PITTSBURGH:
SATURDAY MORNING, SEPT'R. 16, 1848.

EAST LIBERTY MEETING.

Cass, Butler, Longstreth, Black, and Victory.

A meeting of the Democratic Citizens of Peebles township, will be held on Monday evening next, the 18th inst., at 7 o'clock, at the Public School House in East Liberty. Friends in neighboring districts are invited to attend.

Speeches may be expected from Col. S. W. Black, Wilson McCandless, Esq., Gen. J. K. Mothead, J. S. Craft, H. S. Magraw, P. C. Shannon, T. Sawyer, Esqs., and other distinguished democrats.

By order of Committee.

Whig Learning and Intelligence.

From the Gazette we learn, that "a large and spirited meeting of the Whigs" was held at McKeesport, on the 12th, which was rendered very attractive by the eloquence of Messrs. Darsie and Hampton. The meeting adopted a preamble and resolutions, asserting that "the Constitution declares Congress shall be the war making power;" and "the Whig party has, from the days of Jefferson down to the present time, taken a firm stand against consolidation of power in the Executive."

These learned expounders of the Constitution, and of political history, must surely have been taking lessons from either Moses Hampton or Andy Stewart. The Constitution declares no such thing. The language of that instrument is, that Congress shall have the power to "declare" war; but the recognition of Congress as the war-making power is no where to be found in the Constitution; and seem to have been carefully excluded from it by its framers. Statesmen have clearly pointed out the difference between these two powers in the government; but it could scarcely be expected that those who are willing to make the Constitution any thing, or nothing, as may best suit their purpose, should even state truly what are the doctrines actually derivable from that instrument.

The "Whigs," ever since the days of Jefferson! Why that immortal statesman never heard the name; as applied to those who now oppose the Democracy. He was taken, (by Him who gave him as a potential redeemer to man,) beyond the reach of those who had always opposed him and his measures, long before they "stole the livery of Heaven to serve the devil in," by adopting the name of Whig. Those who were always in favor of consolidation; who always opposed Jefferson; and from whom the "Whigs" are lineally descended; were first known as "monarchists," then as Anti-Federalists, then as Federalists, then as National Republicans; and since 1830, (ten years after the death of Mr. Jefferson,) they have CALLED THEMSELVES Whigs.

Col. Black.

This enthusiastic and whole souled Democrat, is making hosts of friends wherever he goes. Honest men of all parties are rallying in his support. Messrs. Hampton, the double-dealing, time-serving, hypocritical demagogue, cannot secure a respectable audience, in point of numbers, in any part of the county. His vote upon the Ashmun amendment, coupled with his resolutions to annex Mexico to the United States, long before the war was terminated, have alienated the great mass of the Whigs of this county from his support. Hundreds of whigs will vote for him merely because he has been forced upon them as their candidate, and they do not wish to break up their organization. Hampton might utter mournful harrangues from this time until doomsday, and he would not make a convert to whiggery. His words come from a cold and hollow heart, and they fall from his lips as a voice from the dead! Alas, poor "Mournful Moses!"

Wm. C. Rives' Opinion of Gen. Cass.

This gentleman is now a candidate for Elector of President and Vice President in Virginia. He is a man of the highest order of talents; and having filled the post of Senator of the United States, as well as that of ambassador to a foreign court, he must be that of ambassador to a foreign court, he must be presumed to be a good judge of the qualifications of others for offices of similar character. Mr. Rives was esteemed, but a few years since, one of the ablest advocates of the Democratic party. He proved, however, inadequate to the crisis that arrived in 1836—7; and has become thoroughly identified, since that time with the opposition. This fact, however, did not prevent him from coming forward to defend LEWIS CASS, at a time when all the ultra Federalists of the country, with Daniel Webster at their head, were assailing him. The communication from which this tribute is extracted appeared in the Washington Globe of May 22d, 1843. In addition to this able tribute, he pronounced Gen. Cass to be "one of the most able and accomplished ministers and jurists of which any country can boast."

The following is the extract referred to:—

"The value of his services to his own country it were difficult to appreciate, even by any approximate standard. Had Gen. Cass performed no more than to have secured, by the ratification of France, (and consummated by the same act,) the principle that it was not, was owing especially to the timely and spirited interposition of General Cass, who, by the authority of Lord Palmerston, in his late debate in the House of Commons, and of Lord Brougham, (for saying, Great Britain would have been so flushed with the success of her projects, and so emboldened in the pursuits of her long cherished aim of undisputed supremacy on the ocean, that America would have had no alternative but war of submission on the great question of maritime rights, on which she has staked her character and fortunes. Submission is a word not found in the vocabulary of American patriotism. War, then, with the greatest maritime power of the world, would have been inevitable—and with the alliance of all Europe secured to her beforehand, to back and sustain her in the conflict. By the bold and skilful efforts of General Cass in averting the ratification of the treaty, France was detached from the menacing and formidable Anglo-European confederacy, and restored to her natural and ancient relations of cordial co-operation with the United States in defending the liberty of the seas. This at once gave England pause; and by consequence, to the side of the United States the preponderating, to the side of the United States the peaceful ally which had been detached from her, enforced upon her councils the necessity of peace with America."

More Loose Screws.

The Jackson Advertiser, heretofore one of the leading "whig" papers of the State of Michigan, has repudiated Taylor, and now goes for Van Buren, the "MASSACHUSETTS WHIG," as he is styled by the Anti-Taylor Federalists in the Old Bay State. The editor has written a strong article, defining his position, which concludes as follows:

"Surely, we are not so weak as to reason further on this old General is a Whig and a candidate of the whig party. We can offer no apology for his course—he repudiates the whig party, we repudiate him. Veteran whigs of Michigan, are we wrong? It has ever been one of the great principles of the whig party to oppose the extension of slavery—we cherish it still; and at a time, too, when prompt and decisive action on the part of freemen, is imperatively called for, to save the liberties of our country. We dare not deviate from duty. We shall cast our mite into the scale of humanity, and let it weigh so far as possible in favor of freedom and truly republican institutions."

We have care fully examined the resolutions of the Buffalo convention, and most heartily subscribe to them. They may be found in another column. We ask a candid perusal—and tell us, our patrons, are they not good whig democratic republican doctrines?

And here is another turn over and overthrow. The Western Ads states that the Seneca County Convention, which had kicked against the Taylor nomination, and was purchased from the proprietors by the Taylor men, was sold back again at a large sacrifice, by its new owners, as soon as they heard of the Tayor letter entering into the South Carolina arrangement with Butler.

Verily, Taylor's letters are uniting the Whig party—in opposition to their author.

The Genuine "Whig" Ticket.

It is now generally believed that the whigs will not nominate a genuine whig ticket, to be supported by them, and throw Taylor overboard, as unworthy of confidence. We presume Henry Clay and John M. Botts, will be the candidates for President and Vice President.

Foreign News.

We have failed to obtain telegraphic statements of the most important news, but find it announced in some of the city papers that the Steamship Europa arrived at New York on the 14th, bringing later intelligence from Europe. There is a slight reduction in the price of Grain, and also in that of Cotton.

Every thing was quiet in Ireland.—Arrests of Chartists were frequently made in England. In France warrants had been issued for the arrest of Gen. Cavaignac, Ledru Rollin, and Louis Blanc.

The latter had sailed for England.

The details will be received by mail in a day or two; when we shall select all that is most interesting, to present to our readers.

E. Burke Fisher.

Our city readers all remember E. Burke Fisher, who figured here a few years since, as the Editor of the Saturday Visiter. Since then he has been residing on the Western Reserve, in Ohio, and taking a conspicuous part in politics, as a whig stumper, Editor and ballad writer. Like most of the "Whigs" on the Reserve, he cannot swallow Taylorism.—Read what he says of Tom Corwin, who is now making Taylor speeches in Ohio:

"THOMAS CORWIN.—Pained as we are in recording it as one of the great shames with which history is sometimes unfortunately ever disgraced, that the man whom Ohio delighted to honor, is thoroughly sold to slavery extension.

"A friend sends us the latest 'notice of sale' of the great, apostle, and we purpose in our next to take it up by sections and give it the benefit of a parael position with his speeches on the stump and in the American Senate."

"TOM, CORWIN and TAYLOR!—The Mordecai of Ohio and the HAMAN of Louisiana!! Ye Gods!!!"

John Van Buren.

This compound of wit, talent and impudence, says good things sometimes. In his late speech at Philadelphia, he spoke as follows, in regard to the Taylor enthusiasm:

"He regarded the nomination of Gen. Taylor as a total failure. The enthusiasm which was supposed to be in existence has never had existence, and he who would undertake to get up an excitement, would have a narrow escape of being indicted as a resurrectionist." [Roars of laughter.]

The resurrectionizing of a shadowy, immaterial thing, which "never had an existence," we reckon, would hardly support an indictment.

Hear the Poughkeepsie Whigs.

A large Whig meeting at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., since the acceptance by Gen. TAYLOR, of the BUTLER-PRINGLE nomination, passed the following resolution:

"Resolved, That we view with indignation and alarm the efforts of treacherous demagogues and slaveholders in various places to sacrifice the integrity of the Whig party and the Whig party itself, by carrying it off the old and time-honored platform, and converting it into a personal party; that it is our duty to resist such inconvenient to the last, and that we will yield to such enemies of principle, or abandon the great issues for which whigs have always contended.

Westmoreland and Somerset.

We learn from the Greensburgh Republican of the 15th, that the Senatorial Conferees of Westmoreland and Somerset counties, at their meeting, on Monday last, nominated, ISAAC HUGHES, Esq., of Somerset, as the Democratic candidate for Senator, in that district. Mr. H. is spoken of as a gentleman of fine abilities, sterling integrity and a most thorough going Democrat.

Hon. Morris Longstreth.

The nomination of this distinguished gentleman, as the Democratic candidate for Governor, has been hailed throughout the State, by the presses, and great masses of the Democracy, with feelings of unbounded satisfaction. There is not the slightest opposition to his election in any quarter. UNION and HARMONY exist in our ranks every where. The Democracy of the Old Keystone will roll up a tremendous majority for the honest farmer of Montgomery.

NEWS FROM GEN. TAYLOR.—We are informed that a gentleman of this county, who lately had an interview with TAYLOR, reports that the General was in any thing but a good humor with his "ultra whigs." The old hero thinks they have treated him villainously. They first wished him to come out as an independent no-party candidate, and he complied with their request. This enraged the "ultra whigs." To gratify the latter class, he then accepted of an exclusive federal nomination; and this incensed the no-party party. He next consented to throw Fillmore overboard, and ran on the same ticket with Butler, to gratify the wishes of the South Carolina slaveholders; but this only raised a storm amongst the abolition whigs of New York. Although he has endeavored to accommodate every body, he appears to have satisfied nobody! It is no wonder he is in a bad humor. His better course is to quit politics altogether, and attend to his negroes. It will save him a great deal of vexation.

GENERAL TAYLOR.—The Louisville Courier says:

"We have the very best authority for stating that Gen. Taylor does not expect to visit Louisville for several months at least. He will not in all probability be here until he passes on to Washington city, to take possession of the White House."

☞ Then Gen. Taylor will never honor Louisville with a visit. The People have engaged the White House for the brave old volunteer, LEWIS CASS, who if he lives, will be inaugurated President of the United States, on the 4th of March, 1849. The Courier may rely upon this information.

☞ The Gazette makes reference to the "pretty enthusiastic" meeting of our political friends at Manchester, on Wednesday evening last. "The Glee Club made a tremendous noise; whether it could be called music we cannot determine; some of the neighbors called it a horrid din." The Democratic Glee Club do not ask the refined editors of the Gazette to commend either their songs, or their manner of singing; and they promise, not only them, but all their very sensitive "neighbors," that they will hear what they will think a much more "horrid din" after the seventh of November next!

☞ B. WHITE, Esq., of Cleveland, has announced himself as an independent candidate for Congress, in that district. Giddings, the present member, has been re-nominated, but is running as a Free-Soil-Abolition-Van-Buren-Anti-Taylor Whig! It is thought that the Democracy will nominate Judge Wood, who will doubtless be elected, should the opposition harmony continue.

PHILADELPHIA COUNTY.—The following gentlemen have been nominated by the Democrats of Philadelphia county, as their candidate, for Congress:

1st. District—THOMAS B. FLORENCE.
IId " JAMES C. VANDYKE.
IIId " WM. S. HALLOWELL.
IVth " JOHN ROBBINS, jr.

☞ The last Crawford Democrat contains the proceedings of the meeting of the Conferees, at which JAMES E. M'FARLAND, Esq., the Editor of that paper, was nominated for Congress. In consequence of this nomination, Mr. M'Farland has vacated the tripod, and the place has been filled by our excellent friend, Wm. H. DAVIS, Esq., the Presidential Elector for the District. Mr. Davis is a polished writer, and is, moreover, one of the finest fellows on earth. Mr. M'Farland will be elected, and we trust Davis will be his successor.

☞ THE VAN BUREN WHIG PLATFORM.—After copying the Buffalo Platform, the Albany Evening Journal remarks:

"This is indeed a goodly platform. It is one upon which we have been standing for many years."

Mr. Van Buren cordially and fully adopted this "goodly (whig) platform," yet the whig papers are abusing those whigs who support Mr. Van Buren in preference to Gen. Taylor, who says he ain't a whig candidate and won't adopt or pledge himself to any whig platform or principle.—Lou. Democrat.

Allegheny Supper.

The members of the Allegheny fire company of this city entertained with a splendid Supper the Washington No. 1, of Cincinnati, on Wednesday evening last. The repast, although got up in haste, was most tastefully arranged by that prince of caterers, Andrews of the Eagle Saloon.

About two hundred sat down at about 12 o'clock to partake of the good things spread before them. At about 3 o'clock the company rose. The Pittsburghers escorted the Cincinnatians to the boat on which they took their departure for home. Our city's guests were a noble set of fellows, who have pleased all who have had the pleasure of their acquaintance; and of them it can be truly said that they possess "kind true hearts and spirits high."

We give the proceedings as they were handed in. After the removal of the cloth, the following officers were announced:

President: Capt. M. P. TAYLOR.
Vice Presidents: Col. S. W. BLACK,
EDWARD GREGG, Esq.,
P. C. SHANNON, Esq.
H. S. MAGRAW, Esq.
CHAS. S. PORTER, Esq.
JAMES MELVILLE, Esq.

Secretaries: Robert H. Kerr,
D. J. L. H. Smith,
H. Chignell,
Charles Pierce,
Joseph Manley.

The Secretaries then proceeded to read the Regular Toasts:

1. Our Guests; Noble representatives of the Queen City. They would extinguish any thing sooner than the fire of our affection that will burn on but never burn out.

2. The Ohio River: An old friend of the Pittsburg Firemen jealous of our Cincinnati rivals, it tried to throw off the water," as the only means of preventing their progress of honor and conquest.

3. The Allegheny River: It divides the firemen of the two cities; but is ever a bond of union for the public good.

4. The Union of Firemen: One object unites them. He that introduces disunion is an incendiary whom good firemen should despise and be bound to "put out."

5. The Washington Fire Company: Distinguished for their energy in extinguishing fires, may their career be as placid as water, pure as snow, and as smoothe as ice. We hail their visit to the Iron City with showers of pleasure.

6. The Pittsburgh Firemen: Always about when the bell rings. May their arduous duties in protecting the lives and property of the citizens be rewarded as justice demands, at public cost, by suitable appropriations by the city authorities.

7. Captain Taylor, (of the Washington.) A worthy commander of a worthy company, and a man every way worthy of the worthy city he hails from.

8. The Old Firemen of the Revolution: They exhibited their devotion to American property by extinguishing British fires.

9. Washington, Hancock and Jackson: A trio unequalled. Every good fireman would "down on them" that dare speak evil of them.

10. The Firemen of the Queen City: By their exertions to-day they showed themselves ready whether at home or abroad to protect the property of their fellow citizens.

11. The apparatus of the Washington Fire Company: Attested by all their unrivalled mechanics.

12. Our own Fire Companies: Prompt and energetic, composed of the sterling worth of our population, the willing sons of America.

13. Women and Love: The only fire our apparatus cannot extinguish. "Woman's on her, boys."

By a Guest. The Cincinnati Band: Gentlemen whose music hath inspired us with feelings of delight. May they never "blow out."

By Jacob Horner, one of the Members of the No. 1: Success to the Washington No. 1 in perseverance, No. 1 in activity at fires, and not slow at a supper.

By the Uncle Sam. The Allegheny Fire Company: We know that Pittsburgh Firemen would share with us in doing honor to our guests. There are more worthy of the glory, nor with whom we would rather share, than the old Allegheny.

By the Allegheny Company. We appreciate the good wishes of "Uncle Sam," always ready to extend to him the pure stream of friendship to our Firemen.

By M. Duffy. The Fire Department: No selfish motives actuate its members. Its objects are humane, charitable and benolent. Let every good citizen lend a helping hand.

By P. C. Shannon. The Washington Fire Company: We welcome them to our cities, and rejoice in the occasion which gives us an opportunity of testifying them by the hand. The Queen City should be proud of them.

By the Duquesne Band. Capt. Taylor of the Washington: An efficient and popular officer, and an estimable citizen. May the great ALARM-BELL ring, and Time has fully stretched out his "mortal coil," his memory will be cherished.

This sentiment was referred to by the Captain in a stream of eloquence.

By a Guest. The Washington Fire Company of Cincinnati: In the language of an ancient Irish Philosopher, may they all be in Heaven six months before the devil knows they are dead.

By T. Jones. The Cincinnati Firemen: When the destructive element is consuming the property of their fellow-citizens, they can never "hold their water."

By L. Newhouse. The two Washingtons: They will never be divided by such Alleguenys as present themselves before us to night. The current of such streams must strengthen the bonds of friendship as long as an Uncle Sam remains to aid them.

By the Washington Fire Company. The President of Allegheny Fire Company: One of our entertainers. One of Pittsburghs most worthy citizens, and the true friend of the firemen.

The Real Bengal Fire. The burning of Hindoo widows on the funeral pile. The Hindoo ladies know nothing of the Reel and had no correct appreciation of "hose."

By H. Ceigel. The Firemen of Cincinnatic Like Cincinnatians of old, they are always ready to serve their country.

By JAS. SPEER. Washington fire Co. Cincinnatia: Though from down the river they can never be down in the mouth while up at Pittsburgh.

By J. W. Black. The Firemen, a good name: The only thing which "written in water" will last for ever.

By a guest. May all of U. S. follow in the footsteps of our immortal Washington.

By. H. Chignell. The Washington Fire Co.: We gave them an attachment of water to day and we hereby tender them a stronger one, namely, our hearts.

Sec. Uncle Sam Fire Co. Washington No. 1: We hailed them with pleasure, because they do homage on the shrine of humanity, we part with them as friends endeared to us by example and in heart.

By a Fireman of the Allegheny. Our Gov. Porter: The purest and best of men; may he ever be greeted with such a pleasure from "Crowded House"—when he holds the Stage!

By J. Oliver. Col. Black: A true and tried specimen of a Pittsburgh Fireman; every where, even Mexican fire cannot burn our young hero.

By R. N. Pringle. J. Dunn Esq. of the Theatre: A star of the first magnitude every thing done by him is well done—and may he never get "with us."

Mr. H. Chignell Sec. Dear Sir: I regret that my engagements, preparing for the Supreme Court now in session, will prevent me from joining with the Old Allegheny, in doing proper honor to our Cincinnati friends. Yours truly,
WILSON McCANDLESS.

Sept. 13 1848.

By the Company. Col. McCandless: A member of the old Allegheny, health and happiness attend him—in and out of court in all his pursuits.

By Wm. Woods. The Fire Department of our cities: Worthy of all commendations. When danger is near, it is then they show their bravery.

By W. C. M'Carthy. True Firemen can "put out" any fire—but the fire of the "Ten Hour System," that burns brighter the more it is stirred.

By R. H. Kerr, (Secretary.) FIREMEN: The right arm of the Protective System—the prosperity of the country—the labor of the People.

The following was adopted "nem. con."

Resolved, That the proceedings be published in our papers,—and that a copy be forwarde, by the Secretaries to our worthy guests of the Queen City.

By the Committee. Our host and hostess of the Eagle: May their flight to prosperity continue "onward;" they deserve the patronage of Firemen.

On motion adjourned, with Nine cheers for the Washington No. 1.

Sale of Valuable Building Lots.

Gregg's great sale of Lots will come off on Monday next, at 10 o'clock, A. M., at the Toll House of the Birmingham Turnpike, near the South end of the Monongahela bridge. These lots are very valuable, and we have no doubt but that they will go off freely, at high prices.

☞ Especial attention is again invited to the Catalogue Sale of valuable English Books, to take place this evening, and Monday evening, at the auction rooms of John D. Davis.

☞ The Fruits and Vegetables presented to the Horticultural Society, will be sold by Aucrion, at Philo Hall, on (this day) Saturday the 16th inst. commencing at 9 o'clock.

"The Wilderness."

This delightful Tale was placed on our table yesterday, by the publisher, M. P. MOYSE, Esq. It is only necessary for the reading public to know the fact that it has been issued, in order to insure a crowd at No. 85, Fourth street. The typographical department is creditable to Mr. Kennedy. As every body will purchase a copy, it is altogether unnecessary for us to say a single word in commendation of this great work of Dr. M'Henry.

☞ The Sons of Temperance made a beautiful appearance yesterday while in procession; so say those who witnessed the entire length; for we saw but a detachment. Upwards of 1500 members of the order appeared in regalia; and the ceremonies in all respects, were conducted as the published programme directed. The Divisions of the West were generally represented. From the Monongahela country and the counties east of us along the canal, there were large numbers.

The Prize Banner was taken by the Division of Indiana, Indiana county, Pa.

The Medal was won by the Alaquippa Division of Birmingham.

All who have seen the Banner, pronounce it a splendid specimen of art. It was painted by Mr. C. WALL, of this city. It's estimated worth is $200.

THE TOMB.—Four of the depressed and degraded of this world's inhabitants were brought forth to account for their sins yesterday morning. Two white men, one white woman and a negro! These formed the party. Their was no hing remarkable in any of their cases; all seemed to be charged with drunkenness. The woman was sent up twenty days, because she had no home, and would not be likely to find any elsewhere; the black man twenty days, because this was his second appearance. A countryman was the third one, who stated in a very cool way, that he did not deserve to go to jail; but as he had no money he would go after it with the watchman; he knew a friend who would lend him $1 25. The last examined was a distressed looking object. He said he was a Mexican soldier, and had just returned, and found himself in the city moneyless, and for aught he knew friendless. His dog followed him out and had rested with him during the night. Perhaps the dog has been and is his best and only friend.

On the night of the 1st inst., as we learn by a letter from Wooster, the Branch Bank of the State Bank of Ohio, was entered and a box, containing $12,000, in coin, taken therefrom. This amount is a very small part of the entire amount of coin owned by the Bank to redeem a large outstanding circulation. At first it was reported to have been a box of silver, but it subsequently transpired that it was gold. This is very unfortunate for its Banks. Every Bank they have had has cheated the people, and the present loss may prepare the good people there for another Wooster Bank concern and clever seed speculation.—Ohio Statesman.

APPOINTMENT BY THE PRESIDENT.—We are pleased to learn of the appointment, by the President, of our friend Thomas C. McDowell, esq., of Cambria county, as Consul of the United States for the port of Rio Janeiro, or San Salvador in Brazil, in the place of A. Babis, re-called.—Mr. McD. is a young lawyer of fine abilities, fully competent to discharge, with credit to his self and advantage to the government, the duties of the important office to which he has been appointed, and of which he is eminently deserving.—Hollidaysburgh Standard.

MORE LETTERS FROM TAYLOR.—A letter from General Taylor is daily expected announcing that he would have been pleased to receive the nomination at Buffalo, and that he would have no objection to a nomination by the colored convention now in session in this city.—[Cleveland Plaindealer.

☞ Our readers will bear in mind that two comfortable and well finished brick dwelling houses, built only one or two years, situate on Fifth street, opposite the Court House, and adjoining Mr. Thomas Metford's law corner, will be sold by Auction this day, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The terms will be very reasonable. The property is desirable, and the location is the best in the city, either for private residences or business stands. The street is now grading, and will be paved and lit with gas in a few days.

Masonic Notice.—A special meeting of St. John's Lodge, No. 210, A. Y. M., will be held (in the Hall, this (Saturday) evening, at 7 o'clock. By order of the W. M.
J. DAVITT, Secretary.
September 16th, 1848.

☞ A Card.—The subscriber begs leave to inform his friends that he will open (in Wylie street, near the Female Orphan Asylum) on Monday, the 2d day of October. Any additional information required, may be obtained by applying at the Institute, to the Principal,
W. COPELAND, A. B.,

To the Public.
A MOST infamous article appeared in this morning's Dispatch, calculated to injure my reputation with such as are unacquainted with the character of the editors of that paper. I would respectfully ask of my fellow citizens to suspend opinion for a few days, till a true statement can be given.
