Fuel From Coal Dust-The Loiseau process, by which fuel is made from coal dust, is to be applied on a large scale in Philadelphia this winter. The manner in which the coal dust is treated and rendered suitable for use has been already described at length. The correspondent of a Philadelphia

Two men are kept hard at work covering them with the colored inks and passing them to a man and girl, who are equally busy at printing them with large rolling hand presses. Three of these little squads are employed all the time, although ten presses can be put into use in case of necessity. After the small sheets of paper upon which the two hundred stamps are engraved have dried enough they are sent into another room and gummed. The gum used for this purpose is a peculiar composition, made of the powder of dried potatoes and other vegetables mixed with water, which is better than any other material, for instance gum arabic, which cracks the paper bad ly. This paper is also of a peculiar texture, comewhat similar to that used for bank note: After having been again dried, this time on little racks which are fanned by steam power for about an hour, they are put between sheets of pisteboard, and pressed in hydraulic presses capable of applying a weight of two thousand tons. The next thing is to cut the sheets in half; each sheet of course, when cut, contain a bundred stamps. This is done by a girl with a large pair of shears, cutting by hand being preferred to that of machinery, which method would destroy too many stamps. They are then passed to two other squads, who in as many operations perforate the sheets between the stamps. Next they are pressed once more and then packed and labeled, and stowed away in another room, preparatory to being put in mail bags for dispatching to fulfill orders. If a single stamp is torn, or in any way mutilate the whole sheet of one hundred is burned.-About five hundred thousand are burned every week from this cause. For the past twenty years not a single sheet has been lost, such care has been taken in counting them. During the progress of manufacturing, the sheet, are coun ted eleven times.

For gentlemen who wish to dress well.—The Washington Street Tailons have engaged the services of the celebrated W. H. Lindly, a gentleman of considerable note with the tailoring fraternity of this country. They are now prepared for the summer trade, as they have just received all the new things in the way of cloths, cassimers and vestings. Their references are the best, having taken the first premium at the

Mr. E. S. Warner, the manufacturer of the Wyoning patent spring bed; has removed his factory from this city to Montrone, Pa. The beds will be sold to this city by E. D. Robinson, and by Mr. J. Donley, of Washing ton street. There beds are made of rows of spiral strength of the prings, attached to each other by bands of hoop-fron, in such a manner as to lawron occlusion for vermin harbor. This advantage will be appreciated by all housekeepers. It is made in two sections, so that two persone, as a child and addit, can sleep in the same bed without crowding to the side occupied by the heavier. This advantage is, we believe possessed by no other spring. For durability, case, and comfort, and for adaptability to every bed, it far surpasses anything of the kind we have ever used, and we hope it will have sale large enough here to induce the manufacturer to roturn to Biaghamton.—Geo. J. Reid, Biaghamton Eep.
