ORIGIN OF THE HUMAN RACES. The Charleston Mercury, in giving some brief of the Daily Morning Post. chief of the Seminoles, relates the following to show what is the tradition, among this tribe of the Indians at least, in relation to the origin of the white, red and black races: In the progress of the negotiation at Camp Moultrie, in 1823, between the U. S. Commission ers and the Indians, it became important to ascertain the population of the Seminole nation. By request, a census was handed in by the chiefs, and FRANCIS R. SHUNK, in well wrought description and side-splitting hur the shower. While there a huge rock started from range ments are made for continuing this "Atlantic," on the commissioners asking if the statement en braced the blacks, and who were slaves, there was so silent a burst of indignation from Nehemathia as to require rejoinder and reproof from those who represented the United States. On explaining the notive of the inquiry, however, that the commis sioners, in the allotment of territory, were desirous of providing for the negro as well as the Indian, Vehemathla was reconciled to the supposed indignity cast upon his people, and the negotiation pro ceeded and terminated harmoniously. On the exchange of documents and treaties, the commission ers received the head chiefs of the Seminoles at ar ntertainment. On the removal of the cloth, (fo Nehemathla, Blunt, and many others, were not in norant of the forms and courtesies of the dinne table,) and while the glass was circulating, Nebe mathia adverted to the unpleasant incident of the morning, in which he had exhibited so much tem-per. He stated, that they had among them a wise n, a philosopher, who had communion with the Great Spirit, and that if agreeable to the commis sioners, it would be gratifying to him that he should be heard, that they might read in his revealments
