THE ANDERSON VERDICT.—The clouds surrounding the causes leading to the suicide of Mr. Thomas F. Anderson, at Franklin, have been effectually dispelled by the investigation and verdict of the coroner's jury.

NEWS from the Modoc war is unimportant. About six hundred troops are in the field at the present time.

THE trouble in the English government is about religious matters. Mr. Gladstone desired to merge a certain Protestant College in a university which should not be under the auspices of any particular Church or creed.

A DESPATCH from London, under date of March 19, says: A serious riot between Englishmen and Irishmen occurred at Wolverhampton, a town of Staffordshire, twelve miles from Birmingham, yesterday.

Advices from Arizona state that a company of the Second Infantry, under the command of Lieutenant Rice, had a fight with the Apaches, killed six and captured four squaws.

The Result in Juniata County—The Advocacy of the Repeal of the Local Option Law.

The people of Juniata county have declared against license by nearly eight hundred majority. Now that the question has been acted on, and decided in favor of no license, it becomes the duty of the community to stand by its humane and righteous decision.

Retains from different parts of the Commonwealth indicate that the majority vote of the State is in favor of license; therefore, certain liquor men have already become earnest advocates of the repeal of the Local Option law by the Legislature.

When the car reached Thirtieth street Foster came inside and remarking that he had paid his fare and was entitled to a seat, sat down close beside Miss Duval.

Very unexpectedly the Caldwell investigation case yesterday came to an abrupt conclusion by the resignation of the honorable gentleman from Kansas.

TELEGRAPHING ON FARMING.—I am twenty years old, and am learning telegraphing. My father offers to give me a hundred acres of good land, sixty acres improved, and a team, if I will go to farming. What would you advise me to do?

THE ANDERSON VERDICT.—The clouds surrounding the causes leading to the suicide of Mr. Thomas F. Anderson, at Franklin, have been effectually dispelled by the investigation and verdict of the coroner's jury.

AT FRANKLIN on Wednesday the 19 after five days' deliberation the coroner's jury in the Anderson suicide case has rendered the following verdict:— "That Thomas F. Anderson, from a short time before, and at the time of his death on the 14th day of March, 1873, was of insane mind, and being so, in the yard, near his residence, between the hours of nine and ten in the forenoon of that day, having a pistol in his hand, of his own will, did discharge the contents thereof into the right side of his head; and the jurors say, from the causes manner and from aforesaid, Thomas F. Anderson came to his death, and not otherwise."

Nobody who uses tobacco can belong to the colony at Skildy, Kansas.

EXECUTION OF FOSTER.

A despatch from New York, under date of the 21st says: This morning witnessed the finale of the dark drama which began nearly two years ago with the killing of Avery D. Putnam, in a Broadway car, by Wm. Foster. Everything possible had been done to avert this disgrace from falling on his innocent wife and family; but the Executive saw fit to withhold his clemency, and the officers of the law were compelled to execute their sad duty.

THE STORY OF THE CRIME.

On the morning of Friday, April 29, 1871, New York learned that one of her citizens, Avery D. Putnam by name, had been cruelly murdered the previous evening while attempting to protect two ladies from the insults of a drunken ruffian. Mr. Putnam, before he died, made an ante-mortem statement, in which he narrated the circumstances of the assault and recognized William Foster as the person who committed the cowardly attack upon him.

When the car reached Thirtieth street Foster came inside and remarking that he had paid his fare and was entitled to a seat, sat down close beside Miss Duval. He then started persistently at Miss Duval, and as she paid no attention to his grimaces, he pushed open the front door and looked directly at her.

TELEGRAPHING ON FARMING.—I am twenty years old, and am learning telegraphing. My father offers to give me a hundred acres of good land, sixty acres improved, and a team, if I will go to farming. What would you advise me to do?

A shark eleven feet in length, caught off the Scotch coast, was lately presented to the Dundee Museum. Upon being opened for the purpose of stuffing, the following miscellaneous contents were found in his capacious maw: 1. A whole ling fish; 2. a man's bonnet; 3. parts of cod and dog fish; 4. a soda water bottle corked and sealed with red wax, and containing a note in a lady's hand, beginning "On board the Beautiful Star, 1st September, 1872. We have crossed the line, and all's well. Last night the captain's lady had a pretty little boy. Heaven bless the little stranger!"

A Little Rock girl died a few days ago of what was supposed to be cerebro-spinal meningitis. The Gazette says: "Dr. Quider, doubting the cause of her death, obtained permission to make a post mortem examination. The examination disclosed the fact that the little girl's stomach was loaded with boiled cabbage, which had worked itself into one hard mass, distending the stomach, and causing death, the victim dying in convulsions. The doctor says that many of the deaths credited to this cerebro-spinal disease have nothing to do with it, and are entirely distinct from it."

ILLINOIS has 102 counties and a railroad in every county but seven; which fact is quoted as evidence of her prosperity. But if, as the Illinois farmers say, "the railroads are skinning them alive," then of course the more there are of these corporate savages the worse for Illinois. Heavy freight rates is the trouble.—Ex.

It is reported that a quarrel has broken out in the camp of the Modoc Indians, between "Captain Jack" and his subordinate.

How Not to Get Your Money.

An exchange says: Going to law to recover a debt, or a character, or any thing else, for that matter, is not a very paying occupation—except for the lawyers. To illustrate: In New York lately a share in the Glenham Hotel was sold to a Mr. Peters for $8,415 04. A judgment creditor of the seller, whose judgment amounted to $2,954, attached the proceeds. Did he make the debt? Not much. Why? Thus it was: A receiver was appointed, who held the fund about three months, and out of it, "by order of the court," he made sundry disbursements; he paid $1,900; to his "counsel," $1,900; and to his "attorney," $1,485; for the "counsel" for Peters, who ought the share, $950; and to Peters' attorney, $235; to another individual, who figures as an "attorney," $925 more; and yet to another, who figures as "superintendent," $500; and finally he paid the Collector of Internal Revenue, $816. All these sums disbursed aggregated $7,984, so that when the disbursing process was done, there remained $431 04 for the creditor, who had originally attached a fund nearly twenty times this amount, provided he could overthrow a claim that another party put in for "wages" somewhat in excess of this sum.

Throughout the interior of Africa, and indeed in some parts of Asia, a woman is prized for fatness. Beauty is associated with excessive obesity; and such being the public sentiment, mothers seasonably commence a system of dietetic treatment that makes their daughters irresistible. Colonel Keating's travels give an account of the process of fattening a young woman for a Tunis market. As soon as betrothed, she is cooped up in a small room, with shackles on her ankles. If her proprietor has lost a wife by death or divorced one, their anklets are set forward for the new matrimonial candidate.

A Sacramento lawyer remarked to the court: "It is my candid opinion Judge, you are an old fool." The Judge allowed his mildly beaming eye to fall upon the lawyer a brief moment, then in a voice husky said, "It is my candid opinion that you are fined $100."

Sir Henry Holland speaks of a nobleman who, when remonstrated with by his family for employing an illiterate physician, replied that "he thought a man who was so profoundly ignorant of every thing else must certainly know a great deal about medicine."

A singular incident occurred in Bangor school the other day. A little girl purchased a bottle of ether for her mother, and took it with her to the seminary.

A Bangor bridegroom refused to go up to the altar because the bride had adopted the new weakness of parting her hair on one side. A sharp war of words followed, which resulted in a declaration on the part of the angry youth that he had taken a firm stand, and that the hair must be redressed or he would never look upon it again.

The most extraordinary frog story that we have seen for a long time comes from Colorado. The Greeley Tribune tells us that: "Mr. Graham recently found a petrified frog in excavating his well. Its features were wonderfully well preserved, and the owner had intended to present it to the Greeley Geological Cabinet, but one day the boys shattered it with a hatchet, and to their utter surprise, an old Aztec coin dropped out. The date cannot be deciphered, but the figure of a head is plainly visible."

SHORT ITEMS.

One Charles Clarkson, of Hays City, killed 3,000 buffaloes in the last four months.

The people of a Kansas town have given a ball to raise money to pay their minister.

A lad in Denver, Massachusetts, while "making believe" to hang himself, accomplished the feat in reality.

A new horse disease has appeared in Portland, Maine. It affects the legs, making them so weak that it is with difficulty the animal can stand.

An elegant white hearse, suitable mourning for children under fifteen years of age, is advertised in Omaha at $5 a trip.

Death comes sometimes in curious shapes. A youth in Milford, Mass., was killed by a barrel of shoe heels which fell upon him.

Vermont papers are boasting of eight old farmers in Franklin county, who live within two miles of each other, and who have had twenty-five wives among them.

"Bill," said Bob, "Why is that tree called a weeping willow?" "Cause one of the sneaky, plaguy things grew near our school house, and supplied our master with switches."

Amos Halleck and two children, living on the prairie, near Pomeroy Station, Iowa, were burned to death on Friday night, by the hay roof of their house taking fire and falling on them while asleep.

The aged but astute Illinois farmer keeps no barometer, nor does he put his trust in the groundhog, but he knows when spring approaches, by seeing his sons who have arrived at manhood, prepare to leave home, after a winter of "sponging" on the old man.

A Sacramento lawyer remarked to the court: "It is my candid opinion Judge, you are an old fool." The Judge allowed his mildly beaming eye to fall upon the lawyer a brief moment, then in a voice husky said, "It is my candid opinion that you are fined $100."

Sir Henry Holland speaks of a nobleman who, when remonstrated with by his family for employing an illiterate physician, replied that "he thought a man who was so profoundly ignorant of every thing else must certainly know a great deal about medicine."

On Wednesday a hired man at the Alma House, Bucks county, named John Carr, was killed by falling off a horse and rolling between the horse and wagon. He became entangled in the harness in some way and was dragged a considerable distance.

Near Oakley, one mile north of the corporation line of Cincinnati, on Monday William Drake, a farmer sixty four years old, went out to burn brush. The grass, leaves, fences and barn caught fire. William Drake was found dead in the field one hundred yards from the stable. He had been suffocated, as his clothes were not burned.

The telegraph informs us that a Mrs. Spicer, in a Western city, very nearly lost the right of a dower in her deceased husband's estate—amounting to $40,000—for lack of a marriage certificate.
