The Democracy on the "White Man's Parts.'

The Democracy is encouraged by the result of the election in North Carolina. Leading Democrats are using their influence to stop the cry for a "white man's party." Leading Democratic papers are turning in the same direction. The New York World asks its Democratic patrons to abate or cease the cry for a "white man's party. Journals of Tennessee, of the Democratic kind, are also abandoning the cry. The Memphis Acalanche, of that State, denounces the policy and the language employed to bolster it, as mere blackguardism, poluting the columns of the journals
