Mr. JACOB CRASE, Pleasant Unity, Westmoreland One of the most singular freaks of nature we ever witnessed, was exhibited to us a few days since, by an eminent physician of this city, who still has this remarks ble object in his possession.

It is a sort of monstrous abortion—the issue of a married woman in one of the lower Wards—and having, with the exception of a fair skin, many of Gen. Taylor Overboard. The arm consists of a SERGLE DONE, from the shoulder to the writes there have being no first the writes there. he has written on the subject, are neither designed or calculated to present him favorably before a Whig tion will not need to beg for a candidate; nor will its suffrages be tendered to any man who refuses either to accept its nomination, or "to be the exponent of its principles."

Upon this, the New York Evening Post remarks:

We conclude that Gen. Taylor's friends can have little hope from the Whigs of this State. That there was, a short time since, a very strong disposition to speaking, is a female, and was still-born. It is in-deed, one of the most curious instances of a mix-ture of several distinct classes of living forms, ever reported—the human form being strangely blended think of him as a candidate, among some of the New York Whig politicians, there can be no doubt; but the paragraph we have
