Colonel Forney and the Governorship. A Republican Reform Meeting was held in Concert Hall, Philadelphia, on Tues-Col. Forney was read at that meeting, advocating reform within the lines of the Republican party. Such declarations find a loud echo in the heart of the Republican party. The principles of the every abuse, wrong or fraud.

It is the right of Col. Forney and every other man in the cause to oppose false men engaged in unfair work. It is more than their right: it is their duty to ex pose and hold up to view the doings of men in public life, if they are engaged in terests of the people. But this must be people of Pennsylvania, who still love per into her eyes and nose, and left the supply of boards. done within the lines of the Republican party, for the social and financial interests of the people could not be furthered tions are of the most friendly character, by the Democratic party, which, until quite recently, has been opposed to such advancement, through their advocacy of slavery and free trade. These questions, if the Democratic party gets into power, are not earnest and honest workers of matter what their pretentions may be.

Is Col. Forney misunderstood or misfore the people when it is said that he of General Hartranft, then are his professions in favor of the success of the so much-and reform within its lines, original commission of the latter as torney who was amplicated. of the organization of that party.

Do not men who are gifted with fine speech and elegant manners have the support oftentimes of men who are not the right kind of men ? The answer to that may be found in the observation of every discriminating mind.

But there is a strong under current in all of Col Forney's writings on the Gubernatorial question that leads the unguarded to believe that Gen. The travel stained and weather beaten veterans heard it and laughed, for there were serious impediments in the HON. ULYSSES MERCUR, plainly inscribed. When the opportune time came Grant called out "On to Richmond," and that city was invaded, and laid at the mercy of a triumphant army. And now history, in a political way, repeats its war traditions. The old, wornout philosopher cries out to the Repub lican party of the nation, On to Cincinnati" But the army of the people are slow to catch the watchword. and in the signs of the times descry the ominous word "halt," which holds them to their places. A Voting Apparatus for Legislative Bodies

MR EDITOR :- By the special request of a friend I send you a statement of what I would call the practical workings of my Patent Right for Voting Apparatus. dated April 2, 1872. It is composed of scales, tubes and balls. Thus we suppose 100 members in a legislative body, all can vote at once. First affix a bal ance beam or scale 10 or 12 feet long immediately over and above the speaker's chair fastened to the wall. At each end of said beam have a coil of spring steel wire attached about 20 or 25 inches in length, to which there must be a long stra ght stiff wire attached, hanging down hrough the floor, being in a case or spout at the lower end of said wire, which being ome 21 or three feet above the basement floor, a little box fitting inside of the case to catch the balls or ballots.

Secondly -Two or three members gen-A company of Costa Ricans have erally sit at one desk. Each member's said estate are requested to make immediate bought 2600 acres in California, and will seat must be numbered, and each member must have his balls numbered, and each member must vote his own number bal-

Thirdly-Two tubes must be attached to each desk, one marked "Aye," the other marked "Nay." These tubes pass down through the floor, and immediately diverge in different directions and inter ect with other tubes of larger size, and continue descending and running into others, like small streams of water coming together and making larger streams, and eventually all the ayes come together and empty themselves into this spout having J. H. Stroub has received $1200 from the wire attached to the end of the scale the Third avenue horse railroad, New beam and also the nave in like manner,

Fourthly-There must be a plate fixed permanently against the wall, one at each ley like the carpenter's rule, or like a thermometer, showing the degrees, and on indicator. As the balls roll into the spont and lodge in its closely-fitting box -each ball baving equal weight-they will draw one nick at the rule, as shown by the finger pointing to it. The beam may vibrate up and down three or four inches at each end Say four inches down at one end would be four inches up at the other end. All eyes could instantly behold the heavy end, and without a word being spoken all would know in about one minute after the vote was taken, whether the ayes or nays carried. it pointed, pencil it on paper, and each A young Meadville somnambulist hand to the speaker, who could and would minutes in voting, as is often the case let all the ballots run out into a vessel the seats are numbered, being seated at his table ready for action, when clerk A takes up a ballot and calls out 64, and while clerk B is hunting and marking that number, clerk A is distributing said 64 into its proper case, like the printer meaning ave, and the other nav If a 1 plow, ! barrow. member by being careless should drou his ballot into aye while he meant nay, the clerks in the basement would readily notice it.
