THE DEMOCRAT

E. B. HAWLEY & CO., Editors.

There will be a colored Representative in the next Congress who is a Democrat. This natural currosity is named Samuel Lee, and he comes from South Carolina.

or Since the late election there is not so much growling among Republicans in regard to the operation of the 'limited vote," as provided for by the new constitution. Had it not been for this feature the Democrats would have elected two Judges of the Supreme Court of this State, instead of one.

Thursday, November 26, having been selected as a day for thanksgiving and prayer, by the President of the United States, Governor Hartrenft has also appointed the same day for its observance in this State. The day bids fair to be more generally observed than for some

It is said the President will not remove officials who worked against the party in the recent elections, despite the fact that Pennsylvania's defeated Republican Congressmen so demand. Is this, then, the initial point of disagreement. The party has repudiated Grant: perhaps he believes that one good turn deserves another."

Two years ago Harry White and James A. White both voted to strike the word white out of State Constitution. Last week, both these gentlemen went before the people and asked to be sent to Congress, (the latter from the Mercer district.) but the people struck both these Whites out of that body. A little rough on the Whites, but they began it?

The following dismal paragraph is going the rounds of the Republican newspapers. There is a dejection and hopelessness about it that is in fine contrast with the warlike utterance of October.

"The tenure of power in the United States senate by the Republicans, all other conditions being unchanged, depends on the lives of six senators now in old age and infirm health, and behind whom are Democratic governors or Democratic legislatures, or both."

One of the first and most essential ef- spot. fects of the recent Democratic success, will doubtless be a swift and searching investigation into the management or mismanagement of the State Treasury for the past few years. There are so many rumors affoat, pro and con, touching this Department, that an investigation cannot, in decency, be shirked .-One thing is quite certain. If things have been run strictly on the square, the matter ought to be established to the public satisfaction. If, on the other hand things are 'crooked, the matter anght to be set out without fear or favor. Let the people know how things stand.

One of the meanest of misers lives in the neighborhood of Buffalo, N. Y., and to feel deeplya ggrieved at this scandalous his name is A. Paxon. He is rich, and desertion of his standard by one who was his art of becoming so is in saving where so active in raising it. The truth is that others would have to spend. A short Mann was so demoralized and upset by time ago he was summoned as a juror .- the Waterloo character of the Democratic He was in attendance four weeks at a victory, that he spoke out for once what dollar and a half a day, receiving a total he really thought, and disclosed the fact of thirty-six dollars. He along, and that Hartranft was only put then bought a tin plate for which he paid forward as a pretext under which to captwenty cents, and every day he filled it at ture and hold Pennsylvania in hand for a soup house that had been op ned for the benefit of the Mann statesmen. The the benefit of newsboys and bootblacks. Republican nomination for the Presiden-He returned home with a clear gain of cy is not so valuable now as it was a thirty-one dollars and sixty cents.

The Amendments to the Constitution of the State of New York appear to have of Pennsylvania in the convention. He been adopted at the recent election, although they have been almost forgotten in the excitement growing out of the results of that and other elections as to any other man that will take it, and await, party candidates. Among the noteworthy himself, a more propitious occasion upon amendments is one which extends the term of the Governor from two to three years. Another amendment increases the pay of the members of the Legislature from $3 per day for a limited time, term of 100 days, to $1,500 for the hardly expect to see in a Democratic parametric parametric of its length. The per so near the great "stead works" at time, term of 100 days, to $1,500 for the hard'y expect to see in a Democratic pa-Governor can veto any item of an oppropriation bill, and he is required to pass ture of this State and other furnaces, so smelt the same sickening odor, and I had j proment of the Legislature within thirty days. Special legislation is practically prohibited, and bribe taking is punishable as a felony.

The estimate for the compensation of postmasters is $7,000,000. an increase of $500.000; for clerks in postoffices, $3,500,000, an increase of $250,000; for the free delivery system,$2-

100,000, an increase of about $300,000; for inland transportations. $18,026,796. an increase of over $1,000,000. If the Postoffice deficiencies for the current year amount to $7,000,000, as expected, Congress will be asked to appropriate over $24,000,000 for the postal service this winter, or about $4,000.000 more Congress cut down these demands ?-That remains to be seen. With decreasing receipts there should be diminished expenditures.

The late elections have ended the labors of that class of politicians who "go for cash."

The Democratic party must begin a once to end forever the business of those men who have lived so long on "the cash" which they ask, demand, or take for political service.

The curse of the Radical party, or rather one of its curses, was the gang of creatures it brought into life who were known as always "going for cash." Votes bills, legislation, contracts were to be had for cash, and these creatures were the agents to buy or sell.

Offices were put up for sale, and who had most money was the most successful. "Put np your cash" was the demand made on every occasion to every applicant for office, from the man who applied for a policeman's badge to him who asked the nomination for Governor, Judge, or any other post of high public trust.

The Democratic party must now put n end to this business.

Let the first question that is now ask ed of a candidate be, "did you put up

No greater good than this could possibly come out of the return of the Dem ocracy to power. It would end the men and the party lately known as "the Radical gang."

The extinguished Mann, of Philadelphia, when he was interviewed by a re porter as to the prospects of the Repubican party of the county, declared that he could see no salvation for it but the nomination of Blaine for the Presidency. As Mann was one of the chief engineers of the Harrisburg Convertion which put Governor Hartranft in nomination as the Republican condidate for the Chief Magestracy, the Governor has good reasons month ago, and it may be that Blaine will not appreciate the gift which Mann and company desire to make him, of the vote will not care for the empty honor of a Presidential nomination, and is likely enough to shove it back on Harranft or

The Typhoon in China. FIVE THOUSAND LAVES LOST.

The following letter from Macao, pub payers demand that less money shall be lished in a Hong Kong paper under date expended in carrying on public affairs. of September 24th, will give some idea How is that demand answered by the of this frightful storm and the terrible Chinese houses will receive the statemen

A most dreadtul calamity has befallen and in the estimated expense of that there is an increase instead of a reducthere is an increase instead of a reduc-tion. The estimates for the postal ser-vice for the ensuing fiscal year foot up $36,294,034, an increase over the amount tions of the barometer gave sure signs appropriated for the current fiscal year of that something serious was brewing, and that a typhoon was to be feared. The bad. The method of cremation was wind was not strong but the sea was high very simple ! too simple, indeed, for any and, although not tempestuous, there was a sound of awful menace in the moan with which it broke on the shore. The blowing of the wind steadily increas ed from the north quarter, and at midnight the inner harbor tegan to be a tended describing the process of barning. scene of destruction, the junks loosing their moorings, striking each other, and being mashed to pieces. A Chinese gunboat capsized on this occasion with three Englishmen on board. In the town the roofs of houses began to move and the tiles flew about like hail. Every moment this winter, or about $4,000.000 more the wind grew stronger, the barometer than was appropriated last season. Will steadily falling. Sudenly the wind veered to the east. Then the sea, which had been rising gradually, increased to an enormous wave verleaped its usual limits, and struck in a body with tremendous force, the whole course of the Praia Grande. The water rushed into the houses, the quays were destroyed, the large grante stones hurled about, the guns of the batteries dismoun-ted and borne like feathers on the enfuriated wave, the innks were smashed by the buildings. In less than an hour th work of destruction was accomplished every house was invaded by the water and battered down, the spray flew over the Government House, and the houses to the southern extremity of the Prais were duced to a shapeless heap of stone and brick.

The desolation of the town now reach ed its acme. The crash of falling houses the screaming of the victims, people running to and tro in the streets, pursued rushing water, the terrible of the wind and of the sea, all this was something awful to hear or see. Suddenly an ominous glare appeared some parts of the town, and the flames whipped on by the gales, rushed in hor izontal streams over the largest squares devouring the buildings that stood even at great distances in their direction. The lurid glare of these fires was reflected by the waters which invaded the doomed town in every direction. On this occasion the loss of life was tearful. People had only to choose their death by water fire, or the shock of falling buildings; but death was everywhere. Many peryour cash?" and if it can be shown he but death was everywhere. Many pereven proposed to do it, defeat him on the recesses of their nouses found themselves suddenly surrounded by the flames, and perished miserably.

The town is overthrown. If the Chiness hordes had been in possession of it after an assault it would not have been worse. It is beartrending to see this dire calamity, Everywhere you hear the la-mentations of the unfortunate victims.-To give an idea of the extent of the loss in native shipping I may say that in the Typa Harbor, in the beginning of the typhoon, there were 600 junks, while after it only 14 were found.

Corpes strew the banks everywhere; wrecks are to be found in the most extraordinary locations. A junk was thrus into Mr. Ybele's house, and many junks are on the hills at Lapa Island. The native villages near Macao, have been swept way. Typa and Colowan are no more.
The loss of life there is considered to exceed 2,000 persons. In Macao perhaps greater.

It is thought that there never was such an extraordinary cataclysm as this in these regions; the barometer's indication went off the scale. Since the typhoon a very strong westerly wind has been blowing, and but few boats are seen plying about.

I write in the midst of the ruin, death I do not think anyone ever saw mere ghastly signts than I have seen during the past few days. A battle field must be horrible enough; but then that man's work and when man likes that may be seen no longer. But the sights of death and desolution that are around me now defy man's power to prevent, and the sense of one's utter helplessness seems to add to the pain which they cause But my purpose is no: to moralize. Having seen all the chief thoroughfares and buildings of Macso. I determined to visit the shot which one might judge to be nost fatal-the Chinese district, near the Barra Fort. It was no use to take chair, for the way lies over mounds of debris, on which one can walk only with the utmost difficulty, and, occasionally not a little danger. No description could convey an adequate idea of this desolat ing scene. As you near the place you bodies thrown ashore by the waves or disentembed from fallen houses I had no defficulty to recognizing it now. The large mass from over which I was treading was indeed a sepulchre, a mighty tomb. What number of dead bodies are lying beneath them will not be known for waks. The putrid e-sences which they emit are the only indications of death. A woman sits and and desolate on a rude bean of stones, which once formed her dwelling, while coolies are naked men and women, homeless and destinne, are sharn g a miserable meal of
