Circulation increasing TWICE as fast as any Paper in Northern Pennsylvania.

Gold closed in New York, on Saturday at 117 1/2.

Mr. Henry Rawle makes the race for state treasurer with a serious drawback. First, he is the candidate of the Ring charged with profiting by treasury mismanagement and anxious to screen its past operations from future investigation.

The city of Baltimore has an old-fashioned way of dealing with official delinquents, which takes us back to the time when Grant was learning his trade as a tanner, when Babcock was not, and when Tweed was getting an honest living as a chair maker.

The next muscular sensation will be the struggle of the college boat crews at Saratoga, July 15. Thirteen contestants are entered for the regatta, and the sporting columns of the daily press are largely devoted to the descriptions of the age, height, weight and condition of the collegians who are to take part.

The Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer looks up the net results of Bristol's whisky raid as follows: "Evidence has been collected for an assessment of $817,000 in fines against the offenders. One hundred and fifty-two different packages of illicit whiskey have been seized, and forty-seven distilleries and rectifying houses. There have been fifty-six officers removed for complicity in the whisky frauds or neglect of duty.

The jury in the Beecher case failed to agree standing nine for Beecher and three for Tilton. It is a relief to all who are interested in the rising generation, to know that this source of obscenity and immorality is now dried up and we hope never to flow through our land again.

Still Another New Motor.

A DISCOVERY THAT MAY YET MAKE A NOISE.

The following sketch is from the New York Sun. Mr. Webster is well known throughout this section, and was for a long time a member of the one well-known firm of Boyd & Webster, hardware dealers of Montrose, but has for several years resided elsewhere.

Thirty-five years ago a poor lad named Abel Lee Webster attended the Brighton Academy and studied those branches which his means permitted. He was too poor to pay the extra fee charged for tuition in philosophy and chemistry.

Mr. Webster put the little model in working order, and in a moment it was enough for everybody to see and understand, in cooling it too suddenly, one of the light boilers collapsed, and is not yet repaired.

On Saturday a poorly dressed man and boy—the latter about four years old—arrived at Pittsburgh from Wheeling. The former was what seemed the cast-off garments of somebody else, and the child had a pair of shabby, worn-out shoes and a tattered hat, with nothing on his head or feet.

The chief, after looking at him in genuine astonishment for a moment, says the Pittsburgh Sun, "I am asking you how he got here, and under what circumstances." "I was in confinement, a month he replied. He was in confinement, and having seen the child, pronounced it not the right one, when he was told by the physician that the child and little boy to this city.

WASHINGTON, July 1.—The executive committee of the National Grange of the Patrons of Husbandry, held a meeting today to consider and decide upon several important points affecting the order, and will probably in session a week or two days.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—The following synopsis of the condition of certain crops has been received from J. R. Dodge, statistician of the department of agriculture. The condition of winter wheat generally is still reported low. A marked improvement is observed since the April and May returns, in the winter wheat prospect of the west especially in Kansas.
