Every positive injunction or declaration of the Old Testantent which is given in general terms, applicable to all mankind, at all times, under all circumstances, is strictly philosophical. We mean that it is founded in nature, based upon the physical ind-meral constitution of man, thoroughly subs and meral constitution of man, thoroughly substantinted by neutral phenomena, thoroughly proved by science. Cavillers have declared them as mere arbitrary regulations for a particular people, sometimes unjust, and useless to the rest of mankind, and hence hey have sagely inferred that they could not be revelations from the Creator that governs all impar-tially. But of all reasoners, the cavillers at Revelating age to mit reasoners, the caviliers at Reve-lating age the most short eighted, and the most igno-rant of that very nature upon which they found their objections. In denouncing a Biblical injunction as without natural foundation; they have always proved that they did not understand nature sufficiently to perceive its consistencies with Revelation. Paine said that visiting the injunities of the fithers was said that visiting the iniquities of the fathers up the children was unjust, and therefore could not the children was unjust, and therefore could not plead Divine authority. But Paine did not know what science has since demonstrated, that, such is the course of nature. Other objectors have suit that, the levitical prohibitions concerning marriage were mere arbitrary municipal regulations, founded on no abhatistical research and incompletely with the promere arbitrary municipal regulations, founded on no substantial reasons, and inconsistent with the prac-tice of all nations at the time when these prohibitions were announced. They did not know or consides what experience proves and science demon-strates, that, nature prohibited marriage of consan-suiting by visiting the issue of such marriages with physical disabilities. If then nature fully sustains the Old Testament, in the very things to which cavil-less object, the book contains Revelation, or is the work of men a ho made scientific discoveries in rude eggs, which centuries of subsequent civilization have but recently enabled us to reach. Then which is most probable? Revelation, or human sagac ty thousands of years in advance of scientific discove-

If Moses were not in spired, he was much farther in advance of his own we are led to these remarks by an extrao dinary case of human calamity related in one of the news-papers. Among a lamily of eight children, residing in Union, in Ohio, five were born blind; and three of them, youths, lately entered the institution for the blind of Columbus. The cause assigned for its severe calamity in one family, is frequent intermarriages among its relatives of consanguinity — Here then, Leviticus is sustained. A most sheeking and horrid murder was committed last night, in Fourth street, above Arch, upon tance of the latest news from Italy.

The King of Naples has actisfied the General Committee at Palermo.

The Grand Duke of Tuscany has given a constitution to his people, of a very liberal kind,—two Chambers, a Senate of life members, an elective Council General: freedom of the wife of a German bookseller, named Radamacker. She was four diead in her hed; cut and mangled in the most disgusting munner.

Her husband was wounded almost as bad, but still survives, though speechless. There is a dreadful mystery leading to propose send to the very best makes, colors, qualities and styles will command purchases; French Council General: freedom of the wife of a German bookseller, named dead in her hed; cut and mangled in the most disgusting munner.
