

From the Baltimore Patriot, CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE.

A certain Dr. ... many years ago, traveling in the West, became acquainted, on board of a steamer, with a Hamilton, who had been member of the Legislature from his district, and for years a candidate for office.

After journeying much, in hope of reaching some house where they might obtain the requisite direction, they reached, just at nightfall, the barns of a large farm, where they were met by three stout laboring wayfarers, with their families and wagons.

On hearing this, Hamilton rose, and taking the hand of the doctor, he said: "I am glad to see you, and I am glad to see you."

On hearing this, Hamilton rose, and taking the hand of the doctor, he said: "I am glad to see you, and I am glad to see you."
