The Ohio Life

The Legislature of Ohio has granted a charter to this company for the purpose of establishing a regular line of good boats between Louisville and Pittsburgh.

The capital of the Ohio Line is $500,000 with the privilege of being increased to $1,000,000.

The company may purchase steamboats or iron boats to be used in navigating the Ohio river.

The management of this company will be vested in a President and two directors with full power to contract for the transportation of the public mail.

It is rather unlikely that any of the "Panic" chroniclers should have remained among the ranks for so long a time.

The stockholder may lose all the money he pays for his shares, but cannot be bound further by his stock.

The small capital of $300,000 would not provide the boats to run such a line, but it will enable the company to organize a good line between Louisville and St. Louis.

The power of repealing the charter by an act of the Legislature is a serious objection to the project.

The project is a Democratic project and is not to be taken seriously by the Legislature.

For the Morning Post

Mr. Editor—I do not wish to cast a doubt on the erudition of Mr. Glendon, but such sentences as the following, which you will find in page 13, of his "Asiatic Exerter," may cause some to question his claims to historical knowledge.

Mr. Glendon asks, "Had Marinsus in his the editor of a Paris chronicle or Carthage?" It is his answer, History is silent on the subject.

When Marinsus, pursued by Sulla, fled to Africa, he hid himself in the ruins of Carthage, "consoling himself," says a historian, "by the sight of so many tombs, and the sight of the ruins of the city, which he had seen in his youth."

THE BANNER TOWNSHIP

In the fall of 1810, Spowden was pronounced the Banner Township of the Whig party.

It was the first township to be named in honor of a Whig leader.

What a remarkable election district it is! so we thought when reading a few days ago, an account of the proceedings of the Whig election.

That great party nominated a full ticket for the election that took place last Friday; their best and most popular men were selected.

The result showed that every Whig was defeated except the candidate for overseer, and he was elected only because no Democrat would have the office.

So much for Whigship in the Banner Township—the only Whigship we believe, in which there was a fair trial of strength.

Quarter Sessions—The Court commenced the session yesterday. There was an immense gathering of people in the rotunda and court room.

The Grand Jury was organized and proceeded to business; they returned a number of true bills, and one was ignored.

A number of Surety of the Peace cases were disposed of. One beautiful record from Robinson township, consisting of men and women, white and black, were heard.

The Whig trials will commence this morning. There are no "heavy" cases on the list of this session.

ATTEMPTED MURDER—A man named John Smith was charged with attempting to murder a woman named Mary Jones.

THE LICENSE QUESTION.—The following is the result of the elections held in the township and borough last Friday, to decide the question of license or no license.

DESPATCHEES FOR THE POST BY ELECTRIC TELEGRAPH

PHILADELPHIA, March 23, 1847. Monday, P. M. FROM MEXICO.

The latest dates from New Orleans, announce the arrival there of a passenger, Dr. Jarvis, with despatches for the government.

On the 20th of February, Mr. Jarvis had left Camargo for Monterey in company with a train of 70 wagons, escorted by Col. Marshall's Kentucky Volunteer Cavalry.

They had advanced only five miles when they were countermanded, and returned, in consequence of an express which had been sent by General Taylor directing that all the trains should be stopped.

On the 23rd of February, at Saltillo, Gen. Taylor had been summoned to surrender by Gen. Santa Anna.

Since the 23rd further had been heard from Gen. Taylor; but Mexican reports represent that Taylor is retreating upon Saltillo had six cannon.

It was feared that the detachments of Col. Morgan and Irving (Ohio volunteers) had been cut off by a body of 2,000 Mexicans.

On the 22d Morgan was cut off, with seven companies of volunteers, at which time the Mexican troops effected a junction with Morgan, who evacuated Saltillo on the 24th, destroying the supplies which it was impossible to take with him.

It is thought that he has not his route have encountered the enemy. A train of 100 wagons, which had been sent by Gen. Taylor, was captured by the Mexicans.

This report was brought by some escaped Mexicans, who reported that the battle (whether this was the attack on the escort, or a battle between Taylor and Santa Anna, is not clear) had continued for several days, with great loss on both sides.

Gen. Taylor is said to have dispatched a messenger to Tampico for reinforcements; but it was feared that all the troops had sailed before the arrival of the messenger.

It is, however, very probable that the reinforcements could come. It was reported by Mexicans that Gen. Taylor had repulsed an attack made upon him by Santa Anna—the last of the Mexican force.

There is no doubt of the Mexicans having got between Gen. Taylor and Monterey, with a very strong force, thus placing him in a very dangerous position.

It is believed that the Mexicans are now numbering twice the amount of Gen. Taylor's force.

The Mexican inhabitants were abandoning the country along the Rio Grande, fearing the approach of the Mexican army, more than the presence of the Americans.

Camargo was strongly fortified and was considered sufficiently strong to hold out against any attack the Mexican troops could make, until reinforcement could reach there from below.

The rumor of the capture of Capt. McCullough's detachment of Texas Rangers, is contradicted.

PHILADELPHIA, March 23, 1847. Monday, 10 o'clock, P. M. FROM NEW ORLEANS.

News from Orleans, dated Monday last, New Orleans, Gen. Taylor had arrived at Monterey, losing six pieces of artillery, and a large number of men.

Communications are said to be cut off. Col. Curtis, with his brigade, is believed to have been cut off from Louisiana.

The Government of Louisiana has issued a proclamation calling for ten Regiments for Mexico.

It is reported that 1800 Mexicans were advancing on Camargo, which is under martial law. No attack on Camargo was made up till the 21st.

All previous reports of a battle are repeated. Col. Curtis says he has had no news from Taylor since the 23d ult.

There is a rumor from Washington of despatches having been received confirming the news of battle, and that Gen. Taylor has succeeded. This however is doubted.

At an adjourned meeting of the Baltimore and Ohio Company, John S. Kennedy, Thomas Lee, Hopkins and Jacob G. Davis were appointed to proceed immediately to Philadelphia to negotiate with the Pennsylvania Railroad Company.

A favorable result is anticipated. Mr. G. Davis is extremely ill of dropsy, and is not expected to live.

There is little news of general or political interest in the foreign news.
