THE COMING OF WINTER.

He comes! the Wister comes! I hear his footsteps through the nights? I hear his vanguard on the heights March thro' the pines with muffled drum !

His naked feet are on the mead : The grass blades stiffen in his path, No tear for child of earth he hath ! No pity for the tender seed !

The bare oaks shudder at his breath! A moment by the stream he stays-Its meldoy is mute! A glaze Creeps o'er its dimples, as of death!

From fettered stream and blackened moor The frost-rimmed greyboard's power defy He curses as he harries by And strikes the beggar dead, to earth!

For every gleaming hall he spares, A hundred heartless hovels hold Hearts pulseless, crisp with ice and cold, Watched by a hundred grim despairs?

Here is your mission! Ye who feed Your lavish fires! Not afar But at your doors your heathen are! Ged's poor-your creditors ! Take heed!

The path is long to Pagan sheres! Their skies are sunsy- God o're all! The Winter's deadly barvests full trough you! Deal your master stores!
