L. HARPER, EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

PITTSBURGH:
FRIDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 15, 1848.

His Juvenile Indiscretions.

The Federal editors of the South, who are willing to effect a union with the Abolitionists of the North, while they pretend to denounce Abolitionists, are trying to satisfy their readers, that Mr. Fillmore is "not much of an Abolitionist after all"; but, while they thus try to steer him clear of the rock, they throw him upon breakers, which must prove equally fatal to him as a politician. In divesting him of his abolitionism, they make him either a fool or a knave. But let one of his apologists in the South speak for him. The Richmond Whig, referring to the opposition of Mr. F. to the annexation of Texas, his opposition to the doctrine that Congress has the power to abolish slavery in the District of Columbia, and his sanction of all the claims of the northern abolitionists, says:

"Ten years ago, Mr. F. gave utterance to these opinions. Those who are aware of the violent stimulus which party passion never fails to give to the mind, will understand how, under such circumstances, he might adopt extreme opinions; opinions which could not receive the sanction of his calmer judgment; opinions which time would undoubtedly modify, and which calm reflection might change altogether. Entertaining, in common with all Northern men of all parties, an, utopian, fo, slavery, driven in with his very first breath, it was but natural, that, goaded by the excitement of an odious contest, he should have flown to extremes."

It is this matter of flying to extremes that the Democracy have ever avoided, and ever condemned; and they have been equally chary of holding communication with, or sustaining, those who have held such extreme opinions. The calm, philosophical mind of a statesman, is never found to run to such an extreme as this. True, Mr. Fillmore was ten years younger than he now is; but he was then "of age, and able to speak for himself." He was, moreover, considered old enough, and of sufficiently sound mind, to represent his fellow-citizens in Congress; and in this capacity he would be called upon to legislate—not for the narrow-minded "Whigs" of New York, but for the United States; in accordance with our glorious Constitution. The views which he then held, were avowedly in exact accordance with those of the fanatics, who would then have fired the beautiful edifice that our fathers reared; the hope of the world for all time; and who are ready at this moment to perform the same office, if they can by any means control the government.

But mys, again, the editor of the "Whig," "There is every reason to believe, that whatever Mr. F. may have said on the spur of the occasion, when he had not even time to reply at large to the questions addressed to him, his deliberate judgment did not bear out his hasty declarations." To this we would reply, that there is no reason whatever for believing, that Mr. Fillmore is any more sound now, on the subject of the great constitutional rights of the South, —and consequently of the whole country—than he was ten years ago. He is still in communion with the party who then sustained him: and that party is now, as it has ever been, disposed to sanction any thing, even at the hazard of the Constitution, and the Union itself, that shall seem to promise to it a temporary triumph. But let us see what were Mr. Fillmore's sentiments in 1838—ten years ago. The following letter explains its own origin; and fully develops the political principles of the south, at that time:

BUFFALO, Oct. 17, 1838.

Sir: Your communication of the 15th instant, as Chairman of a committee appointed by "THE ANTI-SLAVERY SOCIETY OF THE COUNTY OF ERIE," has just come to hand. You solicit my answer to the following interrogatories:

1st. Do you believe that petitions to Congress on the subject of slavery and the slave trade, ought to be received, read, and respectfully considered by the representatives of the people?

2d. Are you opposed to the annexation of Texas to this Union, under any circumstances, so long as slaves are held therein?

3d. Are you in favor of Congress exercising all the constitutional power it possesses to abolish the internal slave-trade between the States?

4th. Are you in favor of immediate legislation for the abolition of slavery in the District of Columbia?

I am much engaged, and have no time to enter into an argument, or to explain at length my reasons for my opinions. I shall therefore content myself, for the present, by answering ALL your interrogatories in the AFFIRMATIVE; and leave for some future occasion a more extended discussion on the subject.

MILLARD FILLMORE.

These questions, it will be perceived, are ALL answered in the affirmative, without hesitation, and without qualification. These opinions, (which his southern apologist pronounces a hasty declaration,) in the support of which he would have given reasons, but for his other engagements, have been recently affirmed by Mr. Fillmore, in a letter to Mr. Gayle, of Alabama. It says, "I have entertained no other sentiments on this subject, since I examined it sufficiently to form an opinion; and I doubt not that all my acts, public and private, will be found in accordance with this view." The letter is dated on the 31st of July, 1848; and in it, Mr. F. does not profess in any particular to have changed his opinions. It is true, he does not tell his friend that he is still willing to take the first step in Congress, towards legislating about slavery in the States, by immediately abolishing it in the District of Columbia; but he affirms his unchanged convictions in relation to the pretended right of petition. He says:

"While I was in Congress, there was much agitation on the right of petition. My votes will doubtless be found recorded uniformly in favor of it. The rule upon which I acted was, that every citizen presenting a respectful petition to the body that by the constitution, had the power to grant or refuse the prayer of it, was entitled to be heard; and therefore the petition ought to be received and considered. If right and reasonable, the prayer of it should be granted; but if wrong or unreasonable, it should be denied. I think all my votes, whether on the reception of petitions or, consideration of resolutions, WILL BE FOUND CONSISTENT WITH THIS RULE."

Mr. Fillmore here recognizes no limitation to the objects about which "every citizen" has a right to petition Congress; and the duty of that body is of course recognized as co-extensive with the right of the citizen: for it cannot be denied that if the right exists on the one part, there is an equal weight of duty on the other—rights and duties, under a democratic republican form of government, running exactly parallel, and operating co-extensively. Such a view of the nature of our government, as that entertained by Mr. Fillmore, has long been the prevailing one in the various ramifications of the great party opposed to our democratic administrations. That party has ever contended for a latitude of construction, that would make our Constitution the mere creature of a temporary political triumph. It still, through its favorite champion, (Gen. Taylor,) recognizes even a factious sectional ebullition, as above the Constitution; and professes the disposition to regard that as paramount.

Against such views, the Democracy have always been arrayed: against such construction of the Constitution of the United States, as will sanction every fanatical movement that may be made, they are now contending; and ever will contend;—and when the enlightened reason of the country shall become satisfied, that some other and different plan of government, than that framed by our fathers, will prove more advantageous—better subserve the great interests of the masses—and make ALL more happy;—then we shall find those masses going forward, zealously and unitedly, to produce such a change in the form of their government, as will accord with their advanced intelligence.

You must be Assessed.

Recollect, that the law requires all, who wish to exercise the dearest, right of freemen—that of voting—to be assessed AT LEAST TEN DAYS BEFORE THE ELECTION. It is better, therefore, that all should attend to this matter, as soon as possible: for the want of a single vote may defeat your favorite candidate. Be assessed, then, immediately.

EUREKA!

Sweet mes when illiterate numskulls find their way into Legislative bodies, they enact laws, the true meaning of which is impossible to be understood. The next session, another set of law makers, a little wiser, set to work and pass explanatory acts," which, in their turn, may be equally as incomprehensible and full of mystification to the first. A subsequent Legislature tries to mend the matter, but only makes things still worse. This system of explaining and expounding has been adopted by the "Whig" candidate for President, in order to secure for himself the confidence and support of that numerous and respectable body lately known by the name of the "Whig party". But every letter From Gen. TAYLOR has only increased the dissatisfaction which has manifested itself against him. The breach has only widened; and at length, the opposition has become so great, and the indignation so intense, that the party, in various sections of the country, has held meetings to nominate HENRY CLAY, the true exponent of Whig principles, as its candidate for the Presidency?

The "Whig" party being in this awful condition, it is found necessary for Gen. Taylor to write still another letter, to reconcile, if possible, the thousands of disappointed "Whigs" throughout the country, who have abandoned him for either Martin Van Buren or Henry Clay.

This latest last letter of Gen. Taylor's has not, as yet, been received by due course of mail; but its contents, in part, have been foreshadowed by the telegraph. The young "Whigs" imagine they have now got the very document they wanted all along,—they cry EUREKA! and shout hosannas to "Old Zack!" But the old coons can't be induced to swallow this sugar coated pill! They see in it nothing to alter their opinions of Gen. Taylor; they consider it the last desperate throw of an ambitious aspirant for the Presidential chair, who is doomed to double defeat!

The Sore Heads and the Federalists.

The attempt made in the recent Abolition or "Free Soil" Convention, in this city, to transfer the new "Barnburner" organization over to the Federalists, sans ceremonie, has had the effect of disgusting a large number of honest, but deluded men, who at first felt inclined to favor the notions of that ridiculous faction. JOHN A. WILLS, Esq., who has always been a prominent and consistent Abolitionist, proposed that the Free Soilers should support the Federal State and County ticket, because the nominees of that party professed to be favorable to their measures. His proposition was favorably received by a large number of the "one idea" factions; but by far some of the "sore heads," who have been literally kicked out of the Whig and Democratic parties, on account of their lack of political honesty, were extremely anxious to make a distinct nomination, in order to place themselves conspicuously before the country as leaders! If they are not allowed to manage the "free dirt" party to suit themselves, these patriots before a year will be either wanting to start another new faction, or try to work their way back into the old parties from which they were ejected. We think it is likely, however, that another attempt to transfer the Barnburners over to the Federalists, will be more successful than the last.—The Federal party is the natural resting place of all the disaffected cliques in the country!

Gen. Taylor's Humanity.

Those who have heretofore been led to doubt the kind and philanthropic disposition of General Taylor—notwithstanding many "a whig, though not an ultra whig," has pronounced him "a hired assassin," "a journey-man throat-cutter," &c.—must now sink all doubts into oblivion; and all who have heretofore opposed him, on the score of his being the owner of NEARLY THREE HUNDRED HUMAN BEINGS; and because he "raises Creole virgins for the hells of New Orleans;" all such as these must now forever hide their heads in ignominious shame; and blush that they, professing to be political friends of his, have ever said or written such vile calumnies respecting a good citizen, and, in his sphere a faithful public servant. Happy should every Democrat feel, that it is not from his party that such vile slanders have emanated. The New York Journal of Commerce, (copying from the Cleveland Herald,) contains the following extract from a letter that is said to have been written by one of Gen. Taylor's family:

"Gen. Taylor also inherited slaves, which he proffered to keep and take care of, and has never sold such as also came to his hands. It so turns, he has some instances purchased slaves, who happened to be connected in marriage with some of his servants, and at their own solicitation, paying in some instances an enormous amount to gratify and make happy these unfortunate negroes."

Among our acquaintances, in different parts of the country, there are many who have been placed in the same condition that it is here said that Gen. Taylor is; men who have inherited many slaves, and who never sold one: Yet these men are among the number of those, upon whom have been heaped the vilest epithets, by the adjuncts of the party, which pretends, now, to have such a sacred regard for the name and fame of Gen. Taylor.

The Veto Power—Whose Power is it? —It is the People's Power.

Mr. BUCHANAN, in a speech delivered in the Senate of the United States in support of the veto power in February, 1842, in reply to Mr. CLAY, against the veto, said:—"In its origin we all know that it was purely Democratic. It owes its existence to a revolt of the people of Rome against the tyrannical decrees of the Senate. They retired from the city to the Sacred Mount, and demanded the rights of freemen. They thus extorted from the aristocratic Senate a decree authorizing them (the people) annually to elect tribunes of the people. On these tribunes was conferred the power of annulling any decree of the Senate, by simply pronouncing the word veto (I forbid.) This very power was the only one by means of which the Democracy of Rome exercised any control over the government of the republic. Now, I would ask the opponents of our constitutional veto power, how is it, that they make it out the "one man power," the monarchical power? The Roman tribune did not originate laws—our President cannot originate laws. The tribune was responsible to the people—our President is responsible to the people. The President is the representative of the majority of the people—"he is the creature of the people—the breath of their nostrils—and on him, as the tribune of the people, they have conferred the veto power."—So said Mr. BUCHANAN; and again he said:

—"But, after all, what is the nature of this qualified veto under the constitution? It is, in fact, but an appeal taken by the President from the decisions of Congress, in a particular case, to the tribunal of the sovereign people of the several States, who are equally the masters of both."

Thaddeus Stevens.

It is stated in the Federal papers east of us, that the great Apostle of Anti-Masonry, Abolitionism, and rascality, (who is now the Federal candidate for Congress in Lancaster county,) has challenged all his opponents to meet him on the stump; and one of them (the Philadelphia News,) says—"Of course no one will care much about making himself the victim of Thad's bitter invective and irresistable sarcasm." This is very probable. Few men are willing to undertake a combat with a "skunk:" and the man who can command no better intellectual weapons than sarcasm and invective, is as likely to pass unmolested, as that most foul animal. It is generally conceded that, "though dogs can bark, and geese hiss, and asses bray;"—and that these are sufficient to intimidate and overcome certain classes of animals;—yet, notwithstanding these facts, men of sense are only to be overcome, in relation to matters of opinion, by sound and logical arguments.

THE TOMB.—Not a case on hand yesterday morning. What a strange city this is. On Wednesday there were a dozen persons in the cells, charged with various offences; on Thursday there were not one!

Respectfully inscribed to the Dem. Glee Club of Pittsburgh.

A NEW SONG FOR 1848.

Air.—"Little Pig's Tale."

Oh! what's the cause of all the bustle, bustle, bustle,
Where'er we go!
It is the mass, who're moving on
For our country's friends—in peace, or war,
No Briton's gold, nor the Aztec's spear,
Could induce to forsake the good cause, cause, cause:
The honest People's cause;—
They ne'er will forsake the good cause.

Bold Cass and Butler are the men, men, men,
Who lead them on.
"Whig" candidates for President, in order to secure for himself the confidence and support of that numerous and respectable body lately known by the name of the "Whig party". But every letter From Gen. TAYLOR has only increased the dissatisfaction which has manifested itself against him. The breach has only widened; and at length, the opposition has become so great, and the indignation so intense, that the party, in various sections of the country, has held meetings to nominate HENRY CLAY, the true exponent of Whig principles, as its candidate for the Presidency?
They whipp'd the British long ago;
And in the war with proud Mexico,
Brave Butler did to the battle go,
While Cass served the country at home, home, home:
Against Mexican, "Whigs!"
Thus Cass served the country at home.

You've heard about the "Slaughter House," house, house,
What "Whigs" did there—
They killed poor Clay and hung themselves;
And then they swore they would shut the door,
"Whig" principles should be heard no more,
Till the White House should hold their man, man, man—
Who must till then keep mum,—
Till the White House should hold their man.

Now all the People saw 'twas clear, clear, clear,
That they'd be fooled,
If they "No-party" trusted so;
And then sprang up the sly, cunning man,
To aid the "Whigs" and "No-party" clan,
With "Free Soil," "Free Niggers," and Van, Van, Van,—
"Van is used up man!"
Any body can beat Martin Van.
And still another sound is borne, borne, borne,
Upon the breeze:—
'Tis that of "Clay—Hurrah for Clay!
He has been killed, but now he's alive;—
And a resurrection we will give:
He goes for "Whig" principles still, still, still;
Yes, Clay is still a "Whig"—
He goes for "Whig" principles still.

Then all good Democrats come on, on, on,—
Our country calls;—
We must be ever firm and true,
We'll be up and doing while we may;
And give to the Van Buren children's play;
But beat them all out at the polls, polls, polls;
Yes, we will defeat them all:
We will beat them all out at the polls.

Then let 's huzza for gallant Cass, Cass, Cass,
And Butler too:
In eighteen forty-eight they go
To the big White House at Washington,
Where the People sent great Jefferson;—
They will faithfully serve us there, there, there,
Till eighteen fifty-three,
They will faithfully serve us there. F.

"The Star that never Sets."

The federal papers are filled with glorification at the result of the recent election in Vermont. They have at length, it seems, found one "green spot" upon which to rest themselves. Defeated in Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Iowa, and Arkansas; nearly defeated in North Carolina, and awfully scared in Kentucky, they turn to Vermont—old federal "blue stocking" Vermont, that never cast a Democratic vote in her life,—and exclaim, "glorious Vermont, —she is the star that never sets!" Verily, federal whiggery must be on its last legs! Since the nomination of Gen. Taylor, the party has been dissolved and broken into pieces, like the crash of a China store! They have become thankful for the smallest favors; and rejoice to excess at the least sign of vitality in the party!

Railroad Receipts.

From an article in the American Railroad Journal, we learn, that the entire amount of business, done on the railroads of our country, during the first seven months of the present year, has been much greater that during the corresponding period of last year. The data afforded, is from the returns of the Western Massachusetts road, the Long Island, the New York and Erie, and the South Carolina railroads. The increase of business upon these roads alone, affords a very sufficient reason for the belief, entertained by many, that the business of our railroads will continue steadily to increase for some years to come. The increase on the South Carolina roads has been at the rate of $0 per cent.

Democratic Meeting in Manchester.

The Democrats of Manchester had a large and most enthusiastic meeting on Wednesday evening, at which the following gentlemen were appointed officers, viz:

President—John Bell.

Vice Presidents—Wm. Evans, David C. Stephenson.

Secretary—John Coulter.

Most stirring and patriotic addresses were made by Col. Sam. W. Black, and Messrs. Magraw and Shannon. The Cass and Butler Glee Club was in attendance, and enlivened the meeting with a number of excellent songs.

August Elections.

The result of the August elections foot up gloriously for the democracy:

Energy.

One of the most remarkable instances of the success which attends well applied energy and perseverance, is exhibited in the case of Dr. DAVID JAYNE, of Philadelphia, with whose advertisements the readers of the Register are familiar. The Doctor, after spending many years of his life in practice, and a careful investigation of the origin and character of diseases, applied himself to the preparation of remedies, and the excellence of the compounds is attested by the grateful thanks of thousands, who have proved the benefits of his skill and scientific knowledge. His are not mere quack nostrums, but preparations resulting from long and careful study, and as they serve, in an eminent degree, the good purposes for which they were intended, success has followed the proprietor's enterprise and labors.—His establishment is now one of the largest in the United States, and besides furnishing every city, town and township in the country with his invaluable medicines, he ships annually immense quantities to foreign lands.

In the prosecution of his plans for bringing his specifics to the notice of the whole people, Dr. Jayne has issued a Family Almanac, containing certificates and testimonials of the highest character. We see it stated in the Germantown Telegraph, that —"last year one million of the Almanacs were published for 1848, and all distributed. This year the demand for 1849 is so great, that two power presses, driven by steam are running day and night with a double set of hands, and are unable to meet the requirements of the public for the Almanacs. Indeed, Messrs. Stavely & McCalla, who do the press work, have found it necessary, to meet the wants of the publisher, to obtain a third power press.—Two Millions and a half of copies will be required for 1849, consuming from twelve to fifteen thousand reams of paper, and incurring an expense at the very small rate of two cents each copy, and we cannot see how they can be furnished at so low a price—of Fifty Thousand dollars!—This is wonderful—exhibiting as it does, one of the most remarkable instances of enterprise on record."

But it must be remembered, that this large sum, which is a fortune of itself—is entirely given away —the whole two million and a half of Almanacs are gratituously given to merchants, store keepers, families and individuals, with a view to their general gratuitous distribution throughout the U. States.

The position of Dr. Jayne is an enviable one—achieving by his own unaided energy, industry and enterprise—drawing largely from an extensive knowledge of medical jurisprudence—and he now stands at the head, of the discoveries of medicines for the million, which have not only been pronounced to be unequalled as remedies, for the diseases severally set apart by the proprietor, &c., but destined to confer upon this human family incalculable benefits, in the form of restored health, and prolonged existence."—Norristown Register.

LOCAL MATTERS.

HORTICULTURAL EXHIBITION.—Owing to bad weather, the exhibition was not as well attended yesterday as was expected. But still the attendance was sufficient to encourage the members of the society into the belief that their efforts are appreciated. We do not mean to notice particularly the beautiful productions of nature that are there presented, as we learn that a resolution of the society discouraged such publications, fearing that injustice may be done. But we can not resist noticing the Peaches exhibited by Mr. Geo. Shiras, of Beaver. Such monsters we never saw nor heard of. Mr. S. should be immortalized for the skill he has displayed in foreing into existence such magnificent fruit. We wish it was the custom in this country to select for candidates for high offices men who distinguish themselves in such works, instead of taking men from battle fields. We might be tempted to support Shiras for the Presidency. But we must not be invidious. There are other specimens of fruits that are admirable. The vegetables are really attractive. Those Egg Plants are great, indeed; we say the same of the few stalks of Pie Plant. There are some works there which exhibit great artistical taste; we refer to the Cornucopia, a Cottage, and another building that may, we presume, be called a Palace.

We hope our citizens will not neglect to attend to-day, as this is the last opportunity they will have of seeing what horticulturists and farmers of this county can do.

FALSE PRETENCES.—A young blood from Baltimore got himself into a woful scrape on Wednesday. He is one of the sphurgers; a young fellow who has been well raised so far as wealth is concerned, but in morals his education has been like that of a great majority of the sons of wealthy parents. It appears that he has been in the city for some time; but his last stopping place was at the Exchange. There he took the best rooms; talked extravagantly of his connexions; and of his extensive business. He exhibited letters of introduction to merchants of this city, and to James Parke & Co., particularly. On Wednesday morning he called for two bottles of champagne, which were sent to his room. As is the custom, he was required to pay for the wine; but he objected to paying until the time of his departure. The landlord insisted upon a compliance with the rules of the house. Mr. S. G. Hays (this is the name) gave him an order upon Parke & Co., who, on precautation, stated that they would not trust the young man. Information was at once made before Ald. Steele, and Hagge arrested Hays, who, after examination, was fully committed.

It is said that the unfortunate fellow is the son of a respectable gentleman of Baltimore, who has been discarded by his father on account of his profligacy. He is about twenty-one years of age, and decidedly foppish in his dress and manners.

PRIZE BANNER CONVENTION.—There will doubtless be great times in town to-day. The Sons of Temperance hold their Grand Convention. A magnificent Banner is to be presented to the Lodge that sends the greatest number of Delegates. We understand that all the Lodges west of the mountains are struggling to take it, and nearly all have hopes of success. To the Lodge, in the county, that sends the longest list of Delegates, a beautiful Medal will be presented. We saw it yesterday. On one side is this inscription:

"PRIZE MEDAL. Presented by the Sons of Temperance to ——, being the Division turning out the largest number, in proportion to every honse they enter. Every family the Prize Banner Convention, held in Pittsburgh, Septe aber 15, 1848."

On the other side, in a raised figure of gold, the emblem of the Order, in which is inscribed, "LOVE, PURITY, FIDELITY."

The following is the route of Procession to-day: The various Divisions will assemble on Liberty street; the right resting on Fourth. Procession will move at 11 o'clock, A. M. up Liberty, to St. Clair, down St. Clair to Allegheny, proceed over Bridge, and up Federal to Ohio, up Ohio to Cedar, down Cedar to Hand street Bridge, over Bridge and up Hand to Penn, up Penn to Walnut, up Walnut to Liberty, down Liberty to Smithfield, down Smithfield to Monongahela Bridge, over said Bridge, and thence via Turnpike to Sugar Tree Grove at the Borough of Birmingham.

LARCENY AND FALSE PRETENCES.—On Wednesday, officer Hague arrested a German, who gave his name as D. Borg, on a charge of stealing forty dollars from a young man, in a tavern on Smithfield st. About twenty dollars were recovered, and given to the owner. Several complaints have been urged against the same person, for false representations upon which he has obtained credit. He has stated that he was a Captain, just returned from Mexico. It is also said that he is an old offender, and was in the Penitentiary, some years ago, for robbing Dr. Gross of some jewelry. He was committed for further hearing.

"THE WILDERNESS."—This work, by Dr. McHenry, will be out on Saturday morning, when the great desire to see it may be gratified by calling at Morse's Literary Depot. It is a work for which publishers, in the United States, have offered large sums, without being able to obtain it. By some means, Mr. Morse has obtained the right to it, through the original purchaser of the copyright. Literary men, who have read it, pronounce it to be a work of great interest; and we know it is, from the great excitement that has existed, in relation to it, since it was first announced that it would be published here.

SUICIDE.—Coroner Richardson yesterday morning held an inquest upon the body of a woman named Nancy Adams, who committed suicide by hanging herself, on Wednesday evening. While her husband and a son were in the city, the unfortunate woman, while laboring under a fit of insanity, went into the weaver's shop, took a cord from one of the looms, with which she hung herself to the ceiling. One foot touched the floor, and the other was up about two inches.

She leaves a husband and seven children. They live at the head of Butcher's Run, about three miles back of Allegheny.

ONE THEM GIRLS.—Two young girls appeared before the Mayor, yesterday morning, and charged another, of the same sex, with disorderly conduct towards them, which gave them great uneasiness. Officer Scott was sent for the fair offender; who, after making her statement, was permitted to go, with the infliction of a small fine. The parties belong to the Point.

☞ The toasts and proceedings of the supper given by the Allegheny Fire Company to their respective brethren from the Queen City, was handed in too late for to-day's paper. They will appear to-morrow.

DEATH IN A WELL.—Two men, named Sproule and Graham, on yesterday, went into a well in the Fifth ward, for the purpose of cleaning it out. Both were poisoned by the foul air, and Mr. Sproule died instantly. Mr. Graham was brought up, and recovered.

The Coroner held an inquest, and reported as above.

☞ The Coal Diggers are still standing out for higher wages.

Married.

On Thursday evening, September 14th, 1848, by Rev. Dr. Pressly, Mr. ALEXANDER SCOTT, of Allegheny city, to Mrs. LYDIA THOMPSON, of this city.

☞ To Mourners.—The difficulty which every mother experiences in administering medicine to infants, is entirely obviated by Dr. Chickener's preparation, called the Sugar Coated Vegetable Purgative Pills. The Pills encrusted with fine white sugar, so that it resembles and tastes like a sugar plum, which no child ever yet refused to swallow. For Worms this is an assured remedy, and it has been used with excellent effect in cases of teething. The matron of the Farm School writes to Dr. Chickener, that she has used for sometime, his Sugar Coated Pill in both these complaints, and always with entire success.

☞ Sold by WM. JACKSON, Gen. Agent, 89 Liberty street, Pittsburgh.

A MEAN STATE.—The State of Delaware, we have often remarked, is one of those disgraceful places in which women are publicly whipped, by law, at the pillory, and men put into prison for being poor! We see that lately Chief Justice Benedict, of Liberia, was arrested a few days ago and put into prison at New Castle, Del., at the suit of a person named Tyson, from New York, for a debt. A number of the citizens of New Castle, by going his bail secured his release in time for him to take his departure for Liberia. We pity the people who live in a State so barbarous.

☞ I. O. of O. F.—ANCHORA LODGE, No. 229, of the I. O. of O. F., meets at their Hall, corner of Fourth and Market streets, every Wednesday evening, at 7 o'clock, precisely. By order,

☞ Goodson & Clark, of Bellevue, Ohio, November 23d, 1846, sent a letter to Dr. G. C. Vaughn, the proprietor of the celebrated Lithontriptic Mixture, the Great American Remedy, with a statement that in the vicinity or Ohio where they do business, the article has had unprecedented sales. Nothing like it has ever appeared. People resort to it for all complaints, and its effect is always good. Old cases, which have baffled the skill of medical men, have yielded to it, and the faculty are using it in their practice. A large number of medical men are agents for its sale—a strong proof of the great virtues of the article. ☞ PILES.—This distressing complaint proceeds from a want of proper evacuation of the bowels. The foul humors, instead of being thoroughly expelled from the body, are but partially so; a portion being left as it were at the threshhold, is the cause of that vexatious complaint called Piles; and is frequently neglected, until it ripens into a more horrid form of disease called Fistula. Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills, of the "North American College of Health," are a true and assured remedy for the above complaint, because they effectuly cleanse the body from those morbid humors which are not only the cause of Piles, but of every malady incident to man.

Beware! Counterfits and Imitations.—Remember that the Original and Only Genuine Indian Vegetable Pills have the written signature of WILLIAM WRIGHT on the top label of each box.

Remember, also, that Messrs. Feuchtwanger & Co., of New York; Jas. S. Glascoe & Co., at Cincinnati; and J. R. Wilder & Co., of Louisville, are not agents for this medicine, and we cannot guarantee the genuineness of any that may be offered by them for sale.

The genuine is for sale at Dr. Wright's Principal Office, 160 Race street, Philadelphia; and by JOHN THOMPSON, 126 Liberty street, Pittsburgh, Pa., who is sole agent for this city, by whom dealers can be supplied at the wholesale rate. sep14

DR. CLICKENER'S SUGAR COATED VEGETABLE EXTRACT PILLS. These selected Pills have obtained an enviable notoriety in the United States, as a safe preventative for Giddiness, Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Headache, Fevers, Flatulency, Coughs, Heart burn, Liver Complaint, Scurvy, Sore Throat, Inward Weakness, Palpitation of the Heart, Indigestion, and a variety of other diseases to which flesh is heir to, as a medicine for the million. In all seasons of the year,—Spring, summer, autumn, and winter—under all circumstances, they can be taken with perfect safety and success. As a Vermifuge and general medicine for children, they are unrivalled. Being coated with pure white sugar, children will easily take them; they neither gripe nor nauseate, are gentle, but thorough in their operation. For adults, by increasing the dose, they are equally beneficial. As an Anti-Bilious Pill they will be found without a superior. Ask any one, among the thousands who use them, and an unqualified approval will be the certain result.

Remember Dr. C. C. Clickener is the original inventor of Sugar Coated Pills, and that nothing of the sort was ever heard of until he introduced them in June, 1839. Purchasers should, therefore, always ask for Clickener's Sugar Coated Vegetable Pills, and take no others, or they will be under the victims of fraud.

Price, 25 cents per box.

Dr. Clickener's principal office for the sale of Pills, is at No. 67 Seventh st., N. Y.
