FAIREST OF THE RURAL MAIDS. BY WILLIAM CULLEN BRYANT. O, fairest of the rural maids! Thy birth was in the forest shades;

Miscellaneous Reading.

THE ASSASSINATION.

EVIDENCE BEFORE THE JUDICIARY COMMITTEE.—STARTLING DISCLOSURES. The following letter from the accurate and well-known Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette reads like romance, but we are afraid is history.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—The investigations which have been in progress for a year past have reached a point where they open up some new and startling chapters in the story of that great mystery—the assassination.

THE TRIAL.

Those familiar with the trial will not fail to remember that on several occasions efforts were made by the defence to introduce statements and confessions made by several of the prisoners to their attendants, and also to introduce some declarations of Booth's, made subsequent to the assassination, as evidence.

At Cincinnati, when on his way to Washington, he expressed himself decidedly that if the country was to be saved at all it could only be saved through the reorganization of the Democratic party.

A few weeks before the assassination, he declared with an oath, to a friend, that if he was ever President he would crush out all Yankee influence from the Government.

Soon after the assassination, meeting the same friend, he said: "Do you recollect what I told you when we met last? Well, I am President now, and this Yankee influence shall be crushed out." These remarks are pertinent as showing that from the first the purpose was to betray his party.
