As the time is fast approaching, when we shall be alled upon to engage in the duties of an importan and arduous campaign, it is proper that the People if Pennsylvania, and of the Union generally, should adopt a uniform plan, upon which to conduct that campaign. It has been our boast as a party, that ably granted. we have gone before the country fearlessly and confearlessly, because we believe them to be based sanction any law which they would not sanction, it called fore, a foundation in political truth; and confideatly, because we rely implicitly upon the general intelligence of the People, in their capacity to understand the truth, and their determination to sustain it, whenever they shall have been brought to 5. found to operate injuriously. The occasion of each presidential campaign, has presented, ever since the organization of our government, considerations deemed material by the People, in relation to the administration of the affairs of he whole country; and there is no occasion that presents itself, so fully calculated to awaken their tention, and enlist their action, as this. It has ever been, to a greater or less extent, (and it must ascendancy. Such was the nature of the struggle which led to the adoption of our constitution; and while there shall remain those who would foster wealth, and add power to the strong, such will con-

As, herefore, we have nothing to lose, but every thing to hope for, by keeping before the People the leading doctrines embraced in our creed, it cannot be steemed amiss, that we should briefly state them. They are the same that have ever distinguished our party. They are the doctrines which have so often been sustained by the People: doctrines which erate as well in Florida and Texas, as in Maine and New Hampshire; and which are the true doctrines of Pennsylvania and Ohio, because they are

The treaty of Gaudalupe, it was universally be-lieved, would be ratified by the Congress of Mexico, until the vote of the United States House of Represenlatives condemning the war was received, and with it news that the ten regiment bill was not likely to pass. If that bill had passed by a decided vote, and the war been approved, or not condemned, I am per-suaded the Mexicans would have agreed to almost any treaty proposed on our part. We had power to enforce, and they the disposition to accept, any torins. The reason is obvious—their nationality was in the very "article of death," and they were wil-ling to do any thing short of national dishonor, to stop "the rattle" and retain the breath of life.— Their armies were defeated and dispersed-their resources gone—and bluster and bravade, if not si-lenced, had ceased to find an echo. the Coast of Patagonia. GENEVIEVE. BY S. T. COLERIDGE. MAID of my love, sweet Genevieve!
In beauty's light you glide along:
Your eye is likedhe star of eve,
And sweet your voice as scraph's song.
Yet not your heavenly beauty, gives
This heart with passion soft to glow:
Within your soul a voice there lives!
It bids you hear the tale of woe.
When sinking low, the sufferer wan
Heholds no hand outstretched to save,
Fair as the bosom of the swan
That rises gracelid oler the wave,
Yes seen your breast with pity heave,
And therefore love I you, sweet Genevieve!

we know that he is properly appreciated by our citizens. The bouse should be well filled to-night, for apart from the claims of the beneficary, the bill is the most attractive of the season.

FIRES AND ALARES.—On Sunday morning, our citizens were disturbed by the finging of the bells, and the yelling of the street people. A tremonous alarm was raised. We found out that a brick kiln in Riccyll'e had been burned—and that only. Yes erday afternoon an alarm was raised—in Allegheny, we believe—but not even a shed was burned. The engines were all out.

ONLY SHIFTED QUARTERS.—On Saturday the owner. Only Shifted and United States and Lustre for Summer Descent Properly apart from the claims of the Woolly Horse called on us to say that he has not left town. We therefore fully retract what we said; but the fault is not ours, for he removed his animal, and gave us no notice; and move over, the neighbors reported him "apk."

The Street Commissioner of Allegheny city is hard at work, and doing great good. The streets look better.
