FARMER'S COLUMN.

FARM WEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA.

It has become so much a habit to consider the grand Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as coal, iron, and petroleum State, that it is worth while to look at her now and then in her other capacities. Taking some of the returns of the recent census showing the agricultural productions of Pennsylvania in 1870 and the value of her farms, farm stock, farm implements &c., we have set them side by side with the returns for the same articles and subjects as found in the census returns for the year 1860 and 1850 respectively. From these our readers can judge how greatly the agricultural wealth of our State has increased, and how much more important the agricultural interest is than any and all other interests, vast and influential as some of the others are. Beginning with the cash value of the farms of the State, our table shows that in 1850, the aggregate value was $407,876,099-ten years later in 1869, it was $662.050.707, and in 1870 it was returned at the magnificent figure of $1,034,481,582. This is an increase of value in twenty years, of one hun dred and fifty per cent. and in the last ten years of nearly eight per cent. The value of the farms of the State increas ed from 1869 to 1870, more than twice as fast as the population increased in numbers. The next conspicuous angmentation of valuable agricultural pro porty is seen in the increased value of tarm implements and machinery. The total of this in 1850, was $14,722,541; in 1860, the sum was $22,442,842, an increase of about fifty per cent; and in 1870 the aggregate was $35,658,196, an increase of about sixty per cent; or nearly three times as fast as the increase of population. We come next to the value of live stock on the farms, viz : horned cattle, horses, sheep, swine, &c. The total value of them in 1840 was $41,500,053; in 1850 the total was $69,-672,726, and in 1870, notwithstanding the great demands for slaughter during the four years of the war, the aggregate was $115,647,075, showing an increase of sixty-six per cent. during ten years of extraordinary vicissitude among eatile. These are most unexpectedly prosperous exhibits, telling a most welcome story of the great progress in the agricultural wealth of the State. Going briefly into the details of the
