WHO HAS LOST A LITTLE GIRL?—Last summer a party of Gipsies consisting of two men, two women and a girl about eleven years of age, passed through the village of Belmore, Crawford county going west. Shortly after passing through the place, a man engaged in hauling logs came across a little girl, aged about four years, who had been left in the road about a mile east of the village, on the route which the Gipsies had just passed over. The man who was hauling logs picked up the child and took it to his home. The little child could give no account of itself, and has never yet conveyed an idea who its parents are.—The general impression is that the child did not belong to the Gipsies, and that they stole it from some family, and becoming tired of it they left it in the road as above stated.

There may be somewhere a mourning father and mother, whom the publication of this item may lead to the recovery of their lost child. Will our exchanges give it circulation as widely as possible?—Ex.

A TRIP TO HUNTINGDON—THE UNION BANK—A WALK—SUPPER AT THE JACKSON HOUSE—CONGRESSMAN SPEAR—HOME.—In compliance with an invitation sent us by James North, Esq, we joined a company of the following named persons: James North, Miss Rebecca North, Miss Elizabeth Witherow, Washington North, J. A. Christy, Dr. L. E. Atkinson, R. McMeen, R. E. Parker, T. Van Irwin, E. S. Parker. Wm. Jackman, of the Register, J. W. Speddy, of the Independent, and W. W. Davis, of the Republican, at the railroad at three o'clock P. M, for the purpose of going in the westward-bound mail train to Huntington, a town long since noted for its intelligence and wealth. We had not long to wait. The train was on time, and we were soon comfortably seated and hurrying up the narrows. The run to Lewistown seemed to us very short, for a friend, one of the company, kept our attention drawn to the side of the mountain along which we were running, with the expectation of showing us an upright stone or rock that has hundreds of times been mistaken for a standing soldier, with overcoat, knapsack, and cap on. We, however, failed to get a sightof it. Some distance below Lewistown our attention was drawn to Bixler's Gap, and who is the hunter in Juniata that does not know this favorite way of reaching the top of the mountains. This gap is soon to be used by Mr. North as a road over which he expects to haul to the railroad wood and ties in the fulfilment of a monster contract with the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for supplying it with those indispensable articles. The region which supplies the lumber is located in a depression on the top of the mountain, which is characteristic of this range.—The extent of the territory which Mr. North may operate on may be learned from the statement that it embraces the entire width of the depression on the mountain top from Bixler's Gap to a point four miles westward. It is believed that 75,000 railroad ties and hundreds of thousands of cords of wood can be cut on it Granville Gap, above Lewistown, is another course through which the material will be hauled to the railroad. Work has been commenced on the mountain above this gap, and a number of ties and cords of wood have already been cut and hauled to the road.

THE UNION BANK.

We arrived at Huntingdon in due time. Following the lead of Mr. North, who is a stockholder and director of the Union Bank, we reached this institution, which is located in a handsome three-story brick building, on the west side of a cross street, the name of which we have forgotten. While the gentlemanly cashier, Mr. C C. North, with whom many of our citizens have been acquainted since his early boyhood days, was unbolting the front and only door leading to or from the bank, the eye had time to receive and convey a pleasant impression to the minds of those who looked on the fine windows of French plate glass, and the massive and handsomely panelled door, with its surmounted transom, guarded by bars of the best of steel. We are inside, all of us, ladies included, and the sight is so pleasing that an involuntary murmer of admiration escapes the whole party. "It is as fine as the banking rooms in cities" was the opinion universally expressed. We stand just inside the door, within the space allotted to those who enter the institution to deposit or draw money In our front, 5 or 6, perhaps 7 feet distant from the wall at our back, is the counter, three feet high of native black walnut, artistically panelled. From our stand-point it joins the left-hand wall, and thence extends to within three or four feet of the wall directly in our front. This passage, between the ends of the counter and the wall, is the entrance way from the customers' department to the department occupied by the Bank officers when transacting business A panel-work of black walnut and French-plate glass, all of the most elegant designs and workmanship, surmounts the counter to the height of 6 feet. A handsome walnut desk, provided with paper and ink, stands outside the counter, to the left of the front door. We are within the space formed by the counter. Here are tables and desks, all of solid walnut, and of fine workmanship In the rear of this—the cashier and assistant's place—is the burglar and fire-proof vault, the foundation of which is beneath the cellar level. This piece or pier of masonry is carried or built to the height of the bank room floor, and at this height "quartz rock" slabs 18 inches thick and long enough to reach across the pier, were laid on it to form the bottom of the vault. The sides and roof of the vault are constructed of the same "quartz rock," laid in cement, and bound together with iron staples. Two massive doors with combination locks secure the vault, and may defy the efforts of the lock picker and vault breaker. Inside the vault we find a large fire and burglar proof safe made by Evans & Watson, one door after another of which was opened until four seperate ones had been swung. Then, and not till then, were the greenbacks and other valuables reached. There they lay in piles, at the sight of which Major Parker evinced considerable emotion, but calmed nicely when assured that the "20 000 were not in that pile." Money in that safe most assuredly would be safe. Burglars, we think, might sledge and pound for days without being able to effect an entrance.

The directors' room is to the right of the vault, and has an entrance from that portion of the bank allotted to customers. Complete and handsome gas fixtures hang in the bank proper, and in the vault, and in the directors room. For the gratification of the visiting party the gas was turned on.

A WALK.

After the institution and all its fine things "were done," some one suggested a walk around the town. "Yes around the town we'll go," was the response. But somehow or other, when the walking party was mustered on the pavement outside the bank it numbered only five. Irwin and Parker, cashiers of the Mifflin banks, had become interested in some financial accounts that C. C. North. of the Union Bank, had just opened. W. North was interested in another direction and didn't appear. Atkinson and McMeen were basking in the smiles of the ladies, and of course they didn't come. Davis glided away to see some friends and hob-nob with Huntingdon politicians, and Speddy, with his rotund form, passed down town to devote a short time to his special friends there. Five only to walk. We started in the following order: Mr. James North and Mr. Jacob A. Christy, who is the oldest member of the Mifflin bar, and who was also the patriarch of our party, formed the van; the Register and the Sentinel, with Major Parker sandwiched between them formed the rear. Mr. North's energy took us up the street at almost a "double quick." We had progressed but a short distance, when Parker broke out in a fearful criticism on the condition of the streets and side-walks, and also pronounced a high eulogium on the Mifflintown Town Council. We talked to him and told him the serious truth that no town of its size in Pennsylvania can boast as can Huntingdon, at this present time, of having a United States Senator, a Congressman, and a State Senator. We don't know whether he would have quit his jokes, when the Register came to the rescue and told Parker squarely to shut up, that nothing ailed the streets and pavements of Huntingdon; that the trouble lay in his corns and bunions.

We passed by Lewis's, by the red front, out to west end, and there we thought of London and the aristocratic portion of its inhabitants, and of its other citizens. Here we turned and retraced our steps, and walked through the town by the Journal office, and many business places and private residences.—But the two bad places of the town, the jail and the Monitor office, we did not see

SUPPER AT THE JACKSON HOUSE.

We ended our walk at the Jackson House, where we found the remainder of our party, excepting the ladies and Mr. W. North, who were up town, taking tea at a friend's. Here in the parlor we met W. H. Woods, Esq, a stockholder and director of the Union Bank. But little time was allowed for conversation. Supper was announced, and the party was seated and did justice to the viands of the ample board of the Jackson House.

CONGRESSMAN SPEAR.

In the parlor after supper we were introduced to Hon. R. Milton Spear, who is also a stockholder and director of the Union Bank, and is the gentleman who was elected to Congress last fall over the sterling Republican and gentleman, Mr. Morrell, of Johnstown, Cambria county. We were disappointed when we met Mr. Spear. We had anticipated a meeting with a politician, to a certain degree related to the roisterly kind, but at sight this anticipation was not realized, and we received an impression just the opposite of what we expected. In height we would guess him to be 5 feet 7 or 8 inches, genteel in person, has auburn hair, and side and chin whiskers of nearly the same hue, a fair and clean complexion that indicates temperate habits, a straight mouth with sensuous upper lip, nose well defined and well proportioned, clear good sized eyes, hazel in color, if we were not deceived by the glare of the gas light, and surmounted by pleasant brows, and full forehead, with face throughout highly agreeable and intelligent-looking. Train time came speedily.—Mr. Spear bade us "good night," and we hastened to the depot. The ladies and their escort arrived just in time to get on.

Our article has already grown to long, or we would write of the companionable New Englander, who shared his seat with us from Huntingdon to Mifflin.—He was a man of 60 years perhaps more, who has journeyed through life thus far—we would judge from his talk—without having felt its thorns All reached home safely at 8:45 P. M, highly pleased and full of thanks to Mr. North for the excursion.

AN exchange notes the cry of "hard times," and truthfully attributes the cause, primarily, to the fact that too large a share of our people are trying to live by something else than productive industy. Other influences contribute, but this is far more potent than the whole of them We are fast becoming a nation of schemers to live without work. Our boys are not learing trades, our farmers' sons are crowding into cities, looking for clerkships and petty offices; hardly one American girl in each hundred will do house work, however urgent her need. So we are sending to Europe for workmen, and buying of her artisans millions' worth of products that we ought to make ourselves. There can be no doubt that our boys and girls must be taught to love labor, by qualifying themseves to do it efficiently, if we would better matters in the future at all.

PETTICOATS.—Paper petticoats are the latest novelties imported from London. They are sold in lots as aré paper collars.

NEWSPAPERS.—Many people think newspapers dear, that ten cents a week for food for the brain is too extravagant; but a glass of whiskey is manufactured from about seventy grains of corn, the value of which is too small to be estimated. A glass of this mixture sells for a dime, and, if a good brand, is considered worth the money. It is drank in a moment or two. It fires the brain, deranges and weakens the physical system. On the same sideboard on which the deleterious beverage is served lies a million types—it brings intelligence from the four quarters of the globe. The newspaper cost less than the glass of grog, but is not less true that there is a large number who think corn juice cheap and newspapers dear.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

CORNS.—How they sting, throb, ache, smart and burn, upon our feet. In vain we beg, and threaten, we curse, we flourish the sharpest knives above their heads, we burn, we cut, hack, hew and fell, and still the pesky corns remain a thing of misery.—Useless are entreaties, tears, curses, groans; nothing can remove our corns but Brigg's Alleviator and Curative, a sure cure for Corns, Bunions, Ingrowing Nails, and all ailments of the feet.

PILES!—Internal, External, Bleeding or Itching. Thi distressing and harrowing disease is alarming on the increase. More so, perhaps, from the fact that those who are afflicted with it are, from a false notion of delicacy, afraid to ask for a remedy, thereby making their condition known. How wrong and fatal is this neglect. At the first intimation of the appearance of this complaint they should procure Briggs' Unrivaled Pile Remedy, and, using it according to directions, immediately check it and permanently cure it. It is easy of application, and thorough in its effects.

HEADACHE, Neuralgia and Nervous Diseases.—The wonderful effects of Dr. Briggs' Allevantor, for the speedy cure of the above very prevalent and painful afflictions is known to many thousands who have used it with the most unqualified success. In every case of the complaint above enumerated it has never failed to give immediate relief. Its effect is magical beyond precedent. One trial will convince the most skeptical. Each bottle making two quarts when diluted for use.

CONSUMPTION.—This fatal and dreaded disease can, and has been cured. Dr. J. Briggs' Throat and Lung Healer is a pleasent, agreeable and sure remedy for Coughs, Whooping Cough, Croup, Hoarseness, Bronchitis, Laryngitis, Sore Throat, Asthma, Consumption, and all diseases of the Throat, Lungs and Chest.

The above medicines are sold by BANKS & HAMLIN, Mifflintown, and by druggists generally.

WALTHAM WATCHES.

The extensive use of these watches for the last fifteen years by Railway Conductors, Engineers and Expressman, the most exacting of watch-wearers, has thoroughly demonstrated the strength, steadiness, durability and accuracy of the Waltham Watch To satisfy that class in all these respects, is to decide the question as to the real value of these time-keepers.

More than 500,000 of these watches are now speaking for themselves in the pockets of the people—a proof and a guarantee of their superiority over all others.

The superior organization and great extent of the Company's Works at Waltham, enables them to produce watches at a price which renders competition futile and those who buy any other watch merely pay from 25 to 50 per cent. more for their watches than is necessary.

These time-pieces combine every improvement that a long experience has proved of real practical use. Having had the refusal of nearly every invention in watch-making originating in this country or in Europe, only those were finally adopted which severe testing by the most skilful artisans in our works, and long use on the part of the public, demonstrated to be essential to correct and enduring time keeping.

Among the many improvements we would particularize:

The invention and use of a centre pinion of peculiar construction, to prevent damage to the train by the breakage of main-springs, is original with the American Watch Company, who, having had the refusal of all other contrivances, adopted Fogg's patent pinion as being the best and faultless.

Hardened and tempered hair-springs, now universally admitted by Watchmakers to be the best, are used in all grades of Waltham Watches.

All Waltham Watches have dust-proof caps, protecting the movement from dust, and lessening the necessity of the frequent cleaning necessary in other watches.

Our new patent stem-winder, or keyless watch is already a decided success, and a great improvement on any stem-winding watch in the American market, and by far the cheapest watch of its quality now offered to the public. To those living in portions of the United States where watchmakers do not abound, watches with the above mentioned improvements which tend to ensure accuracy, cleanliness, durability and convenience, must prove invaluable.

The trademarks of the various styles made by the Company are as follows:

OFFER FOR SALE AT PAR AND ACCRUED INTEREST THE

First Mortgage Land Grant Gold Bonds

OF THE Northern Pacific Railroad Co.

These bonds are secured, first, by a First Mortgage on the Railroad itself, its rolling-stock, and all equipments; second, by a First Mortgage on its entire Land Grant, being more than Twenty-two Thousand Acres of Land to each mile of Road.

The Bonds are free from United States Tax; the Principal and Interest are payable in gold—the Principal at the end of Thirty years, and the Interest Semi-annually, at the rate of SEVEN AND THREE-TENTHS PER CENT. per annum.

They are issued in denominations of $100, $500, $1,000, $5,00, and $10,000.

The Trustees under the Mortgage are Messrs Jay Cooke, of Philadelphia, and J. Edgar Thompson, President of the Pennsylvania Central Railroad Company.

These Northern Pacific 7-30 Bonds will at all times before maturity, be receivable AT TEN PER CENT. PREMIUM (or 1,10), in exchange for the Company's lands at their lowest cash price.

In addition to their absolute safty, these Bonds yield an income larger, we believe, than any other first-class security. Persons holding United States 5.20's can, by converting them into Northern Pacifics, increase their yearly income one third, and still have a perfectly reliable investment.

HOW TO GET THEM.—Your nearest Bank or Banker will supply these Bonds in any desired amount, and of any needed denomination. Persons wishing to exchange stocks or bonds for these, can do so with any of our Agents, who will allow the highest current price for ALL MARKETABLE SECURITIES.

Those living in localities, remote from Banks, may send money, or other bonds, directly to us by express, and we will send back Northern Pacific Bonds at our own risk, and without cost to the investor. For further information, pamphlets, maps etc., call on or address the undersigned, or any of the Banks or Bankers employed to sell this Loan.
