farm and Household.

Winter on the Farm. It is difficult to suggest much that is new in the operations of the farm for these opening months of the year. The labors of the season are simple and not so exacting as at some other times. There is the stock in the barn that is now especually dependant on our care, and its thrift and prosperity hang chiefly upon judicious and liberal management. We can stint in food, we can neglect to give it minute care and attention to promote its comfort and growth, but the result will inevitably affect our pockets sooner or later. There is nothing to be gained by neglect, and self interest ought to lead us to give it our earnest thought and Cattle not unfrequently suffer in winter for want of water, They are turned out perhaps twice a day, and left out long enough to help themselves if they would. But unless let out immediately after a full feeding of dry food they will not always incline to drink at first, and the owner gets impatient and will not wait. They are tied up again and com-pelled to wait till towards night perhaps before they are let out again. They may then drink too freely of extremely cold water, often to be got only by breaking through the ice. This is a bad way to do but it is by no means uncommon, It is the tault of the feeding. If they are fed preperly there is little difficulty in inducing them to drink. It is a great convenience to have water brought into some warm place in the barn cellar, where it does not freeze over, and where stock can have easy access to it.

We do not believe it is a good plan to keep animals exposed to the cold storms in the yard through our long winter days. They can stand a considerable degree of cold without much suffering, to be sure, but many farmers leave them out in all weathers, often when if they could have the r choice they would very quickly seek shelter in the barn. But we would not on the other hand, keep them too warm. That is, perhaps, about as objectionable as to err in the other direction. Our New open to this objection. They are in too many cases too open and cold, though now and then, there is a tight and poorly ventilated stable that is an exception. For feed at this season, we like to have some roots, especially Swedes and rutabagas. They make a very palatable change from dry hay. Cattle relish them too, and we believe in humoring the appetite a little. Mangolds are better to feed out teth the little rascal to make himself later, say after the first of March. The mangold keeps improving in quality, it is said, till the spring.

It is quite important at this time of the year to provide a sufficient supply of warm bedding for stock, and the "orts" and coarse hay and straw that are rejected by the cattle may be used for this purpose. At other and warmer seasons sand makes a very clean and useful litter and we like to use it freely, but it does not impart that warmth that is needed in extreme cold weather. Leaves that were collected in the fall are excellent for this purpose, and they have the advantage that they are not so full of weed-seed as the coarse hay from the mangers. If we had plenty of leaves we would use them freely for bedding now. They make cap-tal manure also, and if any farmer neg lected to store up a lot of them it was a mistake that ought to be borne in mind to correct next year. After attending to be chores about the barn and the woodthe light we can get to farm profitably in a severe elimate and a somewhat sterile and exhausted soil. Now it would be and intelligent as that in any portion of the civilized world. Certainly it ought to be with our boasted system of common schools. But somehow or other, the practical results when compared with those obtained in England is not only in-telligent but we know it is profitable, for the tenant farmer even can and does afford to pay from five to twenty five dollars per acre, annual rent, and necessity compels him to bring the highest degree of intelligence to bear upon the farming operations. If we should admit, therefore, that it does not pay to be a farmer here, we must admit the want of greater intelligence in the management and the development of our lands, for certainly the same intelligence ought to pay better than in England, on account of the numerous markets by which we are surrounded and which are as easily accessible, and the lower price which the owner-ship of land involves. We can see no real reason why farming, with the same intelligence, should not pay as well here as in England.

A poultry keeper in Westchester country, N. Y., sends a local paper an account of the results of some experiments in this direction, as follows:

"Last summer I hatched 122 chicks from eggs selected on this principle, 119 of which were pullets. I always select eggs of medium size, believing them to be the best for the purpose. I then get a large lamp (kerosene) and take an egg in my right hand, between the thumb and the two forefineers, big end upper.

This will throw the light in the egg then turn it around slowly and you will perceive a dark spot the size of a three cent piece directly in the centre of the large end or on one side. As I raise poultry for eggs and for market, I of course set only eggs for pullets, with a few for cockerels to replace cocks of last year.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Mineralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VIN-EGAB BIFFERS occasionally. For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter,

For Skill Discuss, Eraptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pus-tules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ringworms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scuris, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Discusses of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelminities, will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Jaundice.—In all cases of jaundice, rest assured that your liver is not doing its work. The only sensible treatment is to promote the secretion of the bile and favor its removal. For this nurnose use Vinegal Bitter than the secretion of the bile and favor its removal.

moval. For this purpose use VINEGAR BIT-Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.
