REPRESENTATION IN CONGRESS.

Had the revolted States a right to representation in Congress while they were fighting to subvert the Union? If not, did that right ensure to them, absolutely and unconditionally, the moment their military forces were compelled to ground arms by the victorious hosts of Grant, Sherman and Thomas?

son within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws. SEC. 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting always the whole number of each State, excluding Indians not taxed; but whenever the right to vote at any election for electors of President or Vice President, and for the United States Representatives in Congress, executive and judicial officers, or the members of the Legislatures thereof, is denied to any male inhabitant of such State, being 21 years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion, or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens 21 years of age, in such State.

SEC. 3. No person shall be a Senator or representative in Congress, or elector of President or Vice President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or civil officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof; but Congress may, by a vote of two-thirds in each House, remove such disability.

SEC. 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including that incurred in the payment of bounties and pensions for services in suppressing the rebellion, shall not be questioned; and neither the United States nor any State, shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims, shall be held illegal and void.

SEC. 5. The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including that incurred in the payment of bounties and pensions for services in suppressing the rebellion, shall not be questioned; and neither the United States nor any State, shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims, shall be held illegal and void.

Heister Clymer. 21. Who resigned his seat in the Senate only two weeks prior to adjournment, in order that he might not show his hand on the "ten hour law?" Heister Clymer. 22. Who can be found at home, next winter, unless he should, a la McClellan, sail for Europe after the inglorious defeat that awaits him? Heister Clymer.

MR. LINCOLN JUST BEFORE HIS ELECTION.

It gave Mr. Lincoln great pain to think that many religious men, even in his own city, were going to vote against him, for himself he could plainly see God's hand in the conflict. One day, speaking with tears rolling down his cheeks, he uttered these noble words: "I know there is a God, and that He hates injustice and slavery. I see the storm coming and I know that his hand is in it. If He has a place and work for me—I think he has—I believe I am ready. I am nothing but truth is everything. I know I am right, because I know that liberty is right; for Christ teaches it, and Christ is God. I have told them that a house divided against itself cannot stand, and Christ and reason say the same; and they will find it so. Douglas don't care whether slavery is voted up or voted down; but God and humanity care and I care; and with God's help I shall not fail. I may not see the end but it will come, and I shall be vindicated; and those men will find that they have not read the Bible aright."
