A Select Story. "CAN'T AFFORD IT." BY STEPHENS COBB, JR. "Can't afford it, Maria?" "But you might, if you would only think so, Walter," pleaded the young wife.

Walter Gray was a young man, about thirty; an industrious mechanic; had been married some eight years, and had an interesting family. He meant to provide well for those who depended upon him, and in a measure he did so.

he told her that he did not think he should. "But you can hire half of one. We can have half of Mr. Niles' pew for five dollars."

Walter started home about nine o'clock, and was overtaken by Niles. "Walter," said the latter, in a kind but earnest tone, "I want to speak with you."

Walter was upon the point of denying this result of the case, but he saw upon a moment's reflection that, from his wife's statement, the deduction was correct, so he denied the statement.

he paid a dollar for four oyster suppers—suppers which none of them needed, and which did them more harm than good.

Walter started home about nine o'clock, and was overtaken by Niles. "Walter," said the latter, in a kind but earnest tone, "I want to speak with you."

Agricultural. CLEAN PIGS AND DIRTY PIGS.

In the Mark Lane Express, the leading British farming newspaper, there are always to be found useful articles applicable to the daily necessities of farmers.

GATES.

Good gates are a great convenience.—They save no small amount of trouble, and when properly constructed, will endure for years.

MILK COWS.

If you desire that these should yield liberally to the pail you must feed them with something better suited to the secretion of rich milk than dry provender.

SEARCHING BOSOMS AND COLLARS.

Pour a pint of boiling water upon two ounces of gum arabic, cover it and let it stand over night; in the morning pour it carefully from the dregs into a clean bottle, cork it and keep for future use.

How to Cut Hair Dry.

Take a sharp plane, not too rankly set, invert it, and taking the beef firmly in the hand, push it across the plane, and the hair, very nicely shaven, will drop through the opening on a towel below.
