

A union of lakes, and a union of lands, A union no power shall sever; A union of hearts, and a union of hands, And the American Union forever!

MIFFLINTOWN: Wednesday Morning, Dec. 6, 1865.

H. H. WILSON, Editor and Publisher

THE JUNIATA SENTINEL has the Largest Circulation of any paper published in this County. It is therefore the best advertising medium. It is a Paper, truly loyal, ably conducted, a first class Localist, and well worthy of the patronage of every loyal citizen in the County.

Lieutenant General Grant's Opinion of French Invasions, and Maximilian's Occupation of Mexico.

It seems that Lieutenant General Grant has been devoting himself to the consideration of the Mexican question. He maintains that the invasion of Mexico by the French was a portion of the compact on the part of Napoleon with the Rebels. England and France having both manifested a willingness to aid the Confederate cause, both agreed to carry out a mutually adopted plan. France invaded Mexico as a means of provoking a collision with the United States, on issues to grow out of the Monroe doctrine; while England supplied the rebels with vessels and crews, with which to sweep from the seas the commerce of the United States. If our claims against the British government for losses growing out of the depredations of Anglo-Confederate pirates are valid, then on the same principle we are bound to eject Maximilian from his usurped throne in Mexico. General Grant declares that Maximilian's ejection from Mexico is a necessary part of the work completely to end the rebellion. Until that is accomplished our work in restoring the authority and prestige of the Federal government will not be completed.

Hon. George F. Miller.

If any Congressional District was unfairly, impractically and unpatriotically represented during the late Congress, it was that of which Dauphin county forms a portion. W. H. Miller having been elected by an unrighteous defection in our own ranks, seemed to be imbued with the idea that in order fairly to represent those who elevated him to a position which he was unworthy politically and unfitted personally to fill, he must ignore the local interests of his constituents, embarrass the national safety, insult the national honor, and impair the peace and credit of the country. However feebly our ex-Congressman may have proceeded in carrying out his scheme he did his best for a bad cause by allying himself with the worst men who were members of the Congress in which he occupied a seat. We now congratulate the honest and patriotic people of this Congressional District, that they are about to be fairly, ably, conscientiously and truly represented, not merely by a representative who will closely watch and promote their local interests, but by a man who will reflect their sentiments by devotion to the country, and respond to their wishes by a cordial support of the President of the United States. During the last Congress, while the people of this District were straining every nerve to sustain Mr. Lincoln, our representative was making use of every subterfuge to embarrass the efforts of the civil authorities and thwart the attempts of the military forces to crush rebellion. In the congress to convene on next Monday, we will have a far different representative. George F. Miller will do justice to his immediate constituents, and honor to his entire country. He will represent the people in their business interests, their patriotism and their loyalty. Unquestionably a man of useful ability, understanding thoroughly the resources of his district and the wants of his constituents, admitted to be a gentleman of integrity and fidelity to every trust confided to him, George F. Miller will redeem his district from the disgrace cast upon it during the last Congress, reflecting such credit and conferring such benefits on his constituents as will make ample amends for all they suffered from the misrepresentation of William H. Miller-Harrisburg Telegraph, last week.

"That Alters the Case."

A farmer came to a Judge, and informed him that his bull had gored an ox belonging to the Judge. "Then," said the latter, "I shall demand prompt reparation." "Hold, I mistake," said the farmer, "it is your bull that has killed one of my oxen." "Ah! indeed," said the Judge, "that alters the case. I must inquire into the affair; and if—"

Our readers will remember the story. Now for an application.

The British, the Rebels, and the Copperheads, unite in begging our National authorities to spare the forfeited lives of the leaders of the greatest, worst Rebellion that ever deluged earth with blood or offended high Heaven.

But what has been their course?

The leading Irish Rebels of '98 were executed by the British without mercy—The Sepoys in India, when captured, were tied to the muzzle of guns in great numbers, and blown away. This day, before any overt act of treason is committed, numerous Finians have been arrested, imprisoned, and denied many rights they might claim in a time of peace. The insurgents, in the short-lived commotion, recently suppressed in Jamaica, have been executed, to the number of over one thousand, comprising ringleaders and their dupes together. Such have been the examples of England, for seventy years, at home and abroad, in cases of less crime and danger than the Slaveholders' Insurrection in America. Those are the men who are impudently advising not to punish Rebels guilty of crimes infinitely greater than theirs who suffered—death!

John Brown's petty, crazy raid into Virginia, five years ago—stimulated by the Slaveocracy's attempt to subdue Kansas—was followed by the shooting or hanging of Brown, and of every one concerned with him who could be caught. There was no mercy—among those who are now Rebs or Cops—for one man in that trifling rebellion: all had to die!

During the Great Rebellion, crimes were committed against the Unionists unheard-of in horror and atrocity. Torpedoes, prisons, yellow fever infection, starving prisoners, and assassination of our chief men, were resorted to, some with the full knowledge of Davis, Lee, their Congress, and their State Legislatures.—They could have discontinued and stopped such violations of the rules of war, but they chose not to do so.

Had the Union cause failed, the Rebels would have hung high in the air tens of thousands of the loyal people. Remember what they did in East Tennessee, in Texas, and elsewhere. Remember their boasts after their first Bull Run, and their diabolical threats. Their acts, when they had the power, demonstrate what kind of mercy they would have shown. When we look at all their deeds, we may well shudder, and may also thank God that these inhuman, perjured, blood-thirsty tyrants, are our subjects and not our masters.

They have failed. Yet they profess no sorrow for their deeds—no repentance for the awful woes they have needlessly caused. From all that can be learned, they would, to-morrow, if they could, and hoped they could succeed, again set up the standard of slavery and rebellion. There is no many regret for their great errors and sins. They seek now to get back into power, and try for another chance to reconquer the great tragedy.

The Rebs and the Cops, who have condemned the summary executions of Booth, Payne, Surratt, Werze & Co., demand (very naturally) that all the other leading criminals, should go unscathed, and be honored for their horrid crimes. But what are the examples they have given us? and what is safest for the people?—Etc.

THE BENEFITS OF ADVERTISING.—In answer to a correspondent, the New York Tribune states that it is true, as reported, that a druggist who has now a speciality before the public is paying that establishment $10,000 a year for advertising. It says he paid $1,500 for the insertion of one mammoth advertisement, and adds on the general subject: "Bonner once paid us $3,000 for one insertion of an advertisement of the Ledger. He knew that through judicious advertising he could insure a fortune. The old prejudice of druggists and physicians against advertising is dying out, and they, as well as others, see that the cheapest mode whereby they can make themselves and their medicine known to the public, is by a wise and liberal system of advertising."

We have received the first number of the Reno Times, published in the flourishing town of Reno, Venango county, Pa. The paper is devoted to the oil interest and general news. The first evinces considerable energy and talent. We heartily wish the new editor and new enterprise abundant success.

We will publish the President's Message in our next issue.

A Gallant Soldier and True Patriot Rewarded.

The country will be rejoiced to know that President Johnson has appointed that true and staunch Democrat, not Copperhead, Gen. Logan, late Commander of the Army of Tennessee, Minister to the Republic of Mexico. Gen. Logan rendered no less distinguished service in the army whipping rebels, than he did in New Jersey and New York in vanquishing their Copperhead orphans.—During the late canvass in New Jersey he gave, in the following language, his opinion.

OF COPPERHEADS.

Tell me, he said, when the victory was on the side of the Union troops, who laughed and shouted for joy, and who sulkily went away and cursed the day and hour that the victory was won? Was it the man who claimed to be a loyal man? Was it the man who was a Democrat who was for sustaining the Government? Was it the Republicans—was it the Abolitionists—the man you hate so much—was he the man who came up and sneered when he saw your boys from New Jersey had won a victory? [Cries of "No."] Or was it the proud Democratic party that claims to be the saviour of this country at all times when the country is in trouble?

Now, I do not know how it was here, but I know in my part of the country, where I happened to be home once or twice during the war, and where it is a good deal like Jersey, I would see groups of people on the corner; a telegraphic dispatch had come—a great battle fought—ten thousand killed and wounded—so many prisoners captured; you would see one of these Copperheads come up and commence reading it, (that is if he could read,) he would call some old gentleman up who had a son in the army: "Do you see that? Didn't I tell you, you couldn't whip these Southerners? See! Gen. McClellan has been licked again!" (Cheers and laughter.) "Just write to your boys to come home; it's all nonsense this thing; you never can whip these people; you can't do it; and this war is for nothing at all, except just to abolish slavery; that's all its for; I tell you, they don't get any of my boys, and they ain't going to get nary a dollar either, in no such way as that." Next day comes another despatch: Vicksburg has fallen; or the battle of Gettysburg. You see this man walk up. What is this? Oh! A great battle fought again—a great Union victory; 10,000 Rebels killed and wounded, and 15,000 made prisoners.—He looks at it and shrugs his shoulders, and says: "Look here! that's a cursed Abolition lie. [Laughter and cries of "That's the way of them!"] Now, I don't know that any one ever did that way down in New Jersey, but over where I lived that was exactly the way they acted, and they tell me Copperheads are a good deal alike everywhere. [Laughter.]

The Copperhead Organs of the country are, in great doubt as to what course to pursue concerning the President, not knowing whether to turn their bayonets on the Chief Magistrate, or to stack arms in masterly inactivity. While these hypocritical demagogues are thus embarrassed by doubt, the loyal press of the country—the journals which defended those who fought the battles of the government against the assaults of the traitors, are earnestly supporting President Johnson, like the lamented Lincoln, can trust no party but the Republican-Union organization of the country.

The Private Shenandoah.

By the last foreign news from Europe, it is announced that this notorious rebel vessel had arrived at Liverpool, and there been delivered up to British authorities, who afterwards turned it over to the American Consul. This is the end of this pirate, which has been ranging at will among our whalers, in the Pacific, ever since the war has closed and which has caused an immense destruction of property in that line. Capt. Waddell, of the Shenandoah, declares that, as soon as he was satisfied that the war was ended by the surrender of Lee's and Johnson's armies, he turned his vessel from the war trail. He acknowledges, however, that he would not accept the fact from the lips of the Captains of the various American ships he captured and burned, and as he took care to come in contact with no others, he was a long time becoming convinced of the truth.—The English authorities, on the reception of the Shenandoah, first paroled the commander and his crew, and have since unconditionally discharged them, instead of holding them for trial as pirates, as should have been done, and in this we have another specimen of the friendly spirit of Great Britain. The Shenandoah, at the time of her surrender, had on board a large quantity of ammunition, six large guns and one large swivel, with thirty six Chronometers, and a number of sextants, cabinet furniture, furs and other articles of value, which had been taken from her captured prizes.

The Official Vote of Pennsylvania.

The official returns of the October election have at length been received at Harrisburg, and are published in the Telegraph. We have heretofore published the table, which was so nearly complete, as to render its republication unnecessary. The footing up of the vote is as follows:

- FOR AUDITOR GENERAL.
J. F. Hartranft, Union, 238,400
W. W. H. Davis, Cop., 215,740
Hartranft's majority, 22,660
FOR SURVEYOR GENERAL.
J. M. Campbell, Union, 237,969
J. P. Linton, Cop., 215,981
Campbell's majority, 21,988

The total vote for Auditor General is 454,149, which is 410,562 less than the heavy vote for President in 1860. Hartranft's vote is 57,991 less than Lincoln's and Davis' 60,576 less than McClellan's the falling off in each party being nearly the same.
