

A union of lakes, and a union of lands, A union no power shall sever; A union of hearts, and a union of hands, And the American Union forever!

MIFFLINTOWN, Wednesday Morning, July 26, 1865

"FEARLESS AND FREE."

A. L. GUSS, Editor.

Lev. 23: 16. Proclaim Liberty Throughout the Land to ALL the Inhabitants Thereof.

THE JUNIATA SENTINEL has the largest circulation of any paper published in this County. It is therefore the best advertising medium. It is a paper, truly loyal, ably conducted, a first class localist, and wholly worthy of the patronage of every loyal citizen in the County.

Treason must be made odious; Traitors must be punished and impoverished. Their social power, must be destroyed; And after making treason odious, every Union man and the Government should be remunerated out of the pockets of those who have inflicted this great suffering upon the country.—President Johnson, April 21, 1865.

Stonewall Jackson's God.

We are indebted to John J. Quay, at Lynchburg, Va., for a copy of Rev. Jas. B. Ramsay's Sermon on the death of rebel Gen. Stonewall Jackson, 1st Presbyterian Church, Lynchburg, Va. May 21, 1863.

Of course this misguided man is held up as model of christian holiness—and he Johnnies are exhorted to let their watchword, when charging on the Yankees, be, Forward in the name of Jackson's God, and this would insure them victory over the foes of the Country, the Church and Christ? From the looks of the "last ditch" which the rebels lately found we judge the Chivalry must have reversed the motto and gone, "Backward, in the name of Jackson's devil." Ramsay consoles himself that though Jackson is dead yet says he "the noble chief of our armies, our beloved and honored and magnanimous Lee is strong in the fear of God." How are you now Mr. Ramsay and how is the strength of Lee?

Genial Acquaintances.

Man is a social being—God hath made him so. To spend years without speaking to any one must be an awful punishment. Yet there are some people so dry and morose that one would think they would be content to live in a world by themselves. However we do not belong to that class. We like company—we love a pleasant, genial friend—yet like all other people we have our own peculiar notions of what constitutes an agreeable person. We believe it is right and christian, while we think enough of all, to think more of some special ones, for we find that even the Savior had a "beloved disciple" among the twelve. He loved all, but especially loved John for some reason just as we prefer some of our friends before others. Kindred spirits are attracted by each other. Some men love others for the very same reasons that others hate them. As men differ about beauty, so they differ as to the agreeable.

Since we have made our home in Mifflin, we formed the acquaintance of a great number of very genial friends—persons whose pleasing smiles and familiar how-do-you-do's have given us much pleasure. And we are sorry that we can not say so of all. However, we can say that the lines have never been drawn by Church nor Party.

The duty of placing the manacles upon Mrs. Surratt, securing her to the gallows, and supporting her until the trap fell, devolved upon Lieutenant Col. W. H. McCall, of Lewisburg, Penna. When placing the irons upon her wrists, she told him he was no gentleman, or he would not do so. Colonel McCall told her that it was his unpleasant duty, in obedience to orders, and not his choice. Her parting salute to him was, "You are a scoundrel!" which were about the last audible words she uttered.

We never saw more looking finer at this time of the year than it now does in this country.

What Constitutes a Democrat.

We are credibly informed that two old copperheads were talking together about President Johnson coming over to the Democracy. The conversation took place some weeks ago—before the conspirators were hung. The one remarked "Andy Johnson is coming over to the Democracy—in fact he always was a Democrat."

"Well I don't know—I do not see what evidence you have of his Democracy," replied the other.

"Why I'm sure he has not hung any of the conspirators as yet."

"No—he has not done it yet, but I'm afraid he will."

"No! I do not think he will—in fact he dare not—he knows the Democratic party is opposed to shedding any more blood."

This evidence of Johnson's democracy was given in good earnest and without knowing that any one heard it. Every one may make his own comments. We notice that stock in Johnson's democracy has gone down about 95 per cent below par since the execution. And when he hangs that great representative democrat, Jefferson Davis, we fear they will give up all hope of converting Johnson.

Did Jeff Davis try to play off as a Woman.

Nearly all the copperheads have such a warm side for Jeff Davis that they deny that he put on a female disguise in order to escape. So responsible is the democratic party for the rebellion and so heartily did they sympathize with it, that they feel the disgrace of the petticoat story as a personal matter. They say there is no evidence for it, at least like the "end of the war," they can't see it. One of the editors of the Miltoian, just from the army says:

We were but a few miles from the scene of Jeff Davis' capture at the time, saw him brought in, heard the testimony of Lieut. Boutel, (who was wounded in the fracas with the 1st Wisconsin) Lieut. Purniton, who was one of the officers in charge of the detachment of the 5th Mich. which captured Jeff, Lieut. Pogsley, who was also along, Andrew Beale, private 4th Mich. who discovered Jeff through the disguise by seeing his boots, and nearly every one of the detachment engaged in the capture and they all told the same story—that he was disguised as a woman with morning gown, shawl &c., and had started for water. This they told on the day he was captured, telling it not by way of ridicule, but to show how nearly they came to losing him, and perhaps without a thought as to how ridiculous an ending it was to the Southern Confederacy. We are well acquainted with the officers and men above named and know them to be gentlemen of veracity. Furthermore we heard the capture talked over and the female part of it laughed about in the presence of Davis and his party as a matter about which there was no room for doubt, and without any denial. We consider there is no more doubt that Jeff Davis was disguised in the garb of a woman when captured than that we have an existence.

The Pennsylvania School Journal.

The July number begins the fourteenth volume of this valuable educational periodical. It is to be regretted that so few of the teachers in this county take it. How they can teach successfully and keep posted on all the various acts transpiring in the educational world without it, is a mystery to us. The Journal is almost indispensable to the faithful teacher.

The editor, Thomas H. Burrows, is the oldest and most prominent, practical and useful Educator in the State, and has, probably done more for the cause of common School education in Pennsylvania than any other living man. All the best years of his life have been devoted to it and his extensive experience and practical knowledge enable him to publish just such a journal as faithful teachers need.

We wish that every teacher in the county would subscribe for and read the School Journal. If they would we know that we would have better teachers and better schools. It is published by T. H. Burrows, Lancaster Pa., at the low price of one dollar a year, cash in advance.

President Johnson has written a letter to Governor Brownlow, giving at greater length than in his telegraph of the 16th his views upon the necessity and propriety of maintaining the State government and laws of Tennessee. He had received such information from west Tennessee as caused him fully to endorse the arrest of Emerson Etheridge.

In the northwestern part of South Carolina, where United States troops have not been during the rebellion, the people, it is stated, still prefer Confederate currency to the United States greenbacks.

Trial of the Keeper of the Andersonville Prison.

The country will be gratified to learn that Capt. Henry Wieme, lately prison keeper at Andersonville, is shortly to be put upon his trial for the cruelty and barbarity practiced by him upon our prisoners confined at that place. The Military Commission sitting in this city, of which Brig. Gen. A. B. Underwood is President, and Col. N. J. Chapman, of the War Department, Judge Advocate, have been directed to try the case. The charges embrace a list of atrocities that are little short of fiendish, and will arouse the indignation of the civilized world. The Government is now engaged in the collection of testimony preparatory to the trial. Let the Soldiers who have survived their imprisonment at this prison, put Colonel Chapman in possession of any essential facts.

The New Jersey Republican State Convention assembled yesterday at Trenton. General Judson Kilpatrick was elected permanent President. The Committee on Resolutions reported a series, pledging support to the national Administration; favoring the adoption of the constitutional amendment abolishing slavery; thanking the soldiers for suppressing the rebellion, &c. General nominations were then made for Governor. Among others, General Kilpatrick's name was placed in nomination, and was received with immense applause. It was proposed to nominate him by acclamation, but the friends of the other candidates desired a ballot. Four ballots were taken, and on the last Marcus L. Ward was nominated. The resolutions of the committee were adopted, and one relative to the rights of negroes was tabled.

PERFECTLY NATURAL.—A Democratic paper says that as soon as the Southern people are restored to their rights, they will naturally side with the Democrats. No one disputes this. The recent attempt to restore civil government in Norfolk shows how the Democrats will vote. Rebel officers who had just been paroled, and soldiers with the ink not yet dry on their oaths of allegiance, voted the Democratic ticket solid. In Richmond, the Democratic issue is raised the same way. Democracy and treason—Democracy and secession—Democracy and Southern rights, all assimilate one with the other. The only difference that we can perceive is that between them we can see no distinction. It would puzzle any one to know how to distinguish them apart.

If the sham-Democracy are sincere in their desire to sustain President Johnson, they must hold themselves ready to embrace many measures which for four years they denounced as outrageous violations of the constitution. Of course we must expect to see them acknowledge that they made fools of themselves in regard to the writ of habeas corpus; for the Chairman of their National Executive Committee having called upon them to sustain Andrew Johnson, and the said Andrew Johnson having but a few days ago suspended the writ of habeas corpus as easily as Abraham Lincoln could have done it, how can they now stand by him unless they acknowledge that their course toward Abraham Lincoln in respect to the writ of habeas corpus was unjustifiably wrong?

There is another bitter pill for the sham-Democracy to swallow if they continue in their pretended devotion to the new President. He will hang Jeff Davis as sure as he is convicted, and that he will be convicted there is no doubt. The hanging of that leading Democrat, who monopolized the administration of the cops for the last four years, will severely try their newly fledged affection for the late "renegade" and "drunkard," Andrew Johnson.

The President of the U. S. Sanitary Commission, Dr. Bellows, has issued a farewell address to the branches and aid societies, notifying them that their labor in collecting supplies for the Commission now ends. The worthy President pays a deserved compliment to the Ladies, to whom is justly accorded the largest part of whatever gratitude belongs to the Commission.

ANOTHER VIRGINIA SUICIDE.—James Hargrove, one of the wealthiest and largest negro travelers in the State, stepped into a store on Bridge street, Lynchburg, the other day, and placing a pistol to his head shot himself dead. He had invested some of his property in Confederate bonds, and three days before the surrender of Lee had bought thirty slaves, which, of course, were soon set free, and he was penniless.

The passenger railway in Harrisburg is doing a good business. The Telegraph states that with one car running, over one thousand passengers have been carried over the line as far as finished, in one day, making a receipt per item of over fifty two dollars.

OUR ARMY CORRESPONDENCE.

HEAD QRS. DEPT. OF VIRGINIA, HENRICKS VA. July 19th 1865. ORDNANCE OFFICE. Mr. A. L. GUSS, EDITOR:

Allow me, through the columns of your paper, to make an appeal (by stating facts) to those that do feel and sympathize with the soldier of the red white and blue. I, as one, feel very much hurt, and yet do not have a disposition to complain. But there is a time when necessity ceases to be a virtue, for public prints and presses seem to manifest so little regard in our behalf. While the war was yet raging, men falling victims to its services, the ranks becoming thinned and diminished, the cry was made through the public printers, more troops to recruit our armies. Pennsylvania was first to respond at every call, but now is last to have her men mustered out. Yes, here we are in a very unpleasant state of mind, living a miserable life of suspense, expecting that which we do not realize, no pay for some six or eight months, our rations miserable—scarcely enough to keep soul and body together. Have pity on us for our families sake. Yes many of us have wives and little ones at home who need our support. A kind and affectionate mother, whose parental care over household matters has been great, is now anxiously looking for our return! While many of us have not had the opportunity of seeing home for eighteen months, some two and three years. My complaints are not cast at Government—no, a grade below, those who wear the marks of rank—making gain thereby. Respectfully Yours,

D. A. NOTESTINE, Ordnance Office Richmond Va.

The little village of Charleston Va. where Gov. Wise hung John Brown, is being visited by many northerners, who have carried off everything movable from the field on which Brown was hung.

There are six hundred women in Richmond making up garments for the negro troops in Texas. They make from $4 to $6 per week. Among them are some representatives of the "first families." It is creditable to them that they are willing to work.

A Gentleman who employs a large number of negroes on a cotton plantation in Lutherford county, Tenn., informed the editor of the Nashville Times, the other day, that he found no difficulty in getting his hands to work regularly. The negroes generally worked admirably, and give satisfaction to those who treat them well.

The election in Richmond, Virginia, on Tuesday last, resulted in the success of the candidates denominated secessionists, who are not suspected of any great love for or loyalty to the national government. The voting is said to have been done principally by the paroled soldiers of Lee's army.

The New Hampshire Superior Court has decided that an express company delivering a parcel marked with the cabalistic "C. O. D."—collect on delivery—may allow a person to whom it is consigned reasonable time to open the package, and determine whether he will receive it or not.

Gen. Thomas has ordered that Emerson Etheridge be held at Columbus, Ky., until further orders, and not be allowed to converse on political affairs on pain of close confinement. He is now under guard.

Gen. Grant is reported to have said, in a conversation with the Mexican Minister a few days ago "the French will have to leave Mexico."

Seven-Thirties were sold on Saturday to the amount of $5,130,400. Total for the week, $32,503,000.

PHRENOLOGICAL JOURNAL.—This Journal for August is before us. As usual it is filled with interesting matter—some of which we may some day lay before our readers. Monthly by Fowler & Wells, $2.00 per year, 389 Broadway, N. Y.

BLACKBERRY CORDIAL.—To a gallon of good, ripe blackberries, add three lbs of cheap, clean brown sugar and a quart of rain water scalding hot. Suffer the berries thus treated, to stand 12 hours in an earthen crock, and then stew twenty minutes in a porcelain lined kettle. Squeeze out all the liquid through a close cloth strainer, add to it a quart of Jamaica spirits, a quarter of a pound of whole allspice, and an ounce of essence of cloves. Bottle when cold, and use a large tablespoonful of the cordial in an ordinary tumbler of water as a common beverage during all the warm weather.

Under such a practice, there will be very few cases of cholera infantum and "summer complaints" among children, or of diarrhoea or dysentery among adults.
