Speech of the Hon, Lewis Cass, of Humania taken by her President to consent to no concession of Mexican territory, a strange procedure, prought taken by her President to consent to no concession of Mexican territory, a strange procedure, prought to anticipate, that of Mexican territory, a strange procedure, prought to the purchase, we have no right to anticipate, that of Mexican territory, a strange procedure, prought to the meaning of the Country after its accordance in the Senate of the Outself States, Monday, March 1, 1847.

The bill appropriating three millions of dollars to canable the President to center links, negotiations of the Mexican territory of the country and the sooner it is done, the best it will be done to consideration—

Mr. CASS said—Mr. Prassinstry: The subject of collars to enter links, negotiations of the meaning of the propriation of the

Having already expressed my sentiments upon the former subject, I shall now confine my remarks to the latter.

And, sir, in the first place, such a declaration would be a kind of legislation, not only abstract in itself, but, under the circumstances of the country, ill-timed and injudicious. We are engaged in a foreign war, which demands the united action of the whole country. The
