

Juniata Sentinel.

A union of lakes, and a union of lands,
A union no power shall sever;
A union of hearts, and a union of hands,
And the American Union forever!

MIFFLINTOWN,
Wednesday Morning, January, 3 1866.

H. H. WILSON, Editor and Publisher

THE JUNIATA SENTINEL has the Largest Circulation of any paper published in this County. It is therefore the best advertising medium. It is a Paper, truly loyal, ably conducted, a first class Localist, and well worthy of the patronage of every loyal citizen in the County.

Our Representative in Congress, Hon. G. F. Miller, will accept our thanks for a copy of the President's Message, and other valuable public documents.

Constitutional Amendment.

The amendment to the Constitution of the United States, prohibiting slavery, has been adopted. Mr. Seward, Secretary of State, has issued a proclamation announcing that twenty-seven States have adopted the amendment, which is three-fourths of all the States in the Union. Official notice has been received at this department to this effect. This result was confidently anticipated, and we are rejoiced that our land is forever free from the disgrace of human bondage. No longer shall we hear the crack of the whip of the slave-driver, or the clanking of their chains. Freedom reigns throughout the land, and the pure principles of the Declaration of Independence are in perfect harmony with the Constitution of the United States. The discord which has heretofore existed between our practice and our profession, no longer prevails. While we have proclaimed freedom over the whole land, we ought not to forget that justice to all is not so universal as it should be. We have taken one great step in the right direction, and in due time, I have no doubt, we shall take others no less important. We cannot expect to gain everything at once. All men must be made equal under the law, so far as regards their rights of person and property, and if the friends of liberty and justice are true to themselves and the immutable principles upon which these great rights are founded, they will secure all that is needed to perfect the great system of American republicanism, which was the purpose for which our revolutionary fathers made such immense sacrifices of life and property.

Although but twenty-seven States have, as yet, officially notified the general government of their acceptance of the amendment, Oregon and California have also ratified it. New Jersey, although late, and Delaware will yield to the salutary influences by which they are surrounded and proclaim for freedom. Even Kentucky will not continue in her obstinacy to reject it. It matters little, however, what course these States may take, the Constitution is now amended, and universal liberty is the result.

There are other amendments to the Constitution which will be required to complete the great work of reconstruction which is now going on. These amendments have been introduced into Congress, and should they pass that body they will receive proper consideration from the people and the State Legislatures. At a proper time we shall not hesitate to express our views upon these amendments. At present we would merely remark that such are the momentous events which have recently occurred, that several changes are necessary in the Constitution to bring it up to the advanced state of public sentiment and the new condition of national affairs. The wonderful revolution which has been effected during the last few years cannot fail to impress us with the belief that our future prosperity as a nation, demands new privileges and imposes upon us new duties. The Constitution should come up to our present stand-point; and from this we must infuse new life and vigor into our free institutions. From us the world must be taught the value and excellence of our republic. We seek no visionary changes. They are real, vital, and must be well considered. They will be fully discussed, and we have no fears but mature deliberation will lead to a proper decision on all these amendments.

DEATH OF HON. THOS. CORWIN.

A brilliant assemblage of Ohioans were entertained on the evening of the 15th inst., at the State Military Agency in Washington. In the supper room where he had been keeping the company in a roar with his lively sallies of wit, Hon. Thomas Corwin, ex-Governor, ex-Secretary of the Treasury, ex-Senator and late Minister to Mexico, while in the midst of a humorous anecdote, was struck with paralysis of the right side. Senator Wade and General Garfield who were beside him, as he was falling and carried him to bed. On Monday last he breathed his last, surrounded by a number of prominent statesmen and politicians.

Mr. Corwin was born in Bourbon county, Ky., July 29, 1794. He rose from humble life, studied law, and was admitted to the Bar in 1817.

He soon gained distinction as a lawyer and politician. He made his first appearance in public life as a member of the Ohio Legislature in 1822. In 1831 he was for the first time elected to Congress, representing the Warren District.

He remained in Congress till 1840, in which year he served as a Presidential Elector, and was elected to fill the gubernatorial chair of Ohio. He was Governor but for two years. In 1845 he was elected to the Senate of the United States, in which position he remained till 1850, when he was appointed Secretary of the Treasury by President Fillmore.

In October, 1858, he was again elected as a Representative in Congress from Ohio for the term commencing in 1859, and during that year a volume of his speeches was published. He held the Chairmanship of the Committee on Foreign Affairs. He was elected a member of the Thirty-seventh Congress; but in 1861 was appointed Minister to Mexico by President Lincoln, the last public position he filled.

Before the disintegration of the Whig party Mr. Corwin was a steadfast and prominent advocate of its policy. When the present party lines were drawn he ranged himself on the Republican side. Mr. Corwin possessed a gift of genial eloquence, which, on the stump and before a jury, was very effective. He always enjoyed great popularity as a political speaker, and contributed materially to the success of the Republican party in 1860.

General Spinner, United States Treasurer, received a contribution from a beggar, amounting to one cent, which he tendered as his contribution towards cancelling the national debt. The donation has been accepted, and transferred to the Treasury, passed through the same channels and forms as would a more magnificent sum. The action of this mendicant is in commendable contrast to the example set by many wealthy individuals whose contributions for this object, in the bulk, do not loon up extensively.

HONORS TO EX-PRESIDENT LINCOLN.

The Select Committee of Congress, consisting of one member from each State, to consider what token of respect and affection Congress may adopt to express the deep sensibility of the Nation to the event of the decease of Abraham Lincoln, have decided to set apart February 12th, his birthday, and to invite the Secretary of War, Mr. Stanton, to pronounce a Eulogy on his life and character in presence of both Houses of Congress. They came to no determination as to the amount to appropriate to the family. Congress has since appropriated $25,000.

"Abolitionist," a term applied in derision for many years to the great body of the people who opposed the extension of slavery, and continued up to last fall's political canvass, seems to have become obsolete, and must be thoroughly so now, that slavery is "abolitionized" throughout all the land by the adoption of the Great Constitutional Amendment.

Gov. Curtin arrived at Havana on the 12th inst., greatly improved in health.

The Last of the Revolutionary Heroes.

Only two warriors of all those who participated in the war of the Revolution so far as known by the Commissioner of Pensions, remain alive, namely:—Wm. Hutchings, of Penobscot, Hancock county, Maine, aged one hundred and one years, and Samuel Cook, of Clarendon, Orleans county, New York, aged ninety nine years. Only five widows of Revolutionary soldiers draw pensions from the Government at a yearly amount of two hundred and ninety-three dollars.

The Knoxville Whig puts the whole thing in a nutshell, when it says the following:—

"Six millions of white people, without a shadow of a pretext, engaged in a struggle to overthrow a Government, and with twenty millions of whites and four millions of blacks. They waged a terrible war, characterized by a fiendish barbarism never equaled before since the beginning of time. They caused an expense of four thousand millions of money to the nation. They murdered fifty thousand of the soldiers of the Government by starvation and cold, denying them fire by winter and shelter in the summer. They burned cities and spread pestilence; they assassinated the ruler of the country; filled the country with widows and orphans; demoralized the Churches and blasphemed the name of God; and now ask to vote, and rule the country, as they had formerly done!"

The Fractional Currency.

The new five cent fractional currency will be issued next week. About $80,000 worth of defaced and mutilated currency is destroyed, by burning, per day, and $50,000 worth of it is printed; arrangements are nearly completed to make the amount of the latter equal to the former.

THE NEW YORK TRIBUNE 1866.

Our most momentous, arduous struggle having resulted in the triumph of American Nationality, the utter discomfiture and overthrow of secession and Slavery. The result, we are profoundly rejoicing in this result, will mark the beginning of the legitimate fruits of this grand, benignant victory by rendering Liberty and Opportunity the common heritage of the whole American People now and evermore.

Discounting all unmanly exultation over or needless infliction of pain or privation on the upholders of the lost cause, it will insist on the earliest possible restoration of the Southern States to their former power and influence in our Union on the basis of All Rights for All their People.

It will labor in hope to prove that the substitution of Free for Slave Labor must inevitably and universally conduce to the increase of industry, Thrift, Prosperity and Wealth, so that the South, within the next ten years, shall be back advanced on her long protracted in a practice so baneful as the chattelizing of Man.

It will labor for the diffusion of Common School Education, Manufactures, the Useful Arts, &c., throughout every portion of our country, but especially throughout the sections hitherto devoid of them, believing that every good and will liberally be subsidized and the interest of every useful and worthy class promoted.

It will urge the Protection of Home Industry by discriminating duties on Foreign Products imported, with a view to drawing hither the most capable and skillful artificers and artisans of Europe, and the manufacturing of our own goods, and the production of hither all but consumed to the whole, while it would strengthen and extend those which have already a foothold among us.

It will give careful attention to progress and improvement in Agriculture, denouncing as an evil, and teaching the farmer to the best of his ability to bring markets to the doors of his farmers and teach them how to make the most of the opportunities thus afforded them.

It will devote constant attention to Markets especially for Agricultural Products, with intent to save both producer and consumer from being victimized by the speculator and forestaller.

And, giving fair scope to Current Literature to the proceedings of Congress, and to the general News of the Day, it hopes to retain its old patrons and attract many new to bear their company.

We rarely employ travelling agents, as so many impostors are habitually prowling in the assumed capacity of solicitors for journals. We prefer that our subscribers should pay their money to persons they know and of whose integrity they are assured. Any friend who believes he will do good by increasing the circulation of THE TRIBUNE is authorized to solicit and receive subscriptions.—Specimen copies will be promptly sent without charge to those requiring them, and we trust many friends will be moved to ask their neighbors and acquaintances to join in making up their clubs.
