The very unfavorable state of the weather for a The very uniavorable state of the weather for agricultural operations for so many weeks past, has st engthened the wheat market, but there is not much business doing.

No improvement has taken place in the aspect of the fields; the wheat plant is very generally of a yellow and unhealthy color. That there remains sufficient wheat in the country to carry us on to next harvest, we have no doubt. The state of Ireland attracts just now more than tween those ports.—Liverpool Chronicte April 29.

The State-Trials.—The Irish law officers committed a blunder at the threshold; there was a gentleman on the grand jury who ought not to have been on it, and as the law was pretty plain on the subject, the attorney general abandoned the prosecution by means of indictment, and filled an ex-officio information against Mr. Mitchell, who on Tuesday was placed under a rule to plead within four days.
