Choice Poetry. YOUR MISSION.

If you cannot on the ocean, Sail among the swiftest fleet. Rocking on the highest billows.

If you are too weak to journey, Up the mountain steep and high. You can stand within the valley.

If you cannot toward the needy, Reach out your open hand. You can visit the afflicted.

Do not, then, stand idly waiting, For some greater work to do: Fortune is a lady goddess.

ANNUAL REPORT OF COUNTY SUPERVISOR HENRY OF COMMON SCHOOLS.

SCHOOL HOUSES.—Although there were several houses under contract at the beginning of the year, only one was completed.

FURNITURE.—There were several houses supplied with good furniture last summer. Much more would have been done in this respect.

SCHOOLS.—No schools were graded the number of graded schools, therefore remains the same as before reported.

TEACHERS.—There has never been a time when there was so much difficulty experienced in procuring a supply of teachers.

UNIFORMITY OF TEXT BOOKS.—In all the schools there is a uniformity of readers and spellers.

EXAMINATIONS.—This was the most perplexing and laborious part of my official duty. I held two public examinations in every district.

unions; but I never granted them if I could possibly avoid it.

VISITATIONS.—Two hundred and seven visits were made in all. All the schools were visited twice.

LABORS PERFORMED.—In addition to the labors above mentioned, I held 34 public examinations.

REMARKS.—The year through which we have just passed, has been the most trying one to the school cause in this county.

DISSENTING INSTITUTES.—Thirteen dissenting institutes were organized, most of which kept in successful operation until the close of the school term.

THE COUNTY SUPERVISOR can do so much in so short a time for the good of teachers, and through them for the good of schools.

THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS in every district in the county but one, raised the teacher's salary from ten to forty per cent.

is elected. If directors would visit the schools monthly, teachers would not have the same opportunity to do so.

MORAL INSTRUCTION.—The bible was read in nearly all the schools; many were opened with prayer; many teachers closed with singing.

COUNTY INSTITUTES.—There were three institutes held: one at Bethlehem, one at McCoyville, and one at Thompsontown.

LABORS PERFORMED.—In addition to the labors above mentioned, I held 34 public examinations.

AN EXECUTION IN THE LIBBY.—A. R. Richardson, in his new work in his imprisonment, says:

A loyal Tennessean, Deaton, had been kept in prison until he was nearly dead, and quite out of his mind.

"Caphart and Warden Wiley hurried through the dreadful affair as if it were any ordinary engagement.

The estimable train having borne Deaton to the scaffold, released their hold of him and told him to stand up.

Once more Deaton was held up; and that time he turned upon them, smiled with a soft, sweet expression.

The drop fell, and the loyal Tennessean was swaying in the air, struggling with death, and struggling hard.

SAVING DROWNING PERSONS.—At this season of the year, when bathing is the fashion, a few sensible ideas in regard to what ought to be done at dangerous times may save many lives.

If you have any distance to swim, the wisest plan is to address, which can be done in a few seconds.

When you approach the drowning watch diligently an opportunity, and seize him by the back of the arm, below the shoulder.

VENTILATE YOUR CHILDREN'S ROOMS. We commend the following to the readers of the SENTINEL.

Most parents, before retiring to rest, make it a duty to visit the sleeping rooms of their children.

DISSENTING SUPERINTENDENT.—Lack and Tuscarora are the only districts in which the Secretary acts as district superintendent.

UNIFORMITY OF TEXT BOOKS.—In all the schools there is a uniformity of readers and spellers.

EXAMINATIONS.—This was the most perplexing and laborious part of my official duty. I held two public examinations in every district.
