FEDERAL CONSISTENCIES. On the 4th of February, 1847, Mr. Ashmun, Federal leader in Congress, from Massachusetts, fild :- The war in which we are engaged is direct consequence of the annexation of Texas; and the natural and anticipated fruit of that iniquity. The annexation of Texas was consummated under the administration of Jour Tyler. The People, had sanctioned the act, as well through their repreentatives as in the election of Mr. Polk over Henry Clay. Yet, notwithstanding this fact, Mr. Ashmun his asserted, during the present session of Congress (and all the Federalists in the House of Representatives, have backed him in the assertion,) that this was at a war unnecessarily and unconstitutionally assessed by the President of the United States. Mr. Clay, at New Orleans, wished for some little nook in the army, that he might be able to slay a Mexican, in a war, that he pronounced to be, at Lexington, a war of aggression, unjust and unconstitational. Mr. Webster, at Philadelphia, called upon his fellow-citizens to sustain the country, now that we were engaged in a war; and, at Springfield, in Massochusetts, told the People that, if the war could not be arrested in any other way, Congress ful marks of violence from the mercitess enemy. They have died in a GOOD CAUSE. Ighting for then CUUN TRY'S RIGHTS; yet tell led so much a sacrine for their country, as to pamper that rull-many I not say fauth-opposition at home; which, it persisted in must weaken, may destroy, every effort of the Administration, to prosecute the war to a speedy termination—will cripple every energy of the government, and compel us to wage the war ad infinitium, or conclude a distinguishment before. could stop the supplies. Mr. Tom Corwin, in the Senate of the United States, voted that war existed by the act of Mexico; and, at Carthage, in Ohio, told the People that the Democrats had thought to entrap him by making this declaration—they tho't the Whige could not swallow that-but though they knew it was a lie they did swallow it! Thus boasting of his own infamy. The presses of their party, though as inconsistent as their leaders, has been, in some cases, no more guarded. We could produce many specimens of this peculiar trait of Whiggery, from the Federal presses; but the following will suffice for the presat. The Democracy of the good old Keystone, in their primary meetings and County Conventions, with a unanimity almost unparalleled, lave resolved that Mr. BUCHANAN is their choice for the Presidency. There is not a doubt but that his name will be unnnimously presented to the National Convention, by the Pennsylvania delegation. That the delegates ing of the appointment of General Butler assuccesin the Convention, we do not entertain a doubt.

The fact that he is the unquestioned choice of this state, should have a powerful influence upon the minds of the Democracy of other states, and induce them to concede to Pennsylvania the right of having the next President. That such a feeling prevails in the minds of our Democratic friends in other states, we have every reason to believe, from all the information we can gather. We honestly are of the opision that James Bucharan is as strong as any from many other states will vote for Mr. Buchanan, sor of Scott, says: opision that JAMES BUCHANAN is as strong as any other man in the Democratic ranks in the Union. His nomination will insure union and harmony in obviously knows nothing of General Butler. We will tell him, therefore, that General Butler is one of the most moderate, unassuming, independent and high minded men belonging to either party; that he is a person who never has sought to little elait, and this fact is admitted by every one, the Keystone state has never yet had the honor of having one of her own sons scated in the Presidential chair. This kind of language, from a man who came into this campaign a Wrig in policy, may sound strange to you. But I have again and again been again to discuss the disposition and aliculated the uffection of the most distinguished partision. Even now, I do not object to the leading and man principles of that, which would have changed the disposition and aliented the utfection of the most distinguished partisan. Even now, I do not object to the leading and main principles of my old party, so much as to curse and deprecate the tone of its acknowledged leaders and supporters. If there is any reason which will prevent General Scott from cifecting an honorable peace, commanding, as he does, the whole city of the Aztecs, with his powerful batteries, it is the SPIRIT OF TREASON which I unfestiatingly say is promalged by the leading whis journals at home. The above work comprises Logarithms of Numbers, Logarithmic Sines and Tangents, Natural Sines and Natural Tangents; the Traverse Table, and a full and extensive set of tables, exhibiting at one vices the number of Cubic Yards contained in any embarkment or cutting, and for any beast or stope of sides wend in practice. Besides these essential tables, the work comprises 50 pages more of Measuration Tables, Weights of Iron, Strength of Materials, Formulas, Diagrams, &c., for laying out Railroads, Canals, and Curves; much of which has never before been offered to the public, and all inhematics and the supermander of the public, and all inhematics as accurately (and with much greater rapidity) as the most experienced in the profession without its aid. The tables of Logarithms, &c., have been carefully corrected and compared with different editions of the same tables; and all the tables throughout the book have been read carefully by proofs four times: hence the most implicit confidence may be placed in their correctness.

ALSO, Scatamary Engineer's and Meckanic's Companios, new edition, 264 pages, calarged, with 35 pages of entirely new matter, and much improved throughout.

It is believed these books are so well adapted to suit the above professions that they cannot affert to do without them and that they will ald in rewarding well-directed mental above.
