The peculiar form of infection which we call SCROFULA, lurks in the constitutions of multitudes of men. It either produces or is produced by an enfeebled, vitiated state of the blood, wherein that fluid becomes incompetent to sustain the vital forces in their vigor and action, and leaves the system to fall into disorder and decay. The scrofulous contamination is variously caused by mercurial disease, low living, disordered digestion from unhealthy food, impure air, stink and filthy habits, the depressing vice, and above all, by the venereal infection. Whatever be its origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending "from parent to children into the third and fourth generation"; indeed, it seems to be the rod of Asclepius, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children." This disease, the origin of the Scotch name, according to the organs it attacks, in the lungs, Scrofula proceeds tubercular, and finally Consumption; in the glands, swellings which suppurate and become ulcerous sores; in the stomach and bowels, derangements which produce indigestion, dyspepsia, and liver complaints; on the skin, eruptions and cutaneous affections.
