should lease the Atlantic and Great Western, paying thirty-five per cent, of the gross receipts and invest on the bonds of the road. His business here is to arrange the details. The reason for the lease seems to be pecuniary assistance rendered by Mr. McHenry in effecting loans for the Erie in the English market. It seems to have been very fortunate in this branch of financing. He has raised thirty or forty millions for the Atlantic and Great Western, commencing with the fifty thousand first loaned to it, which proved a dead loss. To regain this, seems to have encouraged Mr. McHenry to secure the investment of thirty or forty millions more, a million out of the Spanish Marquis Salamanca and a million and a half out of Queen Christina. While Sir Morton Peto made a magnificent failure, to make his long desired connection with the same Atlantic and Great Western, Mr. McHenry has managed to keep on top of all the crash and fall of fortunes and hold his own, which now he is at loss what to do with. Hitherto he has taken quite a hand in Erie, but somehow failed, to make his long desired connection with the same Atlantic and Great Western. He is said to have paid Gen. Sickles $100,000 for engineering the Gould despotism. He endorsed Mr. Watson for the Presidency with the ultimate design of leasing the Atlantic and Great Western. He is even said to have lent over $2,000,000 to Erie and in every way tried to show himself its best friend. But there's yet a disconnection in the terms or bargaining and a new system of tactics has been invoked. He proposes to enter the list against all comers, and if Erie remains coy and non-consenting to the match, then some other road shall be offered the right and hereditary of the Atlantic and Great Western. He has some very magnificent themes in railway management as "lowest rates and long contracts" that a road wears out faster than it will not out. Mr. McHenry also proposes to stimulate Western emigration by a daily train to Chicago, costing only $5 per passenger. Thus on a gigantic scale, carrying out Mr. Greeley's favorite doctrine to enable every poor man and his family to go West.

Once More.

Once more, that body of men, who assumed to be the no plus ultra of legislative talent, has adjourned and forever unless it be again called-together, for some special purpose, by the gubernatorial trumpet. That cheering event took place on Friday last and it seems to be hailed with gladness, by the press and the people, throughout the length and breadth of the Commonwealth. This body has done some good things and much that is not good. Some of the most important legislation for the welfare of the masses has been left undone. By the efficient labors of Senator Wallace, the work of chartering corporations is quite thorough, yet the harpes could not allow that to pass without the mark of Cain upon it to show their hylock instincts.

Our bodies are not as vigorous as our minds as clear as they might be. This remark is true of at least two-thirds of civilized society, and for the most part of the remainder of the world. It is a lack of vitality in the primary cause of all our ills, and it is a lack of vitality in the mind and body when the life power of the system is in a comparatively dormant state. The hand, the feet, the organs of the body, the mind and body when the life power of the system is in a comparatively dormant state. The hand, the feet, the organs of the body, the mind and body when the life power of the system is in a comparatively dormant state.
