Grand Ralty of the Democracy of Old LOCAL MATTERS. CORRESPONDENCE OF THE MORNING POST. THE SUPERME COURT commences its sension to NEW Lincow, Ohio, Aug. 31, '48. Dear Sir / Yesterday was a glorious day for the emocracy of " old Columbiana." In accordance with the arrangements of Col. Weller, to meet with his democratic friends on the 30th of August, noices for a mass meeting were issued in handbills and the "Ohio Patriot." The morning was Beautiful, and bid fair for a bright, clear day. Calm awapeared the elements, so were the countenances o he democrats in town-assured that the day would bring forth indubitable evidence of the majesty of their strength. The whigs, (that is, that fraction of the dissolved partnership of hard cider and coonery of by gone days, that still exists here,) were elate with the hope of a failure, as to numbers and enthusjasm. The time of the expected arrival of the lifferent delegations was anticipated by hundreds coming in un foot, on horseback, and in carriages Ten o'clock, however, changed the aspect of things; the delegations came pouring in, in endless proces sion, from the east; the west, the north and the south. The faces of the coons, that had been all smiles, elongated below zero, and their lips exhibited an ashy paleness, A more chop-fallen set you never witnessed ! Maj. Gen. John Armstrong, officiating as chief. marshal, with a humber of active assistants, soon formed the delegations from the north, the cast and the south, and proceeded to meet the western deleman ! ho was sent up. ation, escorting our gallant standard-bearer, Col John B. Weller, and the gallant and intrepid Col. G.

W. Morgan, (who accompanies Col. Weller,) into town; passing through the principal streets, which occupied nearly two hours, so great was the extent of the procession-was then dismissed to dine.-After dinner, the procession was again formed (hun dreds having previously proceeded to the grove,) and marched out to the grove, preceded by two splendid bands of music, where a stand had been erected for the accommodation of the speakers. The meeting was opened by R. P. Spalding, Esq., in his usua strong and argumentative style, and was followed by Col. Weller, in one of the most scathing rebukes of federalists and torics, I ever listened to. Although the Colonel saw dismay in Mexican countenances a Monterey, I venture to say that none exhibited a nore ghastly appearance than those he beheld in the Mexicans here. Captain Russell, the coon editor of the " Palladium," would have made an excellent Macheth. If Mr. Porter, of your theatre, should need a Star with a rueful countenanco, let him call on the captain, he will " fill the bill ." Had the tory Corwin been within hearing, he would have begged inate puffing than any of our cotemporaries-in fact, 10 appear. for some " hospitable grave" to hide his foul carcass in. Col. He is a Whig in sontiment, but refuses to be a party candidate: This is higher, and perbaps better ground than that which we occupy. He promises to "avert the down-ward tendency of things," and to bring back, in the conduct of our public affaire, the principles and pa-rity which distinguished the administrations of the ment. Two causes have operated to produce a split in the Democratic 'ranks' in the Stale of Now Yorkthe first of these was the defeat of Martin Van Buren by the people at large in 1840, and by the Representatives of the Democracy in 1844. The second, early Presidents. We clung landly to the belief that Gen, (Taylor was the non-representation of that State in the Baltimore Convention, in 1848. The Barnburners con tended that because New York had no voice in that Convention, they had the right of nominating a candidate of their own ; and hence Martin Van Buren was taken up by that faction, as their candidate; in the Utica Convention. Subsequently, a Convention was held at Buffulo, composed principally of disaffected whigs, with a goodly sprinkle of Acolitionista and Barnburners, to nominate an Abolition or Free Soil ticket.
