Professor Wickersham, supérintendent of common schools, takes issue with Judge Elwell who in a case before him decided that ten mills was the maximum tax which could be imposed for school purposes. As the subject interests a large number of people we append the views of the state superintendent :

1. The amount of state and county tax now authorized to be assessed is thirteen mills on the dollar, although real estate is exempt from a Lewis Smith is repairing the saw mill at portion of this tax. It is exceedingly doubtful Park Vale, in order to be ready for the spring (section 28, act of May, 1854, P. L., 923,) whether a board of school directors can levy a tax o one amount upon one kind of property, and a tax of another amount upon another kind of property-ten mills on real estate and thirteen mills on personal property. They are required to "determine the amount of school tax which shall be levied in thair district;" that is, all the property of the district. Besides, the amount so determined is not only to be levied on "all objects, persons or property made taxable," but on all "to be made taxable," for state and couny purposes, and real estate may be made taxble for state purposes at any time. It certain ly never was meant that all the irregularities and inequalities of state and county taxation for school purposes; and, if they should be lost in this bequest, what in all probability will home, three miles east of Montrose, and have made to do so, the levying and collecting of school taxes would be practically almost im-

2. The act of May, 1854, P. L., 623, compels boards of school directors to levy such taxes as shall, with the money received from other sources, be sufficient and necessary to keep the schools of the district open not less than four nor more than ten months in the year." The penalty of non-performance of this duty is loss of state appropriation. The act of April 1865. P. L., 62. The minimum school term is now five months; but a district that is able to keep its school open only four months with the maximum tax allowed by law is not subject to the penalty inflicted in other cases. The law, however, positively enjoins that every school disthe year, and that every one that can do so with the maximum tax allowed to be levied or loose its state appropriation. was naturally of a lively turn of mind and her presence was bailed with satisfaction by all her companions. Her life was brief but long enough to win the respect and love of all her acquaintances. She possessed a kind and genial disposition and it was her aim and delight to make all her associates happy. She felt sorry for the afflicted every where and sighed that so much dissention and evil was in the world and longed for the time to come when sin should be ended and sorrow unknown.

That time has come to her thus early but not before she deserved it. Her death has cast a shadow over her family, that nothing but their trust in God's father, leave could brickers. Her trust in God's fatherly love could brighten. Her tuneral was attended at Brooklyn, Feb. 8th, by a very large audience of relatives and sympa-thizing friends.
