News by Telegraph!

Reported for the Morning Post.

FRANKFORT, Ky., Aug 28, 1848.

The great lightning law suit, between Morse, Kendall & Co. and H. O. Reilly, will doubtless continue a week or ten days longer. The first two days were spent in hearing the bill of complaints of Morse, Kendall and others on the same side. H. O. Reilly's answer was heard on the third day, when the two telegraph systems were examined in Court, under explanations of Mr. Barnes, one of the inventors of the new Columbian Telegraph, used on O'Reilly's Louisville and New Orleans line. This is one of the most important law suits ever contended for in the United States—it exceeds the celebrated steamboat controversy, and concerns the public far more than it can possibly concern H. O'Reilly. Morse, Kendall, and F. O. J. Smith contend for an exclusive monopoly of the principle of Electro-Magnetism, in its application to telegraphing in the United States. H. O'Reilly's counsel resist the claim, asserting that a general principle like Electro-Magnetism cannot possibly be made the subject of a patent—even if the claimants had discovered said general principle.

Madison C. Johnson, one of O'Reilly's counsel, is just appointed Attorney General of Kentucky, but will continue with Mr. O'Reilly until the case is decided.

Judge Monroe is the United States' Judge in this district, under whose jurisprudence this important and exciting suit is being heard. With this gentleman's legal attainments and the profoundness of his judgment, this important case will doubtless be decided in such manner as to place individual enterprize fully in competition with soulless monopolies.

Mr. Smith, it is well known, is the head of the line of telegraph between the cities of Boston and New York, and through his misguided spirit of accommodation to the public between these two cities, the citizens of Connecticut were compelled to petition their Legislature to reconsider the law allowing said line to pass through their State. The line at present remains without protection by law, and seldom is there an instance, when the foreign news is passing over the line, but the wires are severed, and the public, through the unpopularity of the line and its manager, are seriously the losers.

Great Whig Meeting in Albany.

ALBANY, Aug. 29.

The Whigs of Albany, who were disaffected at the nomination of Gen. Taylor, held a very large and enthusiastic meeting to night, and after speeches being made by Messrs. Butler, of North Carolina, and King, of Georgia, passed resolutions in favor of Taylor and Fillmore.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 29.

The foreign news has had full time to develope itself upon our community, and the partial influence it has had upon our markets will subside without materially affecting even breadstuffs. Our flour market has been more firm, and sales have experienced a small advance; but not to any amount, so as to make quotations available. GRAIN.. We have no transactions in Wheat or Rye, but refer to yesterday's quotations. Sales of Corn at 56@60c.

Nothing to quote in Provisions.

GROCERIES.. In this species of trade the prices are firm at for Rio Coffee, 6¼@7¼c.; and Sugars at 4@5½.

WHISKEY.. Sales at 24@25c.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.

Our flour market is rather active, and yesterday's prices well maintained. Sales of Genesee at $5,62½, and Southern and Western at $5,50.

CORN.. Large sales have been made to-day of Southern, principally at 56c. for mixed, and 60c. for Yellow.

WHEAT.. Sales Southern Reds at $1,05@1,09.

Provisions firm; no large sales reported. Prices range at last week's transactions.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 29.
