RAILROAD ACCIDENT—Mr Solomon Hertzler, of Port Royal, has for some time past been engaged in hauling coal from the canal side of the river at Perryville. One day last week while on his way to the coal yard he reached the railroad at one of the three crossings in the borough of Perryville, just in time to meet the Pacific Express going east. The approaching train could not be seen. Mr. Hertzler did not hear the signals that were given. The horse was so near the track that the locomotive struck it along the shoulders, crushing it in. The concourse pitched Mr. Hertzler out of the hind end of the wagon, but he was not much hurt. The horse soon died from the injuries received. The train was promptly stopped by the conductor in charge, to ascertain the extent of the injuries done, and while Mr. Hertzler's loss was regretted, all felt thankful that the loss was no greater and that he escaped with his life.

OUTRAGEOUS CONDUCT IN LACK TOWNSHIP—A Father Shoots a Son's Dog—The Son Retaliates by Burning the Father's Stable and Attempts to Burn the House, and Sinks his Father to Shoot Him.—In Lack township there lives a man named Campbell. He has a son named William. This son lived not far from the paternal home. About four weeks ago a number of hogs owned by the parent wandered into the immediate vicinity of William's house. A dog was put on the hogs and they chased away. The father not liking the treatment his hogs received, concluded to remove the cause of any similar treatment from that same source, by shooting the dog. Accordingly he took down his rifle and pursued the dog to a cornfield where William was engaged in husking corn, and stated the object of his presence.—The son said the dog should not be shot, and proceeded to throw stones at the parent. But neither the objections of the son or the stones he threw prevented the father from leveling his gun and shooting the dog, who having done so walked home. The son did not proceed to retaliate immediately, but nursed his wrath till last Sunday a week, when he took his revolver and a box of matches and walked to his father's house. Fortunately he had gone to a neighbor's house, and William found himself the undisputed occupant of the property.—He forthwith proceeded to demolish the contents of the house. That done as far as he desired, he fired a lot of clothing in a room on the middle of the floor, and then directed his steps to the stable, to which he also applied the match, and then left for a neighbor's house, where he informed them what he had done. There being no one at home but a young woman, she resolutely declared her intention of going and putting out the fire, if possible, but William threatened to shoot her if she attempted to go on such an errand. He soon took his departure, when the girl ran over to the burning buildings. The pile of clothing in the room was all consumed, but the fire had made but little progress on the floor and she with little difficulty put it out. The stable was in a perfect sheet of flames when she reached the place. A dozen of men could not have saved it. William searched among the neighbors a while to find his father to shoot him, but fortunately did not find him. That night he fled the valley. It is earnestly hoped that he will be arrested and the severest penalties of the law visited on him for his outrageous and barbarous conduct.

PERY COUNTY. The Pery county Freeman of last week localizes as follows: On last Saturday evening, the store of Mr Samuel Sheller, in Duncannon, narrowly escaped from being burned, by the accidental dropping of a cigar stump in a spit box filled with sawdust. The zinc on which the spit-box was placed alone prevented a general destruction of the building and its contents. Willis, son of Wm Shall, three miles west of Ickesburg, fell down with a stumbling horse across the wagon tongue, when the saddle horse tramped his leg and broke it. The boy is in charge of the team; the accident occurred on the 3d inst. John Dill was drowned near the mouth of the Juniata river on Saturday night. While crossing from Duncan's Island to the Pery side, he fell out of his skiff. Wolves are reported to have been lately seen on Dick's Hill, in Centre township.

BEFORD COUNTY. The Bedford Inquirer of the 15th inst writes the following account: On last Saturday evening, in South Woodbury township, Samuel Koehendaffer's only son, a boy about 4 years of age, was kicked on the head by a horse belonging to his father, and died the following morning from the effects of the injuries received. The boy was trying to drive the horse toward the barn when the accident occurred. A serious accident occurred at the rolling-mill in Cumberland on last Thursday, the 7th inst. Water was thrown upon a truck filled with hot cinder, which caused a terrific explosion, scattering the cinder in every direction, shaking the entire building and badly bruising and burning a pugler named Grier and his helper named Stringback. Their injuries are very severe, but it is thought they will both recover.
