Farm and Household.

Preserving Sweet Corn.

It is all very well, perhaps, to advise people to can sweet corn, for the experience may be valuable in sweetening their tempers, but the corn will sour. If it i well done, it will look beautifully white and be sweet (if you add sugar enough preparing it for the table;) but requires so much boiling, and to be canned so quickly and so hot, that, except in factories, people are apt to have bad luck with it.

The thing to do is to shave and scrape the corn from the cobs daily during the season of surplus sweet corn, to dry this at first on sheets of tin in the sun, then on sheets on which it can be moved and mixed frequently. In hot, dry weather the corn will dry enough in the sun, but should the weather come on moist or rainy, it must be brought into the house and dried slowly in the stove oven, the door being open, upon bricks over the stove, or in any similar safe place. It must not scorch nor lie in masses so that it will ferment. It is no "trick" to do this well, and it is sweeter and better, but not so nice looking as the canned. it is on account of the danger of having large masses at once when rainy weather comes on, that we advise drying some daily.—When dry, preserve it in bags, hung up away from mice.

Shelter for Wheat.

Although there is a division of opinion as to what constitutes the best protection for fruit farms—particularly for peaches—there is, however, no question of the value of shelter belts of woodland or hedges for the protection of wheat. Mr. Carpenter, a prominent farmer of Oakland county, many years planted a hedge of white willow along one side of his farm He is now reaping an advantage from it not contemplated in setting it out. The hedge having grown up very tall, and by judicious management well thickened forms an abundant shelter for wheat, The snow which other-wise would be blown off from the field is retained, and forms a mantle of protection. without the growth of similar shelter belts the production of winter wheat will become more precarious, and soon we shall have to follow in the footsteps of our neighbor further west, and depend upon spring wheat for bread.

Poultry.

Poultry breeding has now come to be regarded as important a branch of farm industry as the raising of swine and sheep. In one sense it is of more importance, in that it is not every farmer who can keep sheep or swine with advantage, but every one who owns or rents a plot of land if only the size of a city lot, can keep a few head of poultry with both pleasure and profit. When taken into consideration the vast number of eggs consumed in the United States—the city of New York alone using during the year 1875 upwards of 340,000,000 costing, at wholesale, about $6,292,000 and when we note the immense number of tons of poultry sold in all the large cities of the Union, we can not call the poultry interest one of minor importance. Yet it is but a few years' since the name of poultry seemed to convey the idea of insignificance. Now however, the proprietors of large stock farms have their flocks of pure bred fowls which get thier share of attention and study as well as the horned cattle and horses; and the net income from a well managed poultry yard is no small addition to the farm receipts.

Mangolas and Sweet Beets for Swine.

For cheap winter food for store pigs and breeding sows, I know of nothing equal to mangolas and sugar beets, excepting skim milk; and if I could have beets twice a day and milk once, I should think their food about as near right as possible. Sugar beets are the most nutritious of all roots, except potatoes, and contain over seventeen per cent. of organic matter, a large part of which is sugar and that is just what is wanted to keep up the animal heat in winter, yet they contain so much water that they are more suitable than corn for any but fattening stock. Half a bushel a day is sufficient for a hog.

A Sucking Cow.

The Chautauqua Farmer contains the following:

T. C. W., Akron, O., writes: I have a valuable cow that has taken to sucking herself dry. Can you or any one of your subscribers tell me how to cure this habit?

It seems to be entirely impossible to break some cows of this habit, hence a great many persons have come to the conclusion, after many experiments, that it is best to put the cow into a beef barrel. The following method of treating a self sucking cow is said to be effectual: Put a strap around her neck and another about midway around her body. Take a stick about the size of a hoe handle, and long enough to reach from one strap to the other. Pass the stick between the fore legs and fasten it to both straps. It will be impossible for her to suck with it on.

Dry Foot Rot in Swine.

This complaint is mainly due to filth though various other causes are known to produce the same effect. As soon as the soles are discovered to be in a dry, cheesy and scaly condition, the animals should be removed to well littered quarters. This decayed parts should be carefully pared and scraped off with a knife not too sharp, as it is necessary to avoid wounding the sensitive part of the foot. The feet should be examined daily, or every other day, according to their conditions, and a small portion of the following mixture applied: "Creosote, half an ounce; spirits of turpentine, one ounce; olive oil, four ounces. Shake before using and apply with a small brush."

Notes.

Buckwheat sown with potatoes drives away the potato bug. This is simple and can easily be tried. The bugs will not disturb potatoes on land where buckwheat has been raised the previous year. Toads are very beneficial to gard-ns.—They destroy large numbers of bugs, which would otherwise prove destructive to vegetation. Every available means for securing the destruction of noxious insects should be made use of.

A correspondent of the Country Gentleman, in the grasshopper region of Nebraska, thinks the "general government should do something to destroy them among the hatching grounds in the mountains and such efforts would be for the honor and profit of the nation."

A matter at a recent farmer's meeting was, "None but live stock should be watered.

A St Louis lady has discovered that twenty-five inches of her acquaintance are becoming bald from wearing false hair.

Montrose, September 29th, 1875.

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care. Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever. It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean. By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong. As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual, or desirable. Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

Buckingham's Dye, FOR THE WHISKERS.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade, to brown or b a k at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color which will neither rub nor wash off.

They purge out the foul humors of the blood: they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organ into action; and they impart the health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skilful Physicians, most eminent clergymen, send us our best references, send certificates of cures performed and of great benefits they have derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable they are entirely harmless.

VEGETINE

—WILL CURE—

SCROFULA,

Scrofula Humor.

Vegetine will eradicate from the system every taint of Scrofulous Humor. It has permanently cured thousands in Boston and vicinity, who had been long and painful sufferers.

Cancer, Cancerous Humor.

The marvelous effect of Vegetine in cases of Cancer and Cancerous Humor challenges the most profound attention of the medical faculty, many of them are prescribing Vegetine to their patients.

Canker.

Vegetine has never failed to cure the most inveterate case of Canker.

Mercurial Diseases.

The Vegetine meets with wonderful success in the cure of this class of diseases.

Pain in the Bones.

In this complaint the Vegetine is the great remedy, as it removes from the system the producing cause.

Salt Rheum.

Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald head, &c., will certainly yield to the great alterative effects of Vegetine.

Erysipelas.

Vegetine has never failed to cure the most inveterate case of Erysipelas.

Pimples and Humors of the Face.

Reason should teach us that a blotchy, pugh or pimpled skin depends entirely upon an internal cause and no outward application can ever cure the effect. Vegetine is the great blood purifier.

Tumors and Ulcers.

Are caused by an impure state of the blood. Cleanse the blood thoroughly with Vegetine, and these complaints will disappear.

Catarrh.

For this complaint the only substantial benefit can be obtained through the blood. Vegetine is the great blood purifier.

Constipation.

Vegetine does not act as a cathartic to force out the bowels, but cleanses all the organs, causing each to perform the functions devolving upon them.

Piles.

Vegetine has restored to health who have been long and painful sufferers.

Dyspepsia.

If Vegetine is taken regularly, according to directions, a certain and speedy cure will follow.

Faintness at the Stomach

Vegetine is a mild stimulating bitters which creates a fictitious appetite, but a gentle tonic, which assists nature to restore the stomach to a healthy action.

Weakness.

Vegetine acts directly upon the causes of these complaints. It invigorates and strengthens the whole system, acts upon the secretive organs and allays inflammation.

General Debility.

In this complaint the good effects of the Vegetine are realized immediately after commencing to take it; as debility denotes deficiency of the blood, and Vegetine acts directly upon the blood.
