The Morning Post.

L. HARPER, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

PITTSBURGH:
SATURDAY MORNING, MAY 1, 1847.

DEMOCRATIC NOMINATIONS.

FOR GOVERNOR,

FRANCIS R. SHUNK,

OF ALLEGHENY COUNTY.

FOR CANAL COMMISSIONER,

MORRIS LONGSTRETH,

OF MONTGOMERY COUNTY.

Awful Suicide!

Frederick Reidel his own Executioner!

Yesterday morning, early, the news was spread through the city that Frederick Reidel, under sentence of death, had taken his own life! We instantly visited the Jail, where a large crowd of men had already collected. From the by-standers, the Coroner selected a Jury, to hold an inquest over the body of the deceased, composed of the following named persons, viz:

Robert Gallagher,	Geo. Youngson,
L. A. Clark,	George Neely,
L. Harper,	Leopold Sahl,
Otis Young,	H. M. Robb,
James Dyer,	William Ward,
James Stewart,	*John Craft.

The Jury were conducted to the inside of the Jail, and from thence to Reidel's cell, on the second floor. The inside of the cell presented the most awful spectacle we ever beheld! The floor was covered with blood, in a congealed state, affording evidence that the tragical deed was was committed during an early part of the night. In the back part of the cell, Reidel was found hanging by the neck, be-spattered with blood. On his left arm were discovered two wounds, one about 4 inches above the elbow, and the other on the elbow in front. The wounds appeared as if they had been produced by some rough instrument, probably a piece of glass, as the window above was broken, and no weapon of any kind could be found in the cell. As death did not ensue from the bleeding as speedily as he wished, he then tore a strip off the blanket, about six inches in width. This he twisted and doubled well, making a strong rope about five feet long. He then put the rope around his neck, and fastened it to the water-pipe, which comes through the wall some three or four feet above the floor. In this position he was found by the Jury, quite cold and stiff. The rope was unfastened from his neck; he was then taken down to the first floor, and the blood washed from the body. It is proper to say, that, after a diligent search, no weapon of any kind could be found in Reidel's cell. A sheet of paper was picked up in the cell, on which a few lines were written in the German language. Mr. Sahl, one of the Jury, gave us a literal translation of the writing, as follows, viz.:

"I don't wish to say it's any person's fault. I don't like to be hung, and I don't know any person who it comes from."

FREDERICK REIDELL."

The writing was difficult to be read, and was without date.

Witnesses were then examined, who testified as follows:

W. S. Courtney, Esq., sworn—Yesterday about noon, in company with several others, was in jail, and went to Reidel's cell. The jailor caused the room to be thoroughly cleared out and examined—it was not possible for any thing to be concealed—did not examine the water-pipe—was in about one hour.

Sheriff Forsyth, sworn.—On Wednesday night about 10 o'clock was told by my son that Reidel had a razor. I sent immediately for officer Hague, who is employed about the jail. I mentioned the matter to Hague, and we went into the cell—found Reidel lying in bed, and his little child with him. I concluded to examine the cell—consulted with Hague—he said there was no fear, and we had better defer the examination until next morning. I then stated to Hague that Mr. Alden was making an effort to have Reidel taken out on a habeas corpus. After the court adjourned saw the judge, and he thought it best that Reidel should not have his child in the cell. On Thursday, about 12 o'clock, I went to the cell, and asked Reidel to go to another cell and see his child. I then left him to converse with the clergymen, and took some four or five persons with me into the cell he had left. The two beds on the floor, filled with straw, were carried out, examined, and taken down stairs. The cell was swept out—every thing removed, even the nails from the walls—left nothing but a tin pan and tin cup. Another bed was then placed in the cell for him to sleep upon. About half past 7 o'clock in the evening Reidel expressed a desire to converse with Mrs. Forsyth—I gave him a piece of tobacco, and told him I thought Mrs. F. would go up soon. He replied that he would like to see her that night or next morning. I then made known his desire to Mrs. F. and she concluded it best to go in the evening. We went about 8 o'clock, but as Reidel was in bed, we waited a few minutes until he dressed himself. He then asked us in, and enquired of Mrs. Forsythe if she was afraid of him; she replied she was not. We remained with him over an hour. He conversed freely, but his mind appeared to be wandering.—He declared that he was an innocent man, and would make known his innocence on the scaffold. Asked me to extend the period of his life as long as I could; told him I would do so most cheerfully, for two reasons; first, because he requested it, and second, because the ladies had petitioned the Governor to pardon him, and there still might be a possibility of his pardon. We left about ½ past 9 o'clock. This morning about 6 o'clock, my wife went to his cell with some breakfast—my son of 14 opened the door. My wife found him dead, and she returned instantly to my room, exclaiming, "Reidel is dead! It is the most awful sight I ever saw!"

Jared M. Bush, sworn—Saw Reidel last night about 9½ o'clock, after the Sheriff left—went to his cell, and remained there some ten minutes. He talked some little, chiefly about a book he had been reading—he appeared to be calm, more so than usual. I locked the door and left. I carry one of the jail keys. The door was not opened when I left.

Dr. George Watt, sworn—I examined the body, and found two wounds on the left arm, which had the appearance of being inflicted by some dull or rough instrument, probably glass. The wound on the upper part of the arm, I think, would not have produced death. The wound on the front part of the elbow was sufficient to produce death by bleeding. My opinion is, that he bled profusely from the lower wound until he became weak, and then terminated his existence by hanging.

After the witnesses were examined, the jury retired to a private room in the jail, and after consulting together for some time, came to the unanimous conclusion, and rendered a verdict according, that—"Frederick Reidel came to his death by bleeding and hanging committed by himself."

Thus ends the life of this unfortunate and miserable man. To the crime of murder—the horrible murder of the partner of his bosom, whom he had vowed to protect, love and cherish,—he has now added the awful crime of suicide—cheated the gallows of its victim—and has sunk down to the grave doubly guilty in the sight of God and man.

Fire!

Last evening, about 8 o'clock, a fire broke out in Geo. Draher & Co's. Planing Machine, in Allegheny city, above Hand street and fronting on the Canal—burning the Planing Machine and all that was in it. The Saw Mill and all its machinery, owned by the same firm, was consumed. His dwelling house and nearly all the furniture was also destroyed. It originated from the fire in the engine house attached to the Planing Machine.—The whole loss is supposed to be about $8,000.—Not insured.

Another!—The flames of the fire in Allegheny city were scarcely extinguished, when the alarm was raised in our own city. The Fire originated in the Cabinet Manufactory of Messrs. Kane and Roberts, on Front street, below Short. In a few minutes the entire building was in a blaze. The Fire speedily communicated to the residence of Judge Shaler, on the corner of Water and Short streets, which was entirely consumed. Furniture saved—no insurance on building. Lee's Paint Shop, adjoining Judge Shaler, was destroyed. Elliott's Blacksmith Shop was also destroyed. The old O'Hara Mansion took fire and was partially destroyed. The fire is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary. Mr. Kane estimates their loss at about $5,000. No insurance.

Mrs. Jane G. Swisshelm.

This lady, who has become somewhat conspicuous as a writer for one or two of our city newspapers, yesterday made us a visit, and asked permission to occupy a small space in our columns, in reply to the communication signed "Justice," published in the Post yesterday morning. We readily complied with her request, and expected to receive a communication at least a column long, in her usual meat-axe-ical vein! But we have been disappointed. The following laconic note is all that we received from our fair correspondent:

For the Morning Post.

Mr. HARPER: I thank you for your politeness in promising to publish my answer to the censure passed in this morning's Post on my efforts to obtain a reprieve for Reidel; but, now that I have read it, it does not seem to require any answer.—If "Justice" should happen to say anything, I will attend to him. Yours, &c.,

JANE G. SWISSHELM.

Pittsburgh April 30th, 1847.

☞ We would call the especial attention of our readers to the extensive sale of Books advertised by Mr. John D. Davis, to take place this evening. The assortment is large, and comprises a variety of choice, valuable, and interesting works. We have no doubt that our friends will be able to make purchases at prices to suit themselves.

☞ Two valuable building lots will be sold by auction, this afternoon, at 3 o'clock, on the premises, Mount Baldwin, adjoining Fulton's stone quarry and Holdship's old drying house.

☞ We learn from the American of yesterday, that Mr. DARSIE, the present State Senator from this district, who has been a standing candidate for public favor for many years past, is before the Whigs for re-election.

☞ The Intelligencer of Greensburgh, in this State, says that a young man named CARLIN, was committed to the jail of that place on the 27th ult., charged with having murdered Samuel Ross, on the line of the canal, near Boli var.

☞ The Quebec Mercury, of April 12th, says: "A terrific storm visited Les Eboulemens on the 30th ult. In the neighborhood of the church, barns and stables were overthrown, and two raised from their foundations. The roofs of the church, and sacristy, and several private dwellings, were partially carried away, and a schooner wintering on the beach was driven from her fastenings into the stream."

Letter to Gen. Taylor.

The following letter, which has been addressed to Gen. Taylor by a committee of the citizens of Philadelphia; we insert, as being among the documents of a public character which it is proper to preserve. We know not to how great an extent this meeting was composed of citizens "without distinction of party;" but we do know that our political friends generally agree with the hero of Buena Vista in the expression, that we had better wait awhile longer, before we involve ourselves in discussions on the subject of the Presidency, and exert all our influence as a people in terminating the war in an honorable manner. It may do for those who have been denouncing the war at every step, and who have recognized its supporters only as "the myrmidons of power," when they think they can make capital of it, to appear enthusiastic in praise of one of its most zealous and efficient supporters; but Democrats know not only how to appreciate the treachery and duplicity of a foreign foe, but how and when to honor a faithful and brave public servant. When the proper time comes this will be proven.

PHILADELPHIA, April 17th, 1847.

SIR—The undersigned, a Committee of Correspondence for the State of Pennsylvania, appointed by a meeting of the citizens of the city and county of Philadelphia, without distinction of party, held on the 6th instant, have the honor to submit to you the proceedings of their constituents, unanimously nominating you for the office of President of the United States, a station which the situation of our country now requires should be filled by no ordinary man.

In Florida, on the Rio Grande, at Monterey and Buena Vista—in your youthful exploits in the former war, your character has been distinguished by the most heroic qualities, and your whole career has proved you to possess the integrity and wisdom of a sagacious statesman.

Although they believe that the Presidency should be neither sought nor declined by an individual in your peculiar position, the undersigned cannot avoid expressing the hope that you will not think it expedient to defeat the determination, that, from all the signs of the times, the people have formed of placing you in the chair of Washington, which the constituents of the undersigned desire you to occupy, like him, with no pledges but those contained in the official oath at your inauguration, and with the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution as your guides.

The undersigned, under these circumstances, take the liberty of assuring you that they neither desire nor expect an answer to this communication.

With sentiments of the highest esteem,

We are sir, most respectfully, your friends,

George W. McClellan,	Joshua Tevis,
Charles S. Coxe,	John W. Ashmead,
Wm. Shippen,	G. Washington Reed,
Kenderton Smith,	George G. West,
John P. Brock,	Edward G. Mallery,

Maj. Gen. ZACHARY TAYLOR, U. S. A.

DESPATCHES FOR THE POST:

BY ELECTRIC TELEGRAPH.

ARRIVAL OF THE SHIP

SARAH SANDS.

TWO DAYS LATER FROM ENGLAND.

NO CHANGE IN THE MONEY MARKET—COTTON MARKET FIRM—ADVANCE IN THE PRICE OF CORN.

PHILADELPHIA, April 30, 1847.
Friday, 10 o'clock, A. M.

The ship Sarah Sands arrived at New York, bringing Liverpool dates to the 0th inst.

Between the date of her sailing and that of the Cambria, no change had occurred in the Money Market, which remained as before.

No alteration was visible in Cotton—prices were the same and more firmly maintained.

Flour advanced in the week—sales at 37s 6d to 38s per bbl.

Corn was in large demand and sold at 25s. per 480 lbs.—an advance.

The sales of Flour had been large.

In Provisions there was no change whatever.

☞ The "Whigs" do not seem to be able to comprehend the difference between certain gentlemen now in the democratic ranks (though the number is very limited,) who in 1812 were opposed to the war, and those in the Whig ranks.—We will try to enlighten them. The difference lies in this:—those who act with us have renounced their sins and asked forgiveness, while those acting with them are in the same condition in which they were more than thirty years ago—"in the gall of bitterness and the bonds of iniquity."

Vegetable Pulmonary Balsam.

IN the winter of 1832 and 1833, I was seized with spitting of blood, which continued with occasional relief till spring. I consulted several eminent physicians and took much medicine, but the relief obtained was only transient. In the spring I commenced taking the Vegetable Pulmonary Balsam.—At this time I was much reduced. The day before I commenced with the Balsam, I raised about a half a pint of blood, was oppressed with great hoarseness and a bad cough. I commenced taking the Balsam thinking if this failed I should resort to medicine no further. But it did not disappoint my expectation. All the unfavorable symptoms were immediately relieved, the cough cured, and I have not been troubled with spitting of blood since. I am now about to resume my trade, (that of a rope maker,) which I had given up without any expectation of returning to it.
