A union of lakes, and a union of lands,
A union no power shall sever;
A union of hearts, and a union of hands,
And the American Union forever!

MIFFLINTOWN
Wednesday Morning, November 7, 1866.

H. H. WILSON, Editor and Publisher
THE JUNIATA SENTINEL has the Largest Circulation of any paper published in this County. It is therefore the best advertising medium. It is a Paper, truly loyal, ably conducted, a first class Localist, and well worthy of the patronage of every loyal citizen in the County.

A PROCLAMATION.

WHEREAS, It hath been the good and worthy custom of the Commonwealth to set apart, annually, a day for the special acknowledgment of the goodness of the Almighty, and for expressing, by the whole people, at one time, and with a common voice, the Thanks and Praise which throughout the year are springing from the hearts of men; therefore,
I ANDREW G. CURTIN, Governor of the Commonwealth, do, by this my Proclamation, recommend that the good people of the Commonwealth observe Thursday, the 29th day of November next, as a day of Thanksgiving and Prayer, and do then assemble in their respective churches, and places of worship, and make their humble thank offering to Almighty God for all His blessings during the past year.

For the abundant gathered fruits of the earth;
For the thus far continued activity of Industry;
For the general preservation of the health;
And especially for that in His Divine Mercy, He hath stayed the threatened Pestilence.

And, moreover, that they do beseech Him to continue unto us all His Blessings, and to confirm the hearts of the people of these United States, that by the lawful force of their will, Deeds of good Justice, Wisdom and Mercy, may be done.

Given under my Hand and the Great Seal of the State, at Harrisburg, this twenty-ninth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and sixty-six, and of the Commonwealth the ninety-first.
By the Governor;
ELI SLIFER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

STANDING ON GUARD.

The Lancaster Express says it is a mournful and solemn fact that the great American people to-day are standing on guard against their own President. They await and watch his movements very much in the position and spirit of the sentry who stands on his outpost with his musket loaded, capped and in his ready hands.

Uncomfortable and dangerous as is this position of affairs, it is a renewed proof of the strength and mettle of the great Union party, that they can maintain such a position and exist, and not only exist, but safely control and manage the destinies of the great Nation with which they are entrusted.

This critical condition of the country for which we have just fought, and which we have just saved at so precious an expenditure of blood and tears, and faith and treasure, calls for renewed exertions on the part of every true man, to discriminate and explain among his neighbors and friends the great principles which are at issue. Only by the intelligence—we must place our reliance for the next two years. They—the people at large—must know that they may act.

The principles on which we are to manage our political contests, and on the success of which depends our National future, are the great Constitutional Amendments. Steady adherence to them by the people is what will carry us through.

THE NEW ADMINISTRATION.

General Geary may not unfairly be ranked as a new man in the politics of the State. He has never held office in it; at least none of prominence; and during the war was away, honorably engaged in the military employment of the country. He owes his nomination and election to the Governorship not at all to cliques and intrigues, but to his personal character and public services. The eyes of the loyal men of the State turned to him because he was not battered in politics, and because his conduct during the whole period of the war had inspired confidence and commanded respect. There were competitors in the field against him for the nomination, who, under ordinary circumstances, would have been formidable. Combinations were formed among politicians to secure the choice of one or another of these competitors. There were points of time at which these combinations promised to be all powerful; but they came to naught, not by treachery, but simply because the popular current set strongly in favor of the General, and could not be overcome.

In the canvass that followed the enthusiasm awakened by General Geary drew all factions and all interests in the Republican ranks heartily into his support. The issue and the man were both too great to admit of jealousies, heart burnings and alienations. All divisions of the party having contributed equally, and with like enthusiasm to his election, have a common interest and pride in the success of his administration.

In these important particulars General Geary occupies a vantage ground of singular felicity. He has it clearly within his power to cleanse the party, in large part, of old feuds which have distracted it; and this without doing injustice, or having injustice done, to any body, much less to men who are eminent for worth and work.

By changes in the Constitution, which we do not regard as fortunate, because not tending to a wholesome administration of the laws, the Governor has little patronage at his disposal. Such as he has, he will find fruitful of perplexities, rather than prolific of advantages. It will be to him not a help, but a hindrance. Whatever good he produces—whatever reputation he makes—will result from a wise and steady adherence to the cardinal principles and measures for the defence of which the Republican party is set. To this end, we advise Gen. Geary to call about him, in the few places to which he has the prerogative of nomination or appointment, men who are conspicuous for ability and fidelity; who are more intent on the predominance of fundamental ideas than the success of any clique; who are outside of factions because too great and true to be bound by them; and who cooperate with the Republican party, not for what they can make out of it in the way of pecuniary gains or official promotions, but because they hold its professed principles to be of vital consequence to the maintenance of equal liberty and impartial justice, and are in active sympathy with the main sentiments by which it is animated. In this way he will retain the position he now fills as the acknowledged leader of the party by which he was chosen, will do much to promote its unity and usefulness, and will prepare the way before it for new triumphs which shall yet more fully consolidate its power, and make it potentially for good throughout the boundaries of the republic.—Pittsburg Gazette.

PENNSYLVANIA—OFFICIAL.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 30.—The following gives the official vote for Governor:
Geary.....307,274
Clymer.....230,096
Geary's majority.....77,178
The total vote for Governor at the last election was 597,379.

ELI SLIFER,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

ANOTHER HEAD OFF.

Thomas Bower, who was repudiated in this district by the people, has found a place in Andrew's bosom. He has been appointed Assistant Assessor of Internal Revenue of Snyder county, in place of John Bilger, Esq., of the Siddleburg Tribune. "My policy" is sure to force men into office who are repudiated by the people, thus secure their friendship (over the left.) Mr. Bilger leaned a little Johnson-ward some time ago, while holding the office, but the bread and butter subsequently soured and turned his stomach, when he abandoned the cause, and supported Geary and the whole ticket with all his might. He found that Honesty and "My policy" didn't dove-tail very nicely.

Governor Humphreys, of Miss, recommends the Legislature to make an effort to get Jeff. Davis released on bail.

BALTIMORE.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 3.—The Rebel Commissioners have been committed to jail. A writ of Habeas corpus has been applied for.

Nov. 3—10 P. M.—The city is quiet. Judge Cochrane, of the Court of Appeals, has refused to issue the writ of habeas corpus at the request of the counsel of the revolutionists. Latrobe is now searching for Bartal, the only Conservative judge on the bench.

3.10 P. M.—The court has decided that the Warden of the city jail has three days to make his return, which will not expire until Thursday morning at 9 o'clock.

The commissioners and the sheriff are still in jail, which is guarded by a strong police force.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 5—3 P. M. About two o'clock the Marshal of Police having learned that arms were being distributed to certain parties at Bennett's Auction Store, on Charles street, went thither with a strong force of police and found in an upper room parties engaged in loading pistols and other arms. Resistance was offered and one man, a citizen, was shot, but the police seized the establishment, together with the parties therein, and about 150 boxes of fire arms and ammunition.
