Convention is having a tendency to bring out the names of those who are willing to serve the people as their accounting officer. Many good names have already been mentioned in connection with the position-names that would be an honor to any ticket they would be placed upon; but in looking over the list there seems to be one section of the State that might be represented or which at least may put in very just claims for a place on the next Republican State ticket, that is the southern tier of counties. The East, the West interior, and Northern section of the State have innumerable candidates for every office named. We think that the southern portion of the State should not be neglected, and in order that all sections of the State may be treated alike, we present the name of Hon. Ed.
