

The Juniata Sentinel.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, May 26, 1867.

TOWN AND COUNTRY.

FOR SALE CHEAP.—A fine Scholar-ship in J. C. Mumford's Business and Telegraph College at Philadelphia. A fine chance for a young man that wishes to prepare himself for business. Inquire at the SENTINEL Office.

LOST.—On Sunday, May 12th, a pair of Gold Spectacles at or near the Presbyterian Church, in Millin, or on the road to Van Wert. The finder will be liberally rewarded by returning them to the owner.

May 29-31. ELIZABETH MOORE.

ENLARGED.—The Lewistown Gazette came to us last week enlarged and improved in its typographical appearance. Mr. George Frysinger is an old editor, a staunch Republican, and we trust his friends will secure him many new subscribers to his large paper.

FOR SALE.—Messrs. Doyle and Okeson offer three valuable tracts of land for sale in Tuscarora Valley. The land is pleasantly located in a beautiful valley, and presents a fine opportunity to any person wishing to purchase a good home.

CAUTION.—The public are hereby notified that the power of Attorney appointing Wm. & J. M. Johnson, Agents, of the American Tanning Company, for Millin and Juniata counties, has been revoked, and that the company will not recognize any contracts made by them hereafter.

E. EYER, Pres.

ACCOMMODATION TRAIN.—The Penna. Railroad Company have again put on an accommodation train between Millin and Harrisburg. The train leaves Millin daily, at half past one o'clock, stopping at all stations between this and Harrisburg. There is also an accommodation train from the west between Huntingdon and Millin, stopping at all stations and arriving here at 9 o'clock in the evening.

AN AUTHOR IN THOMMIE.—S. Adams Lee who passed himself off as the honest and unwinking portion of our county as a Captain and retired officer of our Navy, and who says he was wounded in an engagement at New Orleans, but, who, when the truth is known, has a deformed foot, came to this county some time last summer. Soon after coming to this place he formed the acquaintance of many of our best citizens, by introducing himself as an author, and by his enunciating devices won the confidence and esteem of almost every person. He introduced himself to us as a little editor, stating that he had been engaged in that capacity in the eastern cities for a number of years. He was very desirous to procure some place to spend the summer months where he would be free from the temptations of the intoxicating cup, stating that he had acquired an appetite for strong drink, and wished to reform. Being prevailed upon by some of his new-formed acquaintances, he went to McAlister's for the above purpose, but failed, for when he could not get whisky to drink, he would use opium in large quantities. Being rather an intelligent young man, he figured very conspicuously as an orator, delivering several very interesting and instructive lectures. After remaining at the above place for several months he removed to the Tuscarora Academy, where he was employed to give a course of lectures before the school. He soon went to Philadelphia, where he again engaged in giving lectures, at some one of the Academies. In the mean time a young lady, a teacher at the S. O. School at McAlister's, missed her gold watch, and suspicion seemed to rest on this man Lee. Upon information being given, the detectives of Philadelphia were on the alert for him, and they succeeded in arresting him with the watch in his possession. He was placed in "durance vile," and some few days since had a trial which resulted in convicting him of stealing the watch, and he was sentenced to one year in the Eastern Penitentiary. He has been in the habit of writing to literary men in our large cities stating that he had written a work of a certain character, and not having the means to get it published, would ask donations, and only the other day a check for eighty dollars came to this place for him from some gentleman in Philadelphia, the order was returned to the donor, stating that this celebrated author was now rustinating in the suburbs of Philadelphia. Thus another of the many rascals who play upon our unsupervised and liberal-minded people, has been caught up, and justice done him. If he did not find a place in our county where he could reform, he has certainly found it in Philadelphia.

COME IN.—Almost daily our office door is opened and the question asked "is this where you take pictures?" persons taking our building to be the photograph room of Mr. Weimer, and to all those who ask this modest little question, and to several others, we say, "Step in, we take pictures here, if they are of the Greenback denomination."

SHAD.—Shad fishing has become quite a business at the fisheries, one mile above Newport. They have caught twelve hundred, and they think that with larger shad in the dams they will be able to do still better. The shad caught are very large ones—much larger than those caught in the Delaware river. Should the dam at Millerstown be fixed this summer, next spring we can have shad fisheries at this place.

PENNSYLVANIA HOTEL.—We have heretofore neglected to notice the fact that Capt. F. M. Mickey has recently refitted and refurnished this Hotel. It is now one of the most desirable stopping places in the county. The Captain is a clever, sociable landlord and is deserving of the patronage of a generous public. His hotel is convenient to the Penna. Railroad Depot, and is open at all hours, day and night.

THE SNOW.—Don't forget that on Saturday next the Great Show—Circuses and Menageries combined—advertised in this paper, will enter town about ten o'clock, presenting one of the most beautiful pageants ever witnessed by our people—free of charge. Any persons having a desire to see a rare collection of wild animals, including the little elephant, should not fail to attend, and these who are fond of seeing "circus performances" will, we have no doubt, be fully satisfied with the entertainment.

ORGANS.—The undersigned has been appointed Agent for the sale of the American Organ, manufactured by S. D. & H. W. Smith, Boston, and is prepared to furnish persons with Parlor or Church Organs as cheap as they can be purchased from manufacturers. Also the Mason & Hamlin Cabinet Organ of different style and size. The Instruments can be seen and heard by calling at his residence on Main street, Millin.
