"JUNIATA ENCAMPMENT," No. 19, I. O. O. F. meets on the first and third Tuesdays of each month in the Odd Fellows' Hall, Thompsonstown, Juniata Co., Pa.

READ THE List of Premiums of the Agricultural Society.

WANTED.—An apprentice wanted to the shoemaking trade. One who has been at the trade some time preferred.—Apply to GEO. W. HECH, Mifflintown.

NEXT WEEK we expect to publish on first page Brainerd's account of the meeting of the Democratic Conference that nominated Crawford and Petriken for State Senate.

A PURE BALSAM.—Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry is truly a balsam. It contains the balsamic principle of the Wild Cherry, the Balsamic properties of tar and of pine. Its ingredients are all balsamic. Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, and Consumption speedily disappear under its balsamic influence.

Don't be humbugged with the foolish idea that Catarrh cannot be cured! The world needs, and medical science is progressive. The proprietor of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy will pay $500 reward for a case of Catarrh which he cannot cure. Sold by druggists at fifty cents, and each package makes a full pint of the medicine ready for use.

THEM CRASHED.—Some two weeks ago Mr. A. McCachren, formerly of this county, had the thumb of his right hand smashed while coupling cars at Harrisburg. Amputation has since been performed. He expects soon to go to work. So we have been informed.

ANOTHER ACCIDENT.—On Tuesday of last week Joseph Keller, a resident of Perryville, while in the act of coupling cars at Marysville, Perry county, had an arm caught between the bumpers and severely smashed. He is now doing well. Dr. Lucian Banks, of this place, has been the attending Surgeon in both of the above cases.

RAN AWAY.—Some days ago James M. Alter, of the Echo, while accompanying a lady in a buggy to Thompsonstown, drove to the side of the road and stopped for the purpose of getting some peaches which he had stowed in the buggy-box on leaving home. As he placed his foot in the buggy stirrup, a little dog ran barking at the horse. The horse started, and Mr. Alter was thrown from the buggy, but was not much hurt. The horse ran but a short distance when the lady was thrown out, and had one of her arms broken. We suppose that the Echo will tell how an unmerciful editor feels under such stirring and painful circumstances. The lady is doing well.

PEACE AND GOOD WILL.—We, the undersigned, would most respectfully return thanks to all our customers and friends for their past patronage. We would again invite all who wish to purchase for the present, as well as for the coming Winter, to call and examine our New Stock just opened for the inspection of the public. We flatter ourselves in having the best stock of goods ever brought to this place, consisting of all the new and popular brands of Dress Goods, Trimmings in endless varieties, and Notions of every description of the rarest and best qualities. We claim to sell Goods as low as any other parties in the county. It is a fact acknowledged by every good judge, that we keep the finest line of the best goods in the county, discarding misrepresentations.

TILTEN & ESPENSCHADE. BARN BURNED.—About 8 o'clock on the evening of the 7th inst. Mr. Thomas Watts, of Monroe township, discovered fire in a straw stack in front of his barn. He ran to the barn to save what he could from the flames. The first thing that he reached was his buggy. It was in its place in the wagon-shed. He shoved it out, and again ran into the shed to draw out a wagon. On going in, he fell over an object that lay unnoticed in his way. He sprang up and looked at what he had fallen over. It was an open trunk, and belonged to a lady who had been at Mr. Watt's some weeks. The trunk had been taken from the house by some unknown person that day or evening, and rifled of its contents and then left in the shed. It is believed that the trunk was robbed and the straw stack fired by one and the same person. The buggy and wagon above mentioned, and some harness and a few other light articles were taken from the barn. The barn and all the hay, grain and machinery, and a calf was burnt. Loss about $1,800. Insurance $400.

The following is the copy of a letter by a German soldier from the battle-field. It is a capital specimen of pithy epistolary composition: "DEAR WIFE: We have struck them. I am uninjured. Kiss the children for me."

NATURE'S HAIR RESTORATIVE is a sure remedy for this. Clear as crystal; no poison; perfectly sweet, clean and reliable. For sale at B. F. Kepner's drug store, Mifflintown, Pa. See advertisement.

AMPHIBIOUS EXPEL MOSQUITOES.—A writer in a South Carolina paper says that he has tried the following, and finds that it works like a charm: Take of gum camphor a piece about one-third the size of an egg, and evaporate it by placing it in a vessel and holding it over a lamp or candle, taking care that it does not ignite. The smoke will soon fill the room and expel the mosquitoes. One night I was terribly annoyed by them, when I thought of and tried the above, after which I never saw nor heard them that night, and the next morning there was not one to be found in the room, though the window had been left open all night.—Boston Journal of Chemistry.

A BEDFORD PREACHER IN TROUBLE.—A Bedford Parson was taken in the other night in the following manner: He was preparing a sermon, when a noise attracted his attention. Thud! Thud! Thud! "Surely some rogue has made the acquaintance of my cabbage patch." He lowered the lights and went to the window to make a survey, and sure enough, several persons were interviewing the cabbage on an extensive scale. "Get out of that you scoundrels. I know who you are, and will report you to the authorities in the morning," cried the Parson in a loud voice. The intruders paid no attention whatever to his command or threat but straightway broke for the very thickest part of the bed, and began pulling up the largest and nicest heads, which he had singled out and set apart for winter use. He couldn't stand it any longer. So, arming himself with a stout club he marched out in the garden to attack and drive off the foe. His onslaught was fearful, hammering away on all sides with well directed blows, and threatening to have them arrested by the constable immediately. The enemy finding they were getting the worst of the battle retreated to the other side of the garden, when, as they passed from under a large tree, the Bishop, who was following full speed with uplifted club, saw by the light of the Moon, that they were two of his neighbor's cows. Ye Local would have given a good deal to have been in some "nug" corner about that time and witnessed the compromise and the retreat of both armies.—Bedford Inquirer.

ANOTHER MURDER.—The Clearfield Reflector's Journal says: On Saturday last, September 3d, a most barbarous murder took place on Market street, in this place substantially under the following circumstances: Some time in the afternoon a man named Frank Meader, residing in Lawrence township, and N. L. Robins, of this place, got into a dispute and quarrel when Martin Harder, residing in the borough, and Wm. Dale, of Lawrence township, interfered to prevent a fight. The parties then separated. A little after five o'clock, however, Harder and Robins again walked down street. Dale stopped Robins to make some explanation in reference to his interference in preventing the previous fight. While making the explanation the "lie" passed between Harder and Dale, which resulted in an altercation between the two, during which the former cut the latter five times with a pocket knife which he had in his hand at the time—one cut taking effect on the crown of the head, another just above the left ear, a third in the right breast just below and back of the nipple, a fourth about two inches from the lower end of the breast bone, and the fifth a mere scratch on the skin in the left groin.

A post mortem examination revealed the fact that the stab in the right side entered the middle lobe of the right lung about an inch, while the one in the breast passed upwards and into the heart about two inches. This latter cut was evident by the last one inflicted, and while Dale was in a stooping position. Dale lived about ten minutes after being stabbed. Harder was promptly arrested and lodged in jail to await his trial for the horrible deed which he committed. Robins was also afterwards arrested and lodged in jail as an accessory in being a party in the original fight although it is said he endeavored to prevent the altercation between Harder and Dale.

Quite a number of persons were close by at the time of the altercation, and rushed forward to prevent it, but the fatal deed was done before they could reach the combatants. This sad and lamentable affair created much excitement among those who witnessed it, as well as in the community generally. In fact the excitement was so intense that some were favorable to inflicting summary vengeance upon the perpetrator of the deed. We hope this fatal affair will be an effectual warning to all persons who are predisposed to be quarrelsome and use deadly weapons.

The murdered man was conveyed to his home shortly after the occurrence, and his funeral took place on Monday morning last. He leaves a wife and four children to mourn his tragic death.

WOMAN AND HOME.—Home should be the most attractive place on earth. What a sham life must be where home is nightly abandoned for theatres, operas, balls and the society of others. He is unworthy the relation of husband and father who prefers the companionship of others to that of the wife of his youth and the children he has begotten. But the attractiveness of home is the work of woman. Here is the throne of her power and glory. Not in the legislative halls, not at the ballot box, nor in short clothes, but at home, the guardian of infancy, the instructor of childhood, the companion of youth, the partner of manhood, the comfort of old age, let her diminish sorrow by her sympathy, lighten joy by her gaiety, soothe by her tenderness, dignify by her intelligence, elevate by her devotion. She is to make home all this by music, and pictures, and books, and delightful conversation. Especially should home be intensely religious. The fires of devotion should burn brightly and cheerfully on the altar. Sweetly and gently each spirit should evince its constant and higher communion with Jesus. Home will then be a retreat from care, a refuge from sorrow, the anteroom of heaven.—E. L.

THE KNABE PIANO.—We refer with special pleasure to the advertisement of the Great Piano Manufactory of Messrs. Wm. Knabe & Co., of Baltimore. This factory is now one of the largest in the world; it is a magnificent five story structure, fronting an entire block on Eutaw st., and covering, together with the Lumber Yards attached, some two and one-half acres of ground. Three hundred and fifty men are constantly employed turning out over forty instruments per week. The Knabe Piano has by its superiority not only well nigh driven those of Northern manufacture from the home market, but also enjoys a large sale in New York, Philadelphia and throughout the entire North and West, besides their largely increased Southern trade. The most talented musicians of the day both amateur and professional, testify to their superiority, and wherever exhibited they have never failed to carry off the highest awards over all competition having received no less than 65 first premiums. During the last season they were used simultaneously by the most distinguished artists at the Opera Houses in Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, Brooklyn, Chicago, &c. There is certainly no instrument made, more durable than the KNABE PIANO, none but the best workmen being employed and only the very best of materials used.

We invite the reader's attention to the card of Messrs. Stuart, Peterson & Co., the well-known stove founders of Philadelphia in another column. The manufactures of this firm are attaining a world-wide celebrity, their merits being of the very highest order. Send for Circulars, etc.
