THE following is said to be the celebrated Indian cure for the bite of a rattlesnake or copperhead: Take a handful of stems of the weed called "Touch me not," wash them and soak in whiskey. Put this on a heavy cloth and tie on the wound. This will extract the poison and effect a cure.

REMEDY FOR THE BITTE OF A MAD DOG.—The following recipe for the bite of a mad dog was handed us by Mr. Benjamin Fannebaker, of Beale township, who assures us that it is the celebrated remedy of Dr. Stoye, of Berks county, which has never been known to fail.

Take 1 ounce of red-blossomed chick weed, 1 ounce of theriac, and 1 quart of strong-beer. If no strong-beer can be obtained, make hop lye strong enough to carry an egg; this will answer the same purpose. Put the above ingredients into a new crock, and boil down to two-thirds its quantity; then strain it through a cloth. It is now ready for use. Divide this quantity into three doses, and give the person bitten one dose each day for three successive days. For horses or cattle twice the above quantity will be necessary.

VETERINARY surgeons all over the country are recommending Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders for the following trouble in horses: Loss of appetite, roughness of the hair, stoppage of bowels or water, thick water, coughs and colds, swelling of the glands, worms horse all, thick wind, and heaves.

LOCAL OPTION and Constitutional Reform are great questions for the people to grapple with. They are moral and political questions, and while they are receiving a large share of public attention, the fact cannot be concealed that John S. Graybill is stocking one of his large store rooms in the "Palace" with a complete assortment of Hardware, and next week expects to open it to the public.—That will then be the place to buy Hardware.

ABOUT 4 o'clock on last Thursday afternoon smoke was seen issuing from a small yard in the rear of Tilden & Espenschade's store-room. The alarm was given by those who discovered the smoke, and a rush was made for the place, where a fire was found briskly burning. How it got there is a mystery. The discovery at that early stage was most fortunate, for had it remained undiscovered a few minutes longer, the store and stables in the rear would all have been on fire, and the brick wind that was at the time blowing from the northwest, would have created a disastrous fire.

ACCIDENT.—Last Saturday morning Abraham Will was serving his customers with beef in driving down the hill by the Presbyterian church, the wagon pressed the horse heavily; the beast dashed for the pike and reaching it, turned suddenly off toward town, thereby breaking the shafts, and snapping the traces, ran down town, while the wagon did not change its course but ran straight across the pike and plunged down the steep embankment toward the canal. In its course, it was upset, and Mr. Will was thrown out and had his right leg broken between the knee and ankle joints. Anson Will was also in the wagon, but escaped from the rear end of the wagon without injury.

FOUND IN THE RIVER.—Supposed Murder.—John H. Eppler, justice of the peace at Middletown, sends us the following:
Notice had been sent to me that a dead man was found floating (three miles below Middletown) on the Susquehanna, with a despatch from the coroner that he was sick and not able to hold an inquest. I at once went to the place where the man was found in the river and appointed a jury composed of the following men: Dr. Levi Decard, Adam Blisset, B. W. Sheaffer, Jacob M. Gingrich, Samuel Kaylor and Samuel Schull, to hold an inquest on the body, which proved to be Francis King. The jury brought in the verdict that deceased came to his death by the hands of some person or persons to them unknown, he having his hands firmly tied on his back and received a heavy blow above the right eye, breaking his skull, with a hammer or billy or like instrument.

Said deceased had on black pants, black vest, black coat, black sack overcoat lined with Italian cloth, pair of new overboots; had a soldier's discharge in his pocket of Francis King, corporal, Company C, 21st regiment, Pennsylvania volunteers; was born at Mifflin, Pa.; was 22 years old in 1854, when he enlisted; had also a promissory note in his pocket for $300, payable to the order of Francis King, dated January 21st, 1870, with the name of the giver torn off; thirty dollars interest was paid on this note January 5th, 1872; had also two railroad tickets in his pocket, one from New York to Wooster, O., used as far as Harrisburg; another from Lewis town to Wooster, Ohio, once punched; two empty pocket books; $1.82 in money in a diary; silver watch, railroad time keeper. The deceased was five feet nine inches in height, fair complexion, blue eyes, light hair, by occupation a laborer (according to the discharge), was well dressed, and evidently a man of business. He is supposed to have been in the water six or eight weeks. The body was taken in charge and properly buried. Any person wishing information can have it cheerfully by addressing Jno. H. Eppler, J. P., Box 97, Middletown, Dauphin county, Pa.

FURTHER PARTICULARS.
Squire Eppler, of Middletown, writing under date of Saturday last, says:
Mr. Miller, from M'Vey town, called on me yesterday and was shown the articles found on the person of deceased. He identified his watch, pocket-book, hand-writing and discharge. I accompanied him to where King was buried, had his body taken up, and Miller recognized him by his clothes. King has been living in Ohio for the past two years. He came east last December; went to Berks county to collect some money that was due him. He was staying about M'Vey town and was married January 16th last, was seen at Patterson January 20th, where he went as is supposed, to negotiate for the purchase of some real estate, as he remarked to some person that could be bought for $1,300; that if he could get his money in he would buy the property, but he would not buy unless he could pay the whole, cash down.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

Appearing.—A few straggling spring flies. "Poor flies."

"On the first Tuesday of May next, conventions of school directors will assemble at the county seats of the several counties of this Commonwealth for the purpose of electing County Superintendents of Common Schools, for the term of three years, commencing on the first Monday in June. At the same time there will be held, if the respective boards of directors so decide, in all cities and boroughs possessing 7,000 inhabitants, special elections for the election of City and Borough Superintendents of Schools for the same length of term as that for which County Superintendents are to be elected.

"There are now serving in the State S1 County, City and Borough Superintendents, to be increased probably at the forthcoming election $6 more. The importance of the interests intrusted to these officers can scarcely be over-estimated.—Pennsylvania will have 1,000,000 children to educate in her public schools during the next three years, and her annual expenditures for school purposes will most likely average full $10,000,000.—Whether these children shall be well taught and trained or otherwise; whether this vast sum of money shall be judiciously or injudiciously expended will depend very much upon the men about to be chosen to fill the office of Superintendent, for it will be admitted by all who reflect upon the subject that as the Superintendents so the teachers, as the teachers so the schools, and as the schools so in a good measure the social and political condition of the people.

"Pennsylvania has within the last few years placed herself proudly alongside of the foremost educational States. She is taxing herself for educational purposes as heavily as any other State of the Union. She is pouring out her money for the education of her children most generously, and it is the high duty of all who have to do with the official management of schools to see that every dollar thus contributed brings back the greatest possible return of that for which it is given. Our people are willing to pay for the best schools, and we must have them. Let none but men fully qualified be placed in the office of Superintendent, and the rest is guaranteed."

BERKSHIRE COUNTY DEMOCRACY AHEAD.—An interesting wedding at Mount Zion on Sunday evening last.—A Bazaar. Widow of the African persians on joint fortune with a full-blooded Democratic Irishman.—Last Sunday afternoon, Mrs. Rosanna Sheeters, a buxom widow of the African persuasion whose beloved husband, an unfortunate white man, threw off his mortal coils in the Almshouse a year and a half ago, and whose bones now repose in the Poor House Cemetery, was seen wending her way through high wind, rain and snow, up Pitt street, out Juliana and up John street, halting in front of the residence of Rev. John Fidler. Tap, tap, tap, and the Rev. F. opened the door and in walked Mrs. Rosanna. About what time, says she to the Reverend, will you go to the church this evening? At the second ringing of the M. E. bell, says the Reverend. Very well, replied our dark eyed and dark skin damsel, I will be here at the ringing of the first bell and will bring some one along. As soon as the visitor left the Reverend dismissed the subject and devoted his attention to other matters.—Time wore on and at the first ringing of the M. E. bell, sure enough, the dark heroine presented herself at the door.—The Reverend opened the door and recognized his visitor of two hours before. Beside her stood a big, awkward, raw-boned, low-legged Irishman, with his clumsy fists in his pockets up to his elbows and his pantaloons about a foot above his nineteen inch stogies. Step in, said the Reverend. What can I do for you? We want to get jined in wedlock and be married, said the now blushing widow. All right says the Reverend; stand up here and we will marry you. The widow, "who had been there before," stationed "ferment" the Reverend in rather a graceful manner, but the Irishman, who didn't know what to do, but was determined to keep within range of his "swateheart" made a long desperate stride, as though he was trying to get out of the road of the "keers," landing some two feet ahead of his betrothed and nearly on the toes of the Reverend. He soon backed to the line and the ceremony began.

Rosanna, do you take this man James to be your wedded husband? Yes, said, I does. Will you love, honor and obey him? Yes, said, I does. James do you take this woman, Rosanna, to be your wedded wife? Faith an' I will, be jabers, yer honor, an' it's not Jammie Hays as says one thing an' does another, is it me darlint Rosie-anier? Will you love, honor and never forsake her? Divil a bit will I ever love or forsake 'er, yer honor, an' 'ye spake the truth, Mr. Pracher, when ye says thin blessed words. The Reverend pronounced the magic words which made them one, and the happy pair started on their wedding tour, about—They put up at the Bedford County Hotel, a little ways east of town, where we lost track of 'em. This is the fruit of the X'Vth amendment. Time changes all things, but we really didn't think that it would become our duty to record the marriage of a colored lady to an Irishman, and a full blooded Democrat at that. Wonderful! awful! ain't it! Surely the "lion and the lamb shall lie down together," &c. Who'd a thought it. And those few Republicans who joined the Democracy because they were opposed to the "nigger," what will they do now? We pity them from the bottom of our ink bottle. We don't want to hear anything more about long heads, flat noses and thick lips from that side of the house. In regard to this marriage contract we believe Rosanna was outrageously cheated.—Bedford Inquirer.

Extract from a letter from Mrs. J. C. Aldrich, Wameon, Fulton Co., O. "R. P. Hall & Co., Gentlemen.—Please send me one dozen bottles of your Sicilian Hair Renewer. Our 'bald and gray' do not want to be out. My mother is a living recommendation of the results from the use of the Renewer. Being almost seventy years old, and having worn a wig over thirty years, it seems a miracle to those who have known her so long so bald, and what little hair she had being perfectly white; now her wig thrown aside, her hair grown out, and a smooth glossy brown, as in girlhood. Hoping you may long continue to pour blessings on the heads of the afflicted, I remain yours truly."

Such evidence, with the indorsement of the great chemist of New England, Dr. A. A. Hayes and S. Danna Hayes, should satisfy any one, which of the preparations produce the best results.

A THIEF OPERATES IN A SLEEPING COACH.—Shortly before one of the West ern bound morning trains reached Altoona, on Wednesday last, the passengers of which break their fast by indulging in one of those excellent breakfasts served up at the Logan House, it was discovered that a thief had been operating during the night in one of the sleeping coaches attached to the train, and had succeeded in making a big haul. Among the passengers were Dr. Alex. Evans, Jr., and Mr. B. C. Lauth, both of Pittsburgh.—The former gentleman lost his diamond watch valued at $900, which were taken out of his shirt-bosom, and about $60 in cash and a revolver. The latter gentleman had stolen from him his gold watch, valued at $375, and cash to the amount of $70. A German gentleman in the same car, name unknown, was relieved of his pocket-book containing $50 in national currency. The car was searched immediately upon the discovery of the robberies, but none of the stolen property was recovered. It was generally supposed that the thief operated out of Harrisburg, and led the train at that point.—Altoona Tribune.
