Reception of Mr. Adams, in Pittsburgs | this city, to visit and be received by them on my use city, to visit and be received by them on my way to or from the point of my destination. This reached my ears as coming from personal friends ; by personal friends I mean those who, during a long life, have approved of my political course and actions—of personal friends, strictly speaking, I have but few among your number—there are few in your city with whom I have had the honor of a personal accountered. For this account of a ourgh, in 1843, he met with a most enthusiastic reception. He was received by Col. WILSON MCCAND-LESS, on behalf of our citizens, in a very beautiful and appropriate address, to which Mr. ADAMS made a brief and exceedingly happy reply. We publish personal acquaintance. For this expression of con-fidence and this invitation I felt that gratitude was below, the remarks of both those gentlemen, believng that they will be quite interesting to the public due from me. But scarcely was that invitation consummated till a still more comprehensive one, from all the citizens, of all political partnes, was given to me. This was an honor which had never been extended to me Address of Mr. M'Caudless. Mr. ADAMS : I have been ceputed by my fellow citizens of all parties, to bid you a hearty welcome to our city.
