Right of Way.

A Convention is to be held on the 25th inst. at Weston, Lewis county, Va. to consider the question of granting the Right of Way to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. It is said Lewis Weston has written, "The whole earth will be literally alive with the anxious and indignant people." There is a perfect enthusiasm in that quarter for a terminus on the Ohio River at Parkersburg. The National Republican says, "Why are the calling sympathizers not only from the South, east, but from the Valley." The Virginians are a little behindhand in this movement. Pittsburgh will soon be the terminus of the Great Work, and beyond that frontier the Virginians must as well not disquiet herself on the subject. Pittsburgh commands the Mississippi Valley, but its proximity to the Lakes make an irresistible point of attraction to the Baltimore Company. Almost simultaneously with the Connelville Railroad, there must be a Railroad connection with the great Northern Sea, and Baltimore and Pittsburgh, in united effort, will control a commerce of almost uncounted value. And the idea is not a means visionary, that by reason of the Railroad connection between Baltimore and Pittsburgh, and hence to Lake Erie, the former will rise to be the greatest commercial city on the sea-board, as the latter will become the most important inland city in the Union.

The Cheering News from Europe!

The news received by the steamer Cambria from Europe, published in yesterday's Post, is highly important to the American people. The passage of the tariff act in this country, together with the almost simultaneous with the Connelville Railroad, there must be a Railroad connection with the great Northern Sea, and Baltimore and Pittsburgh, in united effort, will control a commerce of almost uncounted value. And the idea is not a means visionary, that by reason of the Railroad connection between Baltimore and Pittsburgh, and hence to Lake Erie, the former will rise to be the greatest commercial city on the sea-board, as the latter will become the most important inland city in the Union.

Democracy Ever Triumphant!

We believe it is now reduced to the certainty of a "fixed fact," that the habits, feelings and predilections of the great mass of the American people are naturally Democratic. On one or two occasions our Federal opponents gained power in the National Congress, and during that time they were more mischievous than they ever possibly expect forgiveness for. The Democratic party will unquestionably believe the gains made by their power, and will continue heretofore to administer the affairs of government as a whitened of malice, as in 1840, should, unfortunately, sweep over the country. During the late Presidential campaign our political opponents made bold and vigorous rally to elect the man of their choice—the "embodiment" of their principles—and they failed miserably. Their Roanoke Fraud and Gaudin Forgery, although cunningly got up for political effect, made them nothing. The Fates were set against them—Heaven withheld the aid of Democratic principles. With a candidate they admired and worshipped almost with religious idolatry, when they were driven from the field, overwhelmed with defeat the most gallant and disheartening. We have now a Democratic President, and a large Democratic majority in both branches of the National Legislature.

Such being the position and prospects of the Democratic party, we have every thing to hope in the future.

It is now settled that the policy of the country must be regulated by the Democratic party for a long time to come. Perhaps before the end of our party, then, must the country look for the enactment of such measures as will effect the policy of this great confederacy. The Whigs can do nothing but be continually broken up—scattered—dispersed.

These facts should be continually impressed upon every mind.

Let every honest Whig in this Congressional District try to heart. In voting for Mr. Hampton for Congress, they are doing that which can possibly be of no avail to them—they are essentially throwing away their suffrages. With an overwhelming Democratic majority in the House of Representatives, Mr. Hampton and his federal colleagues can make laws at will.

Speak not a word.

But as dumb statues or breathless stones. Stand at each other and look deadly pale. But on the contrary, if Mr. Candlish is sent to Congress he can make himself felt and read to some purpose. His influence with the administration and amongst his fellow members will be greater than that of any federalist possibly can be. He will seek his way to the Congress, Mr. Candlish will—they cannot neglect his talents, or capacity or honesty. To his hands they can with perfect confidence, entrust their interests, and feel assured that those interests will never be neglected or badly attended.

Indiana, All Hall!

The last Indiana Session contains the official vote for Governor and Lieut. Governor in that State, at the recent election, which shows a glorious Democratic victory. The result is summed up as follows:

For Whiteoak, (Dem.).....64,101
Marshall, (Fed.).....10,907

Majority for Whiteoak.....53,194

For Dunning, (Dem.).....62,965
Stevenson, (Fed.).....10,036

Majority for Dunning.....52,929

For a Convention.....32,921

Majority for a Convention.....32,921

Millionaires Numbers.

The distinguished members of the Federal party of this State to connect the name of William B. Foster, Jr., with Free Trade, will only excite laughter every where. Mr. Foster's private opinion on Political Economy cannot possibly have anything to do with his duties as Canal Commissioner. Whether he is an ultra Free Trader or a thorough Protectionist, we do not know, and certainly do not care. The business of raising revenue to support the National Government, by reason of a Free Trader, is too transparent to escape detection. Their own candidate for Canal Commissioner, Mr. Foster, belongs to the Funder School of politicians, who, under the insidious administration of Ritter, brought our glorious old Commonwealth to the verge of ruin. The people know this well, and hence the desire of our opponents to support the National Government, by reason of a Free Trader, is too transparent to escape detection.

All Sorts of Paragraphs.

A most deplorable case—The most singular suicide on record was committed at St. John, N. B., on Wednesday week, by a man named John Moore, who had been some time past bed-ridden with a pain in the bowels. He cut up his bowels and pulled them out, and dragged away for a portion of his intestines, and separated by force, his nose or ten in number, of eight or nine inches in length, which he carried off with him, and threw it into a well, as he desired, he attempted to cut his throat, which in his weakened state he was unable to accomplish.

Interesting Correspondence.

DAVID LEE, in London, of the 10th of August announces the result of a trotting match for 100 guineas between two ponies, one owned by Mr. E. Dyer, an English gentleman, and the other by Mr. Jackson, "the well known American Dealer, and Jackson was the victor.
