ESCAPER.—A young man, who had been committed to jail because he failed to provide for his wife, managed to get to the top of the jail yard wall, on last Friday evening between the hours of 8 and 9 o'clock, from which he lowered himself by his hands to his full length, swung out from the wall, and dropped into the Sheriff's garden, from which he disappeared, and has not been seen since.
If you want a tip-top Saw, go to J. S. Graybill's hardware store.

After that time stamps will not be required on agreements, notes, bonds, deeds, mortgages, leases, certificates, insurance policies, protests, &c. But the stamp taxes on matches, pro prietary medicines, &c. (being in schedule C) is retained.—E.C.

FIRE at DUNCANSON—About four o'clock on the afternoon of the 2nd inst., a spark from a passing locomotive started a fire in a stable belonging to the Pennsylvania Hotel, at Duncanson, Perry county. The flames soon reached the hotel. There being danger of the fire spreading to adjoining property, the Fire Department at Harrisburg was despatched for. An engine was sent up, and the fire put out. The hotel and contents were valued at about $7,000. Insured in the Juniata and Perry County Mutual Companies in the sum of $1,800.

DEATH OF REV. MATTHEW ALLISON.—Rev. Matthew Allison, who came to Milliflinton in the year 1844, to fill the vacancy created in the charge composed of the Presbyterian congregations of McAlisterville and Milliflinton, by the death of Rev. Mr. Hutchinson, died in this place on Monday morning last, at 4 o'clock after a long illness. He was a native of Scotland, and at his death was in his seventy eighth year. He was dignified yet social, able and learned, far beyond most able and learned men. He lived a truly christian life, and the glorious doctrine of the Cross which he taught for half a century, was his comfort during his long illness. He was respected by the whole community, and highly esteemed by all who knew him, and he loved by his people, who mourn his loss. His remains were conveyed into the church, in front of the pulpit from which he so long declared the gospel, at three o'clock yesterday afternoon, and after appropriate ceremonies and remarks by a number of ministers witnessed and listened to by a vast audience, were then carried to their last resting place on the hillside grave yard that overlooks the beautiful Juniata.
If you need hardware, don't forget to call at the cheap hardware store of J. S. Graybill, where you can find anything in the hardware line, at the very lowest prices.
LET there be none but good men put in nomination by the Republican party of the county this fall.

THE FOURTH.—The Fourth at Milliflinton was ushered in as the great John Adams of Revolutionary times predicted it would be, by the ringing of bells, the shouts of men, and the illuminating glare of bonfires.
Milliflinton, as all who live in the State know, has passed through an ordeal of the character that has blackened and charred Chicago and Somerset, and robbed them of homes and the hard earnings of years of labor and economy. The nerves of this community were so affected on the last night of the year 1870, by the ringing of bells, and the shouts of men, and the glare of devouring flames, that to this day they are sensitive and quickly thrill at the sound of unusual noises, and the ringing of bells at night.
Suddenly, about 1 o'clock in the morning of the Fourth the town was started by the merry peals of the Court House bell. Young men, all aglow under the inspiration of the anniversary of our National Independence, were ringing the bell, and also had kindled a huge pile of empty store boxes and other inflammable stuff at the crossing of Main and Bridge streets. The citizens started from their sleep, did not think of the natal day of their Nation. Fire was the thing that they thought of, and out into the streets they ran, shouting fire. A wild scene of confusion for a time prevailed. It was a great relief to realize that it was only the 4th of July, and not the fire fiend that had visited the town. Most of the people took it good humoredly. Some, however, grew indignant, and breathed dire vengeance on the man who rung "that bell." A self-constituted committee hurried to the Court House, to catch him. While the search of the building was going on, one of the party expressed the probability that the ringer might be engaged in the hunt. This remark gave the whole thing such a ludicrous turn that a general laugh was indulged in and the search given up. The ringer sat in a tree top in the Court House yard, and rang the bell with a rope.
The morning came bright and clear. Citizens were busy preparing their lunch baskets to attend the military picnic in Schewer's woods. The Graybill Zouaves were attending to the practicing of their arrangements, and providing for the comfort of their guests.
At 9 o'clock in the morning the Graybill Zouaves marched to East Point to receive and escort the Fayette Union Guards, under Lieutenant Carvery. Immediately after that duty was performed Capt. McClellan and Lieut. Landis escorted the Perryville Cornet Band from the railroad. Major Wise and his drum corps, from McCoysville, were properly received, and placed at the head of the Graybill Zouaves.
The procession formed about 11 o'clock with the Perryville Cornet Band at its head and all under the command of Capt. McClellan, and marched to the woods. The Juniata Scouts, mounted men, commanded by Col. Robinson, entered the woods about 12 o'clock.
The Guards and Scouts, except in numerous individual cases where soldiers were pressing invited by citizens to partake of the good things of their baskets.
This assembly was especially pleasing to the eye. The woods with its green canopy, the ladies with their varied and gaily-laced dresses, and their citizen lords in sombre black and cool light-colored linen, mingling with the red-caped and blue-coated Guards and Scouts, and the gay, loose and easy Oriental costume of the Zouaves, made up a picture such as seldom witnessed in the rural districts.
The Declaration of Independence was read at 2 o'clock, by Mr. Lucian Doty. A shower that gave warning of its approach dispersed the assembly between 3 and 4 o'clock. The military parade in Milliflinton and Patterson later in the day was a creditable one.
It was a day most agreeably spent by those who participated in the celebration. No liquors, no wines, and no carousing and course conduct. It was a gentlemanly and lady-like party, and are greatly marked characteristics all are greatly indebted to Captain McClellan and Col. Robinson and others of the management.

Tuscarora Valley Railroad.
A liberal charter having been granted to a Company to build a railroad from a point on the Pennsylvania Railroad in Juniata county, through Tuscarora Valley, to connect with any other railroad now built, or which may hereafter be built in either Huntingdon or Franklin counties. The incorporators have made a preliminary organization, and opened books for subscription to the capital stock, as authorized by law. The committee appointed to confer with other parties, to ascertain whether any aid can be had to complete the road are assured that outside assistance can be procured, if the people more immediately interested in the construction of the road lead off and subscribe an amount of stock which is entirely within their means, and which ought to be raised without serious difficulty.
Although no examination of the proposed route has been made by engineers, it is well known that Tuscarora Valley offers peculiar advantages for the easy and cheap construction of a railroad, and with a continuous descending grade from Shade Gap to the Juniata river—a downward grade being an important consideration in the transportation of coal.
As a local road it will support itself, should it terminate temporarily at the western line of Juniata county; but the time is not far distant when a through route to the Broad Top coal fields will be accomplished by a connection with the Southern Pennsylvania Railroad at Shade Gap. A large amount of freight will be thrown upon it from Path and Sherman Valleys, and the fertile valley of Tuscarora yields a large amount of produce, besides having the material to furnish an almost inexhaustible supply of railroad ties. When the Broad Top connection is made there is no reason why it should not be a profitable investment to the stockholders, besides being a great public convenience.
The construction of a railroad through Tuscarora Valley would render available large bodies of timberland that are now of little value, and it would largely enhance the value of real estate, particularly that which is remotely located from the Pennsylvania railroad.
Some effort is necessary on the part of public spirited and energetic citizens, to organize and successfully execute this project, and the people generally must co-operate with them in granting releases from land damages, and in procuring subscriptions to the capital stock, or it cannot be carried through to a successful termination. But a vigorous effort by all interested will succeed, and they will be fully compensated for both their time and money by the increased facilities afforded them in traveling and in conveying their products and merchandise to and from market.
PROGRESS.
If a horse has a good constitution, and has once been a good horse, no matter how old or how much run down he may be, he can be greatly improved, and in many respects made as good as new, by a liberal use of Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders.

A gentleman afflicted with the chronic rheumatism says, "No description of my case can convey the vast amount of benefit I have received from the use of John's Anodyne Liniment. I believe it is the best article in the world for rheumatism."
