The Issue in the State.

THE North American writes of the issue in the State as follows:

The October election is to decide whether the State government, as an entirety, is to remain in the hands of Republicans or be surrendered into the keeping of the Democratic party. It is to indicate something more than a preference for one set of candidates before any other set, because in such a contest more personal considerations sink into comparative insignificance. The candidates fairly represent the principles of the parties whose standards they bear. The Democratic candidate for Governor exactly typifies the spirit of the Democracy, which sympathized with rebellion, and omitted nothing during the war that could embarrass the Federal and State governments.

Publicly and privately, Mr. Buckalew went through that period in our history protesting against every important war measure. His Democracy was the Democracy of James Buchanan and Jeremiah S. Black, and it has not changed. He still believes that the subjugation of the south by force was unconstitutional. He holds to the ultra State rights doctrine which made rebellion possible. His highest idea of patriotism is strict subservience to party behest. His devotion to party is so profound that he cannot be better than his party. He has occasionally shown symptoms of impulses above the Democratic grade, but these symptoms have been promptly repressed. Under most favorable circumstances he cannot be expected to favor an improvement of the policy which had become chronic with his party prior to its national downfall, and continues chronic with his party where it has local sway.

The creation of the debt of this Commonwealth was mainly the work of the Democratic party. The reduction of that debt has been the work of the Republican party. When the Republicans took the helm the debt was about forty millions. Had the war for national life not been forced upon the country by the Democratic party, the debt would have been reduced very nearly one half, so that not more than twenty millions would remain to be paid to day. The policy of paying debts is, in a public sense, peculiarly Republican. The policy of contracting debts is as peculiarly Democratic. Thus, in an era of profound peace, the national debt rose from about thirty millions in 1827 to about sixty-five millions in 1860. That is to say, under the financial policy of the administration of

James Buchanan the debt of the nation rather more than doubled. In the eyes of Mr. Buckalew Mr. Buchanan was the embodiment of Democratic statesmanship. If permitted to control State finances, he would probably take up Democratic policy where Mr. Buchanan left it. He is an imitator, not an originator. He can only work after Democratic models. The people know whether they have had enough of that sort of financial management or not. If they have not had enough of it they should vote for Mr. Buckalew. But if they have had enough of it, they will vote for Hart

And if the people favor the employment of leg. slave appropriations to further the political ambition of any man, they should by all means vote for Mr. Buckalew. If he did not bargain for the support of a faction of the Republican party in his management of the McClellan-Gray Senatorial contest, then facts and obvious indications no longer speak truth. Every sane man knows that if the testimony in that case proved anything, it proved that neither party was entitled to the seat, or that it belonged to Mr. Gray. Had Mr. Buckalew's committee remanded the whole subject to the people of the district it would have escaped the suspicion since rendered a certainty, or a bargain—one of the prospective ends of which was the support of a Republican faction for the present candidacy of its chairman.

Again, if the people of this State regard a man who used his position in the Senate of the United States to hinder the prosecution of the war for the suppression of the rebellion, a safe man for Governor, they will find such a man in Mr. Buckalew. If the colored voters in the State prefer a man who voted to prevent their becoming citizens, they will find such a man in Mr. Buckalew. If anybody wants a man whose record during the darkest hour in the history of the Republic was so utterly bad as to require hourly defence at this time—if anybody is in search of such a man, Mr. Buckalew is the very man sought.

But if the people prefer a man who has been steadily reducing the burden of State indebtedness, and all but abolished taxation of productive industry for State purposes during the last six years, they will find such a man in General Harttraft. If the people prefer a man whose record during the war is its own invulnerable defence, they will find such a man in General Harttraft. He had no accidental interviews with rebel emissaries; and when he met such persons he sent them his compliments in the shape of shot and shell. There is no question about General Harttraft's position from 1861 to 1865 nor since. If the people want a man who, while accepting place and pay under the Federal government, not only did not meanly seek to stab that government, but did openly assault its face; if the people want to honor such a man, they can do it by voting for General Harttraft. And we take no particular risk when we predict that the people of Pennsylvania will show that they prefer General Harttraft to Mr. Buckalew in October.

Republican Legislative Conference.

The Republican Conference of the Legislative District composed of the counties of Juniata and Mifflin, met at Lewis town, Pa., on Thursday, Sept. 5th, at the office of Chas. A. Marks.

Noah Hertzler, of Juniata county, was elected President, and R. M. Kinsloe, of Mifflin county, Secretary.

The Conference representing Juniata county were Noah Hertzler, Cornelius McClellan and Solomon Books; those representing Mifflin county were R. M. Kinsloe and John A. Campbell.

On motion the conference from Mifflin county were allowed to cast three votes.

John W. Muthersbaugh, of Juniata, and Alexander Reed, of Mifflin, were nominated as candidates.

On motion a ballot was taken which resulted as follows:

Muthersbaugh..... 3

Reed..... 3

There being no choice, the Conference proceeded to second ballot, with the following result:

Muthersbaugh..... 6

On motion these proceedings were ordered to be published in the Republican papers of the District.

Conference then on motion adjourned sine die.

NOAH HERTZLER, Pres't.

R. M. KINSLOE, Sec'y.

The Louisville straight-out Democratic National Convention met last week, and nominated Charles O. Conner, of New York, for the Presidency, notwithstanding he refused to be a candidate. John Quincy Adams of Massachusetts agreed to accept the nomination for the Vice Presidency, provided Mr. O'Connor would stand for the Presidency. Thus the Convention disposed of the business and adjourned sine die.

THOUGH the straight outs of the Louisville Convention have not imparted much enthusiasm into their ranks, the policy Democrats do not like the movement, and watch it closely.

JUDGE DENT of Washington, named the editor of the Capital, and was fined one hundred dollars and the cost of prosecution, by the police court.

The supposed murderer of Nathan was arrested at Washington, on the 8th inst., and taken to New York city.

Dr. SCHUPPE, whose second trial came off at Carlisle last week, was acquitted.

EGYPT and Abyssinia seem to be on the eve of a war.

Huntingdon—G. W. Johnston, D. H. Orady and John W. Mattern.

Mifflin—Gen. T. F. McCoy, J. R. Garver and H. J. Calbertson.
Juniata—James J. Patterson, Michael Hoffman and John B. Bishbach.

Huntingdon county presented the name of Dr. John McCullough.
Centre county presented the name of A. O. Turst.

Mifflin county presented the name of D. W. Woods, Esq.
Juniata county presented the name of Dr. John P. Sterrett.

Five ballots were had without result, each candidate having 3 votes.
On motion the Conference then proceeded to vote for both candidates at once, with the following result:

McCullough..... 8

Sterrett..... 8

Woods..... 4

Turst..... 4

On motion the nomination of Dr. John McCullough, of Huntingdon, and Dr. John P. Sterrett, of Juniata, was made unanimous.

On motion the proceedings were ordered to be published in the Republican papers of the District, after which the Conference adjourned sine die.

T. F. MCCOY, Pres't.

S. D. GRAY, Sec'y.

A Boy Convicted of Murder in the First Degree—A Remarkable Criminal.

PORTSMOUTH, Sept. 7.—This morning in the criminal court of Schuylkill county in the trial of Joseph Brown, a boy eighteen years of age, for the murder, in February last, in Washington township, this county, of Daniel S. Kramer, a wealthy farmer, and his aged wife, the jury brought in a verdict of murder in the first degree. The trial commenced on Tuesday of last week and has continued ten days, during which time voluminous evidence of a circumstantial character has been adduced, and was of such a straight-forward and connected nature that the jury required but little time in making up their mind, having been out of the box but fifty minutes.

During the entire trial the prisoner maintained the utmost indifference, and appeared to be totally oblivious to what was going on around him; and after the verdict had been rendered he assumed an air of braggadocio that could hardly be imagined by any who did not witness his stolid indifference. His counsel moved an arrest of judgment and for a new trial, and Judge Green granted his counsel until Wednesday next in which to show cause, and appointed Saturday next as the day for argument.

The case has elicited the attention of the entire community from the day of the commission of his most heinous crime, and the verdict is received with entire satisfaction by all. Should Brown be hung, it will be the second man hung in Schuylkill county, the first being a negro, who was hung at Orwinstown, in 1848.

An Attempt to Lynch a Murderer, and Then Set Fire to the Town.
CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—On Thursday night C. J. Dieffenbacher, shot and killed a man named Melsted, at Virginia, Cass county. Last night a mob attacked the jail in Beardstown, where Dieffenbacher was confined, with the avowed purpose of hanging him. The jail was well guarded, and the mob was repulsed, and for revenge the mob set fire to the town, and before the flames could be extinguished, an entire block of the best buildings in the place was destroyed. The excitement in the village is intense and more trouble anticipated.

Among the Icebergs.
NEW BEDFORD, Mass. Sept. 3.—A letter has been received here announcing the loss of the whaling bark Millwood, Captain Milnes, of this port, which was forced on shore by the ice at Black Lead Island, Cumberland inlet, November 13. The oil was saved. The crew was taken on board another vessel. Whale fishing in the inlet was reported as having been unprofitable during last season.

Brought to Book.
WILLIAMSPORT, Sept. 8.—The trial of the July rioters, which has occupied the Court of Quarter Sessions for a full week ended yesterday, and a verdict of conviction was returned against twenty-one of the defendants, including Berningham, Greedy, Whitton and Blake, who were charged with being the leaders. Judge Gamble will pass sentence on the 13th inst.

A Ghastly Relic of the "Mountain Meadow" Massacre.
SALT LAKE CITY, Sept. 7.—It is asserted positively by persons who claim to have seen it, that a certain person in this territory has in his possession a "lariat," or rope, used for tethering horses, made from the hair of woman slaughtered at "Mountain Meadow." An effort will be made by the citizens to get possession of it.

Painful Death.
SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—B. Drew, a native of New Hampshire, and an old resident of this State, died to-day from the effects of a cancer produced by a friend pinching his arm eighteen months ago. He had submitted to three amputations without avail.

A SAD STORY.

The Bride of a Day—An Incident of the Metis Disaster—Mistaken Identity.

A despatch from Newport, R. I., to the N. Y. Times says: "George W. Howard, of Rome, N. Y., will be remembered as the gentleman who was married at Sharon Spring, on Wednesday last, and was on his way to visit a brother in Pawtucket, R. I., when he lost his bride of a day by the late Metis disaster. The next morning what was supposed to be his wife's body was found, and it was reported in these columns that her funeral would take place at Sharon Springs. The initials 'N. A.' were the same as on his wife's ring, though it was of a different pattern, yet he did not feel positive that it was his wife. Being nearly exhausted himself, and not in a condition to think much about it, he concluded it must be her. Accordingly a coffin was procured at Stonington, and he started Saturday morning for the home of his loved one. He arrived there Saturday evening with what he supposed the remains of his wife, but, on opening the coffin at the residence of his wife's parents, they discovered at once that it was not their daughter. The scene that followed can be better imagined than described. The afflicted husband at once returned to Stonington, and forwarded the corpse by express. When he arrived he found another man searching for the body he had supposed was his wife. In the meantime, his friends in Pawtucket had heard of the lady who was picked up by the schooner A. B. Belden and brought to Newport, and had telegraphed to the undertaker for a description, which he gave, and at the same time had a photograph taken and sent also. This convinced them that the body which has been in Newport since Friday night was no other than the wife of Mr. Howard. He, in company with his brother, arrived there Monday morning, and at once identified her. The scene that followed beggars description. As the husband gazed upon the remains of his beloved he was deeply affected, as were all present. The body was taken away on the boat, via Wickford, and will be taken at once to Rome, N. Y. She was twenty-eight years of age, and bears a striking resemblance to the woman the husband had supposed was his wife. Mr. Howard states that the coat found upon her was placed there by him self to keep her warm, and that a moment after they were washed from the Metis, and all his exertions to save her were fruitless. It is a sad story, probably the most heart-rending one that can be told of the terrible disaster."

Shocking Tragedy.
COLUMBUS, O., August 30.—A shocking tragedy occurred this morning near Grove City, a village in this county. About nine years ago, a farmer named Michael Monix married a woman nearly forty years of age who owned a farm, stock and implements. During the last three years Monix was dissipated, and on account of the extreme cruelty and squandering of her property Mrs. Monix recently petitioned for a divorce, and her husband promised to leave her in quiet possession of her property. Subsequently Monix went to his wife's home and threatened to shoot her if she would not live with him. He was arrested on a peace warrant, but gave bail, and was liberated. Yesterday he proceeded to the house of F. M. Story, where his wife had taken refuge, and shot her three times with a revolver, and then placing the muzzle of the weapon in his mouth, shot himself and died immediately. Mrs. Monix is so terribly wounded that she cannot recover.

Death From a Spider's Bite.
On last Thursday night a death occurred at Bradstock's Field, the result of a remarkably trifling affair—the bite of a spider. The circumstances of this peculiar case are as follows: On the 23d of August, Robert Bulmer, a boy twelve years of age, whose parents reside at Bradstock's Fields, was bitten by a large black spider. The injury at first seemed but slight, and no fear was entertained that it would prove fatal. But on last Wednesday morning young Bulmer commenced to suffer terribly, and at the same time to sweat profusely. He continued to suffer until about nine o'clock on Thursday night, when he was relieved by death.—Pittsburg Gazette.

Well Merited Punishment or Desperadoes.
MONTGOMERY, Sept. 5.—A special dispatch to the Advertiser from Florence says three men were taken from the jail there to-day and hanged by an armed mob. Tom Clarke, the chief victim, had been leader of a gang of outlaws since the war, and has murdered twenty different men in a cruel manner, but always avoided arrest. Till now the other victims were professional traveling burglars, and had been robbing in Athens, Ala., Pulaski, Tenn., and other cities. There is no information as to who did the hanging.

Outrage Upon Senator Weakley.
CARLISLE, Sept. 5.—J. M. Weakley, Esq., State Senator, was assaulted on the street, at Carlisle, last evening, by Brady Sharpe, a prominent lawyer of the place, who knocked him down and jumped on him. Cause—an article relating to Sharpe, appearing in the paper that Mr. Weakley is interested in. Mr. Weakley is in a critical condition.

Execution at Buffalo.
BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 6.—Patrick Morrissey was hung at noon to-day for murdering his mother on the 19th of June. Morrissey died penitent.

Five Persons Poisoned by a Woman.

ST. PAUL, August 31.—Mrs. Charles Lamb has been arrested at Trimble, Pierce county, Wis., and placed in the Ellsworth jail, charged with poisoning five persons. In September, 1871, her husband died suddenly, showing symptoms of having been poisoned. Last May her son, aged ten, was taken sick in a like manner to his father, and in an hour was dead. In June, a daughter, eight years old, died a similar death. A month ago Mrs. Lamb went to Mrs. Jane Ottman's home to assist in taking care of her while sick, and mixed up a powder for her. Mrs. Ottman complained of violent pains in the stomach, and died in a few minutes. Last week Royal Garland, also a neighbor, died under the same circumstances as the above named Mrs. Lamb was cooking for him during harvest, and after drinking a cup of tea prepared by her he was taken with severe pains and died soon after. The stomach of Mr. Garland has been sent to Dr. Hay, at Hudson, to be analyzed, and it is said poison was found. The bodies of the other victims have been disinterred and the stomachs are in the hands of the doctor for analysis. Mrs. Lamb's house was searched, and strychnine and arsenic were found. Her examination takes place on September 5th.

Spiritualism is cheap in Springfield, Mass. Last Sunday a person could obtain there for the small sum of ten cents a discussion of one hour on the theological aspects of the subject and communications ad libitum from the spirit world. Not only that but the discussion contained a deal of curious information. For instance the audience was informed that the Druids believed in immortality 5,000 years before the time of Moses, and that spirits have been known to eat apples with an apparent relish. After the discussion there was much moral and hygienic instruction obtained through a medium in a trance.

Fatal Duel Between Females.
CITY OF MEXICO, Sept. 1.—Two women at the Capital in love with a sergeant in the army, and who were jealous with each other, fought a duel. One was armed with an ordinary dagger and the other with a dagger made from a horn. The duel was fought according to the rules of the code, with other women for seconds. The woman armed with the horn dagger killed her antagonist, and was, with the seconds, arrested.

Schooner Wrecked—Nine Lives Lost.
NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Information has been received in this city of the loss of the schooner Emily Gorham, with all hands, Cattetown, Prince Edward's Island, August 31. There were nine lives in all lost. There was a terrible gale blowing from the northwest on the night of the wreck. Five bodies were recovered. The vessel was owned by Mordecai & Gorham, of this city.

Terrible Accident to an Excursion train.
MANFIELD, September 5.—A collision occurred at eleven o'clock to-night near Independence, Ohio, on the Lake Erie division of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, between an excursion train returning from the State fair at Mansfield, and the regular north bound express train, resulting in the death of four persons and wounding twenty-eight others.
