NOTICE. The following scale of prices for announcements of candidates in the SENATE, for office at the approaching election...

TOWN AND COUNTRY. Oats is filling. Fine corn weather. Politics is a brewing.

A case or two of cholera is reported from Altoona. The building of the Presbyterian parsonage is progressing finely.

Patronize your home paper in preference to those of distant places. Jealousy and envy are the parents of many bad thoughts, feelings and deeds.

There are specimens of iron ore in almost every store and public house in the county. The monotonous green of early summer is broken; different colors now decorate the landscape.

The people of Path Valley, Franklin county, believe that anthracite coal has been found along Dry Run. The largest and best assorted stock of goods in the Juniata Valley at the store of the Stambaugh brothers.

A common question heard on the street is, "How have the geologist and engineer of the Reading Railroad reported?" and the common echo is, "How?"

The United Brethren will hold a camp meeting one and a half miles from Huntsgton, on the line of the Broad Top Railroad, commencing August 14th next.

"Conglomerate rock," the basis of coal basins, may be seen in the "gaps" of the Shade mountain. The first geologist that visits the village should be taken up into the mountain.

WANTED—An apprentice at this office to learn the printing business. An applicant from town preferred.

PROPOSALS will be received at the Commissioners' office for the erection of a new Court House. See advertisement in another column.

CLEAN UP, and be careful in diet—Cholera is coursing along the great thoroughfares of travel, and may pop in on us when we least expect it.

Thus far seven liquor dealers of this city have been placed under bail to answer the charge of dealing in the ardent contrary to law.—Altoona Tribune.

MISS ANNIE WISE, of this place, will instruct twice a week in instrumental music in the Juniata County Normal School, at Thompston, this county.

A Greenwood township boy and a Mifflin blood had a "stand up fist fight" on show day. Greeny came out ahead, and the blood adjourned to sober up.

A YOUTH, aged twelve years, named Howard Kane, a scholar at Cassville Soldiers' Orphan School, was drowned in the creek at the above place on the 5th inst.

A RESIDENT of Julian Furnace, Centre county, hanged himself in his stable on the morning of the 9th inst. He was a well-to-do farmer, and leaves a family to mourn his death.

THREE hundred varieties of weighing machines are manufactured by the Fairbanks Scale Company. Of one variety, for Grocers' use, 7,000 scales were turned off last year.

ICE CREAM.—All lovers of good Ice Cream will find a most delicious article at Wise's Ice Cream Saloon. Also cakes of different kinds. Ice cream and cakes served every afternoon and evening.

Gess, of the Huntingdon Globe, has received a present of a pair of young prairie wolves from Rev. Samuel Aughey, Professor of Natural Sciences in the University of Nebraska, at Lincoln, Nebraska.

THE show of last week was one of large proportions outside. Tom, Dick and Harry, with their wives and an innumerable host of children, were in attendance, as well as other folks. For several days afterwards stray dogs of different colors and sizes were hanging about town, generally making the Court House yard their resting place.

A number of our sportsmen suggested a grand gunning expedition for the animals, under an order of Council, but it was not asked.

On the 5th inst., a despatch, jointly directed to Wm M. Allison and Amos G. Boushall, editors respectively of the Republican and Democrat and Register, was received by Mr. Allison, stating that, by authority of the Fish Commissioners, a number of black bass, caught at Newport, Perry county, had been consigned to them, to be put in the river at this place, and might be expected here on the afternoon mail train westward bound.

All of which statement Mr. Allison properly and duly announced, and, as a consequence, when the train arrived quite a crowd had collected to "see what was to be seen."

A peculiarly shaped can, gotten up to suit the views of fish men, contained the precious stock of fourteen fishes, that will in time replenish the stretch of river between this place and Lewistown dam with a wholesome and deliciously flavored fish, was quickly handed out of the express car to Mr. Allison, who, by virtue of the despatch, had become Master of Ceremonies for the occasion.

By his direction the can was placed under the stream of the water plug, and thereby the warm and foul water in which the fish had been from the time they left Newport, was expelled. After thus treating the fish to fresh water from the hills above Patterson, Mr. Boushall being present, the whole management devolved on Mr. Allison. The onerous duties were considerably relieved by clever attaches of the Railroad company bringing a whole locomotive, trembling with steam, to the work.

The can was lifted on the engine and speedily conveyed to a point on the river shore, below the track, just above the railroad warehouse, west of Patterson, and opposite the once well known shad fishery on Bell's Island. A number of people were present to witness the introduction of the fish into the river, and so great was the curiosity to see the bass that they came near crowding Mr. Allison, his assistants, can, fish and all into the usually blue, but then muddy, river.

Brother Allison will be kind enough to pardon us for noting the only visible defect in his management just here. He should have had his programme so perfected that all could have seen what took place; he did not so have it. He should have taken the precaution to have had arms, such as pike poles, cutlasses, fish gigs, harpoons, tom-shawks, or any weapons that he might have deemed sufficient, placed in the hands of his assistants, to have repelled the heathenish rush that was stimulated by a morbid curiosity, which, before appeased, might have drowned him in the waters he was doing so much to re-stock with "Bass! oh! the beautiful bass!"

It would have been a big fishing to have fished Allison out of the river. We haven't fished in many days, but we would have done some tall fishing to have fished him out. It is probable, however, that he will ironically say we would have done no such thing, but left him to drown. In consequence of the rush to see, no one saw the fish distinctly; mere glimpses of them were caught by the eye as they emerged from the can and swam away through the muddy water, and some eyes didn't even get a glimpse, and the people retired, highly pleased that the fish were in the river, but not satisfied at their failure to see them, which was in the main their own fault—the consequence of their crowding.

When Brother Allison has passed away from this mischievous and troublesome world to another, a celestial sphere of action—he is orthodox, we trust, and not troubled with pythagorean transmigration notions, which, if true, might consign him to the "Narrows," to splash and splunge as a huge black bass, and be angled for by those who are to come—posterity here will ever keep his memory fresh and green by association with the enterprise that gave the people of these valleys the wholesome and pleasant food from the waters of the "Blue Juniata."

Don't shoot the man who takes the first black bass out of the river and uses it on the table, as Governor Dix said should be done with the man that would attempt to haul down the American flag, but sue him. All are so directly interested in the success of this enterprise that all should willingly wait for the expiration of the few years required by law to abstain from using these fish—Those who will not wait, should be made to wait under the law.

ABOUT 7 o'clock yesterday morning a fire originated among the chemicals in the studio of Joseph Hess, the village artist, a few doors east of this office.—Mr. Hess was not in at the time. People on the street saw smoke issuing from his room, gave the alarm, burst open the doors and extinguished the fire before he arrived on the scene of disorder. The discovery was made in time to prevent a destructive fire, as there was air enough astir to have driven the flames through the whole block in which it originated. It was another narrow escape for the SENTINEL.

WHERE IS JUDGE LYNCH?—On Sunday night, the 6th inst., some second or second-class placed a tie on the track of the railroad about a mile below Lewistown. It was caught up by the passenger train due at 1:30, and lodged some where in the running gear of the train, scattering large splinters from there to the Granville bridge, a distance of over two miles. The company is putting forth every exertion to find the villains, and should they be discovered it will perhaps be the dearest job they ever undertook.—Lewistown Gazette.

H. T. McALISTER, Esq., of Fayette township, furnishes the following interesting statistics relative to the population of this county:

The population of Juniata county was in 1840, 11,080; in 1850, 13,396; in 1860, 16,986; in 1870, 17,623.

The show last week did not get on the ground that had some days before been engaged for it. John Kiser gallantly came to the rescue, and turned the whole concern, "bag and baggage," into an oats field. It didn't hurt the show a "bit."

PROF. J. P. WICKERSHAM was at McAlisterville on the 11th inst., and conducted the examination of the Soldiers' Orphan School in person. Mr. Wickersham's management of the Orphan Schools is as satisfactory as his management of the Common Schools has been.

THE Annual Meeting of the stockholders of the Juniata Valley Bank of Mifflintown will be held at the office of the Bank, on MONDAY, AUGUST 4, 1873, at 1 o'clock, P. M.

T. V. IRWIN, Cashier. July 16-3t

THE other night a young man got off his property, and got on his impriety, and became quite annoying on Cherry street, between Main and Third streets.

A citizen took the matter in charge and lodged the "blood" in jail about midnight, to the satisfaction of the neighborhood.

THERE were no spread eagle performances here on the 4th. Thompston indulged in a grand picnic on that day. Numbers of our young people returned from it in the evening happy as an evening zephyr. Others returned not thus moved. There was a hop in Graybill's Hall in the evening.

SOME time ago the Lewistown Gazette got off a huge snake story. For a time it squelched all snake stories. Lately the Reading Times published one that clouds the Gazette entirely. It says a Berks county man killed a black snake sixteen feet long and eighteen inches in circumference. Mifflin county must give up the champion snake killer's belt.

THE hen roosts and poultry yards of our agricultural friends along Hominy Run, in Turbett township, have recently become the "nocturnal visiting grounds" of a mink, that has, within a few nights, destroyed between one and two hundred fowls, such as chickens, ducks, &c. That mink must be a veteran poultry thief. It is as destructive as chicken cholera.

CAMP MEETINGS.—People wishing to attend the several camp meetings this season would do well provide themselves with camp stools. W. F. Snyder, in Mifflin, has a full and complete stock, neat, cheap and durable. Don't forget to call and examine the stock. He has also a full line of Lounges of the very best and latest styles. Don't forget the place, or Main street, Mifflin, Pa.

BERG and WILSON had quite a time to get their cattle through the crowd on Bridge street on show day. The people stood in the way as oblivious as staid to everything going on except the approaching show. It would have required a party of mounted Modocs to have cleared that street. It's a pity Berg and Wilson didn't have one or two to whoop. They, however, succeeded in getting their cattle safely carried.

WILSON.—On the afternoon of the 11th inst. at his residence in Fernsavage township, about one mile north of this borough, Mr. David Wilson, aged 81 years.

MR. Wilson was a native of York county, this State, and was born in the year 1792. When the war with Great Britain broke out in 1812 he enlisted as a volunteer in the town of York Pa., and held the office of Corporal. He participated in the battle of North Point Md., after which his company was disbanded and he returned to the pursuit of his business or trade that of a tanner. In the year 1845 he came to this county, where he has ever since lived as an exemplary citizen.

He was a most faithful supporter of the National cause during the late Rebellion, and willingly, patriotically, encouraged four of his sons to enter the army which they did. One of whom David, a Lieutenant, in the 1st Penn. Cavalry never returned alive, he was killed at the battle of Cold Harbor. He did not murmur but like a Roman father deemed the National cause worthy of the sacrifice of his son.
