The Chartist Petition. We have for some time had on hand this impor ant document; but have been prevented from laying it before our readers until now. It loses, however, none of its interest, from the delay in its pub lication; but will well repay a perusal at any time. The great work aimed at by the Chartist party, is DEMOCRATIC ELECTORAL TICKET. here set forth. They have, as it were, but made the preliminary arrangements for its commencement, but the outline looks well. John Bull takes a long time to think-longer to get warm-but when he has done thinking, and concludes to act, he generally acts effectively. We hope he may do so in this case. We, as republicans, would highly commend the tone and style of this petition; but we can bestow no higher encomium upon it, in these respects, than is done by a " Whig " paper in England. The London Morning Chronicle of April 7th, in speaking of it says :-
