THE MEXICAN TROUBLE.

Certain newspapers express their opinion on the capture of the marauders that invaded Texas from Mexico, as an outrage on the international rights of Mexico. Their articles on the subject, impress the reader with the fact that they have forgotten to write of the rights of citizens of the United States. For weeks and months bands of Mexicans and Indians have crossed into Texas and committed theft of property, and doing violence to the persons of our people. The Mexican government knew of these depredations. It is powerless, or it does not care to prevent them. It might be of some interest to know just which of these two reasons is the cause of its failure to act in the matter; but aside from it as a matter of interesting information it is of little consequence whether they do or do not connive at the work, or whether they can or cannot prevent the depredations. What is desired, nay, demanded, is that their robbery be stopped. We have stood on ceremony a good while. Gen. McKenzie forgot his ceremony; he thought of the indignity to his country, and the violation of international law, and thus inspired, he chased the first band of Mexican thieves he found on our soil beyond the border into Mexico until he overtook, fought, whipped and captured the greater portion of them. He then returned to American soil, and thus we are told McKenzie violated international law. We are told he had no right to go into Mexico. Right or not, he did go, and the popular verdict is that under the circumstances he did no more than he should have done. It is a practical way of solving the Mexican border question—a question that politicians and quick statesmen could work at through commissions for a dozen years to come, at an expense of many millions of dollars, and then be about as near a solution as when they commenced. The public mind does not believe that we must be bound hand and foot by international law, when our national neighbor violates it every week and invades our soil, robs our citizens and drives them as beggars from their homes. The public do not believe that they should remain quiet under such circumstances. They do not see the force of the argument that troops that are sent to guard the border should not pursue across the national line who have dared to invade our soil to rob and plunder and then return to Mexico. Their verdict is, up and at the vagabonds, catch them now that you have the chance, and don't wait for a formal declaration of war against Mexico before you begin. Comprehending the international point at issue they would leave diplomats to split hairs over it, while they, taking the common sense way of it, would soon end it, as McKenzie. McKenzie knew how to open the Gordian knot.

One of the editors of the Harrisburg Telegraph has a vein of humor large enough, perhaps, if developed, to produce a second "Mark Twain." The evidence of his wit is clearly traceable in his paragraphs and editorials.

E. D. Hughes, a Philadelphian, committed suicide by cutting his throat in the woods near Owingsburg, Pa., Thursday the 29th ult. The verdict of the coroner's jury was temporary insanity.

JUDGE FANCHER, of New York, on the 30th ult. discharged George Francis Train from custody. Train, it is said, will sue the city for false imprisonment, claiming $100,000 damages.

McENERY has issued an address to the people of Louisiana advising them to abide by the rule of the Kellogg government, and at the next meeting of Congress submit their case to that body.

BOGUS CHARLEY, Shacknasty Jim, Hooker Jim and Steamboat Frank, once members of Captain Jack's band, are now helping to trail their Captain, with the object of capturing or killing him.

DESPATCHES say that one of the Bender assassins has been arrested in West Liberty, Iowa. The other members of the family are believed to be in Texas.

A man named Dudley has been robbing the mail in Boston occasionally until his stealings amounted to $50,000. He has been arrested.

The Beecher scandal is about to come to a focus if reports are true. An investigation is about to take place.

KENTUCKIANS claim Captain Jack as a native of that State.

Boston had a million dollar fire on Decoration Day.

DECORATION DAY.

Decoration day was faithfully observed among those who cherished the Northern form of civilization. In this county appropriate ceremonies were conducted at Perryville.

Parties high in governmental position have proposed that hereafter an effort should be made to have the Southern people and the Northern people decorate the graves of their fallen braves on one and the same day, so that all traces of the past struggle should be obliterated. The motive that prompts such a proposal may be good. It is not here questioned. Be it ever so worthy, the thought of accepting it cannot be entertained for a moment.

The bravery of the Southern people cannot be questioned; their devotion to the defect peculiar institution is not doubted, and an earnest longing for its restoration is known to abide in their hearts. If they wish to cherish that idol in their hearts, it would be a violation of christian virtue and liberality to say that they should not.

So long as they do not commit the overt act for its restoration, let them, if they choose, pray for it; let them speak and write for it. Those rights of American citizenship they should enjoy. They do enjoy them now, and it is also right that they should decorate the graves of their dead, who fell in defence of the mourned "lost cause," when they please, and in their own way. More than that. We would have them erect their monuments of the most enduring material, and have it inscribed thereon that they died in defence of human slavery; that they died in battle for the perpetuity of a species of governmental and social despotism. Posterity must not be hoodwinked as to the relative position of the Southern and Northern people; there must not be such a blending and obliteration of facts that our children will not know what the fight was about. It must be ever known and remembered that Northern people struggled for individual human freedom, and that the Southern people took up the sword for individual human bondage, cast rule, despotism and slavery. We have won the fight as they made it; we will keep it as we finished it. We will meet them as friends, if they wish so to meet and greet us, and strictly to observe the amenities of life; but their political and governmental gods shall not be our gods. We will not bow with them at their shrines, for by so doing "the followers of the dead, dumb and dead" cannot be distinguished from the followers of the true and living God.

The following is a list of the names of members of the Constitutional Convention, who voted for and against the increase of their salary from one thousand dollars—the sum that each member knew he was to receive—to two thousand five hundred dollars, also the names of the absentees and those who did not vote.

A NEW YORK CORRESPONDENT OF FORNEY'S PRESS WRITES UNDER DATE OF THE 30TH.

The congregation of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, at Dean street and Schenectady avenue, Brooklyn, held their May festival in the church last evening.

About midnight, while the congregation was singing a psalm, one of the sisters felt herself aggrieved at some remark of one of the brethren. A male friend of the woman sought out the aggressor, and from words they came to blows, and in a short time, a general fight ensued. Chairs and tables were overturned, and soon the floor was covered with a rolling and struggling mass of men and women, intermingled with capsized ice cream cakes, and jellies of all kinds.

The police were called, but before they succeeded in separating the combatants two of the force were knocked down. Nearly all the brethren and sisters were then marched to the station-house.

The postal cards cost the government $1 36 per thousand.

Powder Mill Explosion.

ONE MAN KILLED AND THREE MORTALLY WOUNDED, HORSES KILLED AND BUILDINGS BLOWN TO ATOMS.

The Scranton Republican says: "Yesterday morning, twenty five minutes to nine o'clock, a terrific explosion occurred at the Wopwopen Powder Mills, situated six miles below Shickshiny, and within a short distance of the village of Wopwopen. The explosion occurred in the evening mill, but from what cause is not known. The workmen in this building had gone out but a few minutes previous to the explosion. The building was blown to atoms, and the powder scattered in all directions, setting fire to the dry and chip house, which also exploded with a terrific force.

Michael Noss, a workman in the dry house, was instantly killed; Philip Tryfogle and George Totten, teamsters, on the outside of the building, are terribly burned and it is thought cannot possibly survive; Thomas Shultz, a laborer on a railroad, a short distance from the building, was almost instantly killed, their eyes were blown out and the animals almost burned to a crisp. Two others were badly burned, but it is thought they will recover.

The wagon to which they were attached was completely demolished. Buildings half a mile distant from the explosion were raised from their foundations and window lights blown out. Kegs of powder, timber, etc., were blown to a distance of half a mile. Fences, trees and shrubbery were demolished for quite a distance around. The report of the explosion was heard for miles. These works are owned by the Dupont powder company.

Liability for Selling Liquor.

ALBANY, May 29th.—The following bill was passed by the Legislature today: Every husband, wife, child, parent, guardian, employer or other person, who shall be injured in person, property or means of support by any intoxicated person, or in consequence of intoxication habitual or otherwise, of any person, shall have a right of action in his or her name, against any person or persons who shall by selling or giving away intoxicating liquors cause the intoxication in whole or in part, of such person or persons, and any person or persons owning or renting or permitting the occupation of any building or premises, and having knowledge that intoxicating liquors are to be sold therein, shall be liable severally or jointly with the person or persons selling or giving away intoxicating liquors as aforesaid, for all damages sustained and for exemplary damages; and all damages recovered by a minor under this act shall be paid either to such minor or to his or her parent, guardian or next friend as the court shall direct; and the unlawful sale or giving away of intoxicating liquors shall work a forfeiture of all right of the lessee or tenant under any lease or contract of rent upon the premises.

Tornado in Kansas.

A despatch from Lawrence, Kansas, under date of the 28th of May says: Information has just been received here of a terrible hurricane which passed through a portion of Neosho county, in this State, last Thursday afternoon. In Lincoln township some twenty four houses were completely destroyed. With but one exception these houses were occupied when the furious winds struck them and as they crumbled down the falling and flying timbers and logs crushed the unfortunate inmates.

In two instances babies were fairly torn from the grasp of their mothers and dashed to the ground many yards away.

The house of J. H. Dumbauld, master of the Kansas State Grange, was lifted from its foundation and blown to atoms. His father was one of the persons killed.

Mr. Dumbauld's house was blown to pieces, and one of his children killed.

Besides the killed, ten persons were more or less injured. Horses, cattle and hogs also perished.

It is impossible to ascertain at this time the extent of the damage.

Earthquake at San Salvador.

Special correspondence from San Salvador gives the details of an earthquake which occurred in that district on March 19th. The shocks were distinctly felt at the city of Guatemala, almost 100 miles distant.

No unusual atmospheric phenomena were observed previous to the earthquake. It is stated that on the 19th in Lake Ilopango, southwest of San Salvador, there rose up a column of hot vapors and the cone of a small island, which afterwards disappeared.

Shocks were felt at Santa Tecla, where some damage was done to walls, &c. Shocks were also felt at La Libertad, eighteen miles off. Nearly all damage done by the earthquake appears to have been confined to San Salvador.

President Gonzalez estimates the actual loss of life at seventeen persons, but hundreds have been wounded and five hundred buildings were destroyed, representing the value of two million five hundred thousand dollars.

On the night of the 27th ult. Patrick Mahoney and John Sweeney had a dispute about paying for drinks, with Isaac Bayard, a negro, in the latter's bar room in Boston, when Bayard decided the question by shooting both of his customers, breaking Mahoney's thigh bone and Sweeney's arm. Bayard was arrested, and the wounded men taken to the hospital.

THE MODOC WAR.

Captain Jack's Band Surprised and Captured.

CAMP ON THE BANKS OF WILLOW CREEK, 21 miles north of Boyle's Camp, Tule Lake Peninsula, May 29—7 P. M.—The cavalry and artillery commands and Warm Spring Indians, under Colonel Green, left Boyle's Camp at two A. M. today, and rode hot haste to Clear Lake where Gen. Davis issued special orders for the scouts—Bogus Charley, Steamboat Frank, Shacknasty Jim and Hooker Jim—who accompanied the expedition, to lead the way to Captain Jack's Willow Creek retreat.

They led the troops to a point near Jack's retreat, within a mile of the stronghold. Captain Hasbrouck, passed up the north side of the creek with his squadron, and Captain Jackson's squadron went over the creek along the south side. Captain Hasbrouck, having a mile farther to travel than Jackson, did not arrive at the stronghold in time to accomplish the desired connection.

Captain Jack was nevertheless surprised at 2 P. M. Jackson's men came across two pickets on a bluff near the creek, and ran them through the juniper to Jack's retreat. The flying Modocs cried out "Run quick! Run quick! Soldiers are coming!" Captain Jackson deployed his skirmishers along the face of the bluff, expecting to receive a heavy fire. His men ran to the front like deer under the lead of their officers.

Suddenly the Modocs conversant with English cried out, "Surrender, surrender! We no fight. We want to talk peace; we like peace talk." Boston Charley, the murderer of Dr. Thomas, came in full view and was immediately covered by a dozen rifles. Charley offered to surrender, and was allowed to come into camp, as he feared the Warm Spring scouts. He threw down his rifle and extended his hand in token of friendship. The proffered member was cordially grasped by the scouts.

Charley was then passed to the rear under guard, and was taken to the other Modoc captives, and by them interviewed. He said several of Jack's best warriors wanted to leave him and come to our camp, and volunteered to put up the job.

Had Hasbrouck formed the desired connection in time the entire band would have been killed or captured; but it was impossible for his command to accomplish the task. His troops did all that could be done by any men. They rode over fragments of lava, and one mile further than the distance ridden by Captain Jackson's command.

The surprise resulted in the surrender of Boston Charley, Princess Mary, sister of Captain Jack, Black Jim's woman and five other female Modocs, ranging from nine to ninety years of age, and seven ponies and mules. The Modocs actually slipped from the grasp of the troops. There was no help for this result.

LANGELL'S VALLEY, May 30—5 A. M.

At 6 A. M. yesterday the troops left Willow creek camp for a short and decisive scout, and met with admirable success. The Warm Springs tracked the Modocs across the creek, in a northerly direction, then due north, and finally to a rocky cliff bounding Langell's Valley on the east. This scout from the outset was a most exciting campaign.

The freshness of the tracks and apparent proximity to the Modocs maintained continual excitement. The troops were led over the ridge and hills, along the canons and valleys and over small streams of water. The route was traveled with difficulty by the best trained horses, and miles upon miles of lava in fragmentary form were crossed.

The scouts lost the trail, and we were detained two hours. This halt was broken by a sudden yell from the Warm Spring Indians and cheers from the soldiers, and the command "Forward!" was given by Col. Green. The scouts were called out to the right and left of the line to cover the trail.

Suddenly four rifle shots were fired from the rocks, and the bullets whizzed over our heads. A line of skirmishers was deployed along the crest of the bluff which startled the Modocs from their lair.

Then came troop K, of the First Cavalry, Major Cresson commanding and Lieutenant Bacon in charge of the skirmishers. Troop K belonged to Captain Jackson's squadron. Hasbrouck's squadron held another equally important position, and was as usual on time.

Along the crest of the bluff and down the steep trail on its side charged the entire force of two hundred and thirty men.

About this time Scarface Charley and two or three other Modocs rushed down the rocks and surrendered. Five Modocs came in at once. Hostilities ceased, and Dr. Cabanen, of Yreka, contract surgeon who has long been acquainted with the Modocs, went up along the rocks and made peace negotiations.

All the Indians, including Captain Jack, agreed to come in. Cabanen slept with them last night. A few moments since Scar Face Charley, Old Schonchin and ten warriors surrendered. Captain Jack and three warriors decamped during the night.

The last band netted 34 men, women and children, 13 being able-bodied warriors; 15 rifles of various patterns, 113 cartridges and several lean and hungry ponies.

APPLEGATE'S HOUSE, CLEAR LAKE, CAL., June 1—3 30 P. M.—A series of prolonged yells and cheers around this camp from a pleasant siesta a half hour after the departure of my last courier. Generals Davis and Wheaton and other officers and all the men rushed from house and tents to find the cause of the uproar and at once the whole camp was in commotion. Down the level plain north of the house was a grand cavalcade. Mounted horsemen rushed forward at once at a furious rate, and soon neared the groups of spectators about the premises "Captain Jack Captured!" Shouted a sturdy sergeant.

Captain Jack is about 40 years old, five feet eight inches high, and completely built. He has a large and well formed face, full of individuality. Although dressed in old clothes, he looks every inch a chief.

He does not speak to any one. The Modocs are grouped in a field near the house, and surrounded by a guard—Spectators peer into Jack's face with eager interest, but he heeds them not. He is still as a statue.

SHORT ITEMS.

The interior of California is rejoicing in new hay.

Fulton county, Ill., has paid $390 for wolf scalps in the last five weeks.

The price of a room in Vienna, just now, is twelve dollars per day, board extra.

Lewiston, Me., is to have ice-water tanks at the corners of the principal streets during the hot season.

Glass lined water pipes are supplanting lead to a considerable extent in and around New York.

Sandwich (Ill.) has put the price of liquor license at $500, and only one will be taken.

California is alarmed at the announcement that 18,000 Chinese emigrants are coming to settle there this year.

Pennala balloonist, Miss Nellie Thurston, is to ascend from several interior Massachusetts towns, during the summer.

Governor Osborn, of Kansas, has added $2,000 to the reward for the capture of the Bender family, or $500 for any one of them.

Writers of indecent matter on postal cards are subject to a fine of not less than $100, nor more than $500 for each offence.

Three nice Indians, the Kickapoos, who have just been so thoroughly punished by Colonel McKenzie, were originally inhabitants of Illinois.

A Delaware peach grower has contracted with a canning company for all his peaches from a large orchard for ten years, at fifty cents a basket.

Many farmers in Butler county (Kan.) are planting peanuts this season. Some for their own use alone, others expect a large profit therefrom.

The Grasshopper is as great a terror in Texas as is the Modoc in the Lava Beds. He eats the corn crop close to the ground, and in his voracious ravages does not even let fences stand.

A Sandwich Islander recently dived to a depth of forty-eight feet, and made a rope fast to an anchor. He then became incoherent, floated to the surface, and was picked up nearly drowned.

Horses are so plentiful in Australia that they are sold at the pound at prices ranging from sixpence to a shilling, and local papers think they would fetch more if put up in pound cans for the Paris market.

George Kimball, of No. 10 Stratford, N. H., was found dead, kneeling by the side of his bed, on the 10th ult., having evidently breathed his last while engaged in prayer. He was 81 years old.

A piece of glass an inch long was taken from the head of a Rochester man recently, in whose skull it had been imbedded for twenty years. He had complained occasionally of a pain in his head.

Since the existence of our government the office of Chief Justice has been filled by but seven persons, as follows: John Jay, John Rutledge, William Cushing, Oliver Ellsworth, John Marshall, Roger B. Taney, and Solomon P. Chase.

"Indurated Tar," a substance which it is said does not crack, skrink nor blister, and on that account would be well adapted for coating iron vessels, is now being tested for that purpose in a British government dockyard.

A man in Athens, Ga., recently escorted his wife to the cars on her way to clothe with a single gentleman of her acquaintance, purchased her ticket, and saw her luggage properly checked to its destination.

Multitudinous matrimonial engagement in the senior class at Ulica are rendering prudent parents and guardians doubtful about the advantages of admitting students of both sexes into the same college.

The grave of General Greene, famous in the Revolution, is unknown. His body was buried in an old cemetery on south Broad street, Savannah, on June 20, 1786, but no record being made, the remains could not be found.

The Supreme Court of Missouri has decided a case involving the right of women to vote under the Fifteenth Amendment, holding that it does not confer such right—that the Amendment was only designed to confer the elective franchise upon colored men.

Claims to the amount of $7000 were presented against a Milwaukee estate. Receipts were presented for the entire amount with the exception of $35. So much for the business habits of the dead man who thus kept his heirs from being defrauded.

On placing a sea shell to the ear a sound is heard within resembling the noise of the distant ocean. This is caused by the hollow form of the shell, and its polished surface, enabling it to receive and return the beating of all sounds that chance to be trembling in the air.

A disastrous rice famine prevails in the island of Java, and the poorer classes are dying in great numbers from starvation. Some cases have occurred in which women have offered their children for sale to Europeans, so that, if they died, their little ones might be preserved from starvation.

The bank at Genevieve, Mo., was robbed on Tuesday the 27th ult. of $3500 by two men, who entered the bank overpowered the cashier, and forced him to open the safe, and afterwards accompanied them to the outskirts of the town. A party of armed men have gone in pursuit of the robbers.

Covington, Ky., is wondering at the queer antics of an old couple in its street. Every day a venerable dame appears with a hammer and nails and securely fastens up the gates in her locality. In her wake follows her aged consort with a crowbar, who patiently undoes the work of his predecessor, keeping about three gates behind her.

On the night of the 28th ult. the residence of Colonel Potter, in Linden, N. J., was burned, the family barely escaping with their lives. Shortly after a fuse was discovered burning, leading to a hay rick in the barn, which was stamped out. Investigation discovered a can of 15 pounds of gunpowder under the barn, with which the fuse connected.

A prominent Baltimore lawyer writes that when a man or woman poisons a human being without detection, one successful crime of this sort begets such a sense of power and of ability to remove at will every human obstacle, "that, in nearly every case, the mind becomes warped and the poisoner is ready with the deadly draught to avenge the most trifling disrespect or wrong."

"Mr. Speaker," exclaimed a member of the Arkansas Legislature, "my colleague taunts me with a desire for fame. I scorn the imputation, sir. Fame, sir! What is fame? It is a shaved pig with a greased tail, which slips through the hands of thousands, and then is accidentally caught by some fellow that happens to hold on to it. I let this greased tailed quadruped go by me without an effort to clutch it, sir."

I know a woman who lives in a country village. With a heart and brain alive to better things, she stays there and day after day, year after year, takes care of an idiot brother, and for her reward has only vacant smiles and unmeaning gibberish. It is such a half life, you say; it is vegetating; you could not live so. Well, perhaps so. But I imagine that it is a sort of vegetation that will bloom out grandly in the sunshine of a second life.—Exchange.

A Washington special says: There is sufficient authority for stating positively that the government will sustain Colonel Mackenzie's pursuit and punishment of the Kickapoos upon Mexican territory, and there is no longer reason to doubt that the recent visit of the Secretary of War to Texas had for its main object the arrangements and authorization of this plan for putting a stop to Indian depredations along the Mexican frontiers.

An Iowa clergyman was just unreasonable enough to want his salary, and when the church failed utterly to pay him any considerable portion of it, he sued and recovered judgment. The matter was recently made the subject of investigation by a council of inquiry, and that tribunal arrived at four solemn findings, viz:—"That the church did wrong in failing to pay its pastor his salary; that the pastor did wrong in suing the church; that the church should apologize to the pastor, and that the pastor should apologize to the church." Jack Bunsby would have found it hard to beat that.

The Palaski Citizen tells this little tale, which reflects great credit upon the ingenuity of somebody:—"Charles T. Robinson, of Giles county, killed a child on snake which measured seven feet in length. He found it in the crack of the fence, half of its body being on either side. On examination it developed that the snake had swallowed a rabbit before it attempted to crawl through the crack, and that after its body was half through it caught and swallowed another rabbit, thus having a rabbit on each side of the fence. The crack was so small that the rabbits could not get through, and the consequence was that the snake was hatched. It was killed in this situation."
