We have discharged our duty as a public journalist, fairly and hide from the public eve the corrupt doings of public men, is to become a party to the building up of a system of cor ruption that must sooner or later destroy the Republic. We believe it to be the essence of fogvism and public wrong faced men in their bribery of Legishe will not attempt to pollute.

To encourage such corruption is to destroy the equality of citizens, for it puts that which should be places of bonor and trust, in the market as things of merchandise, to be knocked off to the highest bidder. Once the laboring people of this country recognize such a policy, it will not be long before the equality that we all love to talk about will have passed away like the baseless fabric of a dream.

Bribery and corruption are the only enemies that the institutions of this country have, that endanger their continuance. A revolution has already set in against bribery, fraud and corruption, deadly poisons to free institutions.

There is not a respectable paper in what has published the current news past year, as minutely as the SENTINEL until the 1st of January, 1877. has. The few exceptions are confined to those who have been engaged in such work themselves, or are gagged by mercenary hopes of reward from men who are in the mire. It is a source of regret that our journalistic Brother Allison be longs to the exceptions, and has become, if not directly, indirectly an apologist of the policy that excited the whole country during the past winter, and awakened the deepest disgust. Mr. Allison is stubborn. Like the defunct Stuart family, he clings to old usages. In last week's point, declaring.
