PITTSBURGH:

MONDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 18, 1848.

The Largest Journal in the West.

NEW AND CHEAP WEEKLY FAMILY PAPER.

THE PITTSBURGH
SATURDAY MORNING POST

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY MORNING,

POLITICS, NEWS, LITERATURE, &c., &c.

THE UNDERSIGNED WILL ISSUE, about the first of October, 1848, the first number of a LARGE FAMILY PAPER, containing more reading matter than any weekly published West of the Mountains. Every department will be faithfully attended to, and no pains or expense will be spared to render the Saturday Morning Post one of the most instructive and acceptable newspapers ever issued in the Mississippi Valley.

In its POLITICAL DEPARTMENT the paper will aim to be the faithful and honest exponent of the Principles of the GREAT DEMOCRATIC PARTY—the People's Party—the Party of Progress, Honesty and Truth. We shall fearlessly expose the unrighteous doings of Federalism, in whatever guise it may present itself, or under whatever cognomen it may sail.

The NEWS DEPARTMENT will be the object of special care and attention: Every thing that is new, interesting and exciting, will be faithfully chronicled. The various lines of MAGNETIC TELEGRAPH being now completed from Pittsburgh to nearly every leading city in the Union, we shall be enabled to present our readers up to the latest moment; a full digest of all the STIRRING EVENTS OF THE DAY.

In the LITERARY DEPARTMENT, we shall introduce an entire new feature into the columns of the Saturday Morning Post. At least eight columns of the paper each week will be devoted exclusively to Tales, Poetry, Biography, History, Moral Essays, &c., &c. In short, we shall aim to make the paper, in this respect, fully equal to the BEST LITERARY PAPERS of the East. We have now engaged several distinguished writers, who will regularly contribute ORIGINAL TALES AND POETRY, to the columns of the Saturday Morning Post.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE.—We shall furnish our readers each week with an extensive and accurate REVIEW OF THE PITTSBURGH MARKET, carefully made up from actual sales, together with the markets of Philadelphia, Baltimore, New York, Boston, Cincinnati, New Orleans, St. Louis, &c., received by Telegraph and other sources, up to the latest moment before going to press. The fluctuations in the Money Market, Prices of Stock, Exchange, &c. will also be carefully noted in each number.

PREMIUMS.

To encourage Western Talent, we shall pay a liberal compensation to any person, who will furnish us with either Tales, Poetry or Essays, which shall be deemed worthy of publication by a Committee selected for that express purpose.

TERMS OF THE SATURDAY MORNING POST.

☞ In order to secure a large circulation, we shall offer our Mammoth Weekly to the public on terms unheard of before surpassed by any paper in the West. To do this the CASH SYSTEM will be strictly adhered to:

For 1 copy, in advance,	$2.00
" 5 copies, "	9.00
" 10 " "	15.00
" 20 " "	30.00
" 50 " "	70.00
" 100 " "	130.00

CLUBBING!

To any person who will obtain the largest number of subscribers to the Saturday Morning Post, (not less than fifty) we shall present a copy of Shakspeare's Plays, splendidly bound, worth at least $5.00, besides a copy of the paper for one year. To the person who will procure the next largest number of subscribers, we shall present a beautiful edition of Lord Byron's Poems, worth at least $4.00, and a copy of the paper.

POST-MASTERS AND OTHERS,

To whom this Prospectus may be sent, are respectfully requested to act as Agents in procuring subscribers to the Saturday Morning Post. To the person who will procure 10 subscribers, we will forward one copy of the paper, as their exertions will otherwise be handsomely rewarded.

☞ Letters must be addressed (post paid) to

L. HARPER,
Editor and Proprietor of the Saturday Morning Post, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Federal Decency and Truth.

In an article on the subject of the probable increase in our exports of Grain and Breadstuffs to Europe, during the coming year, in consequence of the short crops that are now anticipated, the Philadelphia News, (a Federal penny sheet, that has the name of one of the members of the Pennsylvania Senate at its head,) says—"we are most happy to know that our farmers are likely to get good prices." This happiness, on the part of the editor, results from a knowledge of the fact, as is said in a subsequent sentence, that "there are fears of a scarcity; and of the potatoe disease in Ireland, there seems no doubt; the extent is not yet ascertained." Of course, though its extent is not yet ascertained." Of course, though its extent is not yet ascertained," Of course, then, the causes which produces suffering and misery in Ireland, and elsewhere in Europe, are sources of happiness to this gentleman, and afford ground for congratulating our own noble hearted and generous farmers, who last year sent so much to feed thousands in Europe. He was not content, however, with rejoicing over the misery thus anticipated in Europe, but with a degree of impudence unparalleled, and malignity nothing less than Sendlike, he has, in the same article from which we quote, these words:—

"There will be a great outcry and rejoicing made by the Union and all the hireling presses, if there should be great distress in Ireland from the potato rot. So our Irish brethren may judge of the love the Democratic party has for them." Gen. Cass voted against any relief for them, in their troubles from the famine—and now his party would be glad they should half of them starve, if it would only make him President—by inducing our farmers to believe the current falsehood, that the so-called Free Trade was the cause of good prices for grain and flour."

Now we can recognize him who could deliberately write, with a view to circulation, these lines, as nothing less than a vile, unprincipled party tool; too infamous to be recognized as a man, and fit only for such a station as that which he fills, as the organ and representative of an unprincipled party. Even as the organ of a portion of the party, and uttering such sentiments, we should not feel disposed to notice him, were it not that such sentiments, and such wilful misrepresentation of the Democratic party, is a matter of common occurrence,—so much so, indeed, as to compel us almost to recognise it as an accepted "Whig" principle.

The Editor of the paper from which we extract, knows,—as well as he knows that he was and is an opponent of Gen. Cass,—that every word said, in the above extract about that distinguished patriot, is utterly and unqualifiedly false. He knows, (or he is too infamously ignorant to be named among legislators,) that Gen. Cass not only voted appropriate half a million of dollars to aid the starving Irish; but he knows, also, that he made a most feeling and beautiful appeal to his fellow-members of the Senate, to sanction the appropriation. These things cannot be unknown to the editor of that sheet; and he therefore stands forth a self-convicted traducer of one of the purest and best men of this or any other country. He must stand equally prominent as a most impudent and malignant traducer of the Democratic party—while he is himself rejoicing, as only a fiend might rejoice, over the miseries and misfortunes of a large portion of his fellow-men. But we can see the true ground upon which this rejoicing is based. If there shall be suffering in Europe, poor, oppressed, and down-trodden Ireland must be the greatest sufferer; she sends annually to our shores thousands of honest freemen who vote, (as they become citizens,) the Democratic ticket; and therefore famine, or pestilence, war, insurrection, or any other means of lessening their numbers, would be hailed by him and most of his party with rejoicing.

Taylor will Veto the Proviso.

Mr. Benjamin, one of the Whig Electors for the State of Louisiana, affirmed, in a speech at Baton Rouge, General Taylor's own residence, that the old General was "all right" upon the slavery question, adding, "I CAN ASSURE MY FELLOW-CITIZENS HERE, THAT TAYLOR WILL PROMPTLY VETO ANY THING LIKE THE WILMOT PROVISO. THE INTERESTS OF THE SOUTH ARE SAFE IN HIS HANDS."

Whenever you hear a "whig" assert that Gen. Taylor is a Proviso-ist, read to him the above extract. This double game of whiggery is now beginning to be pretty well understood by the people. Walter Forward, Moses Hampton and Andy Stewart may assert a thousand times a day that Gen. Taylor will not veto the Wilmot Proviso, if passed by Congress; but the General's neighbors, the whigs of Baton Rouge, Louisiana, know better what his opinions on the subject of slavery are, than those who are endeavoring to gull the freemen of the North.

☞ The last Stark county Democrat, published at Canton, Ohio, comes to us in mourning, on account of the death of its senior editor, JOHN A. M'GREGOR, Esq.

Our Importations.—Protection.

We perceive that there is much ado among Federal editors, on account of the importations that have been made into our country, within the last few months; a great cry is made about the amount that must be paid to foreign laborers, which ought to be paid to our own; and our working men are appealed to, to protect themselves against this encroachment upon their rights—to relieve themselves of this burthen, which they are told is weighing them down to the earth. The most effective appeals that can be made at any time, or on any subject, are those which are based upon facts: and we have no hesitation in appealing to every man and woman in the community to say, if there ever was a time, when goods of all kinds, were furnished at as cheap rates, and as good, as they now are? We know we can safely make such an appeal as this. Then, on the other hand, we can also safely ask—Was there ever a time, when the whole vast interests of the country, agricultural, mechanical, mercantile, and manufacturing, were in a more healthy condition? We know that we can safely make this appeal—and all reasonable, reflecting men will answer, that our country was never in a more truly flourishing condition than at present.

Our farmers are enabled, at every port in the country, to realize a fair, though not an exhorbitantly high, price for all their produce: the planter is deriving an honest, living profit upon his investment in raising cotton, and rice, and sugar: the mechanics, in every city of our Union, and in almost every town and village, have full employment at good prices: our merchants tell us that, though they are not making rapid sales and large profits, they are yet doing a safe and healthy business: our railroads, canals, and other improvements are all yielding a handsome per centage upon their cost: our fields, our mines, our workshops, are all sending out their products at fair prices; and are receiving in return the products of each other, and of others, according to their necessities: our manufacturing companies—all who are doing business upon real capital—are steadily throwing into the market their goods, for which, of course, they are paid a living price, or they would quit the business. Yet we are told by some of these Federal growlers—(who are never satisfied unless they are comparatively coining money from nothing)—that our markets are glutted with the products of other countries, thus robbing our workmen of the wages to which they would be entitled, but for these importations.

That the operatives in our country ought to receive a much larger proportion of the profits upon manufactures than they do, we can readily admit. But we very much doubt whether if these manufactures were prohibited, and our manufacturers permitted to supply the whole demand of the country, the laboring portion of the community, who are now made the subjects of such special concern by those, who never think of them except when they want their votes, would be benefited to the amount of one cent upon a week's wages. On the contrary, let their favorite system continue for a few years, and American manufactures, at prices to suit manufacturers only, would fill every town and village in the country; while the operatives would find that their portion of the increased price would be that of the cats who got the monkey to divide for them the cheese.

But a great cause of complaint seems to be, that there is such a vast amount of goods being imported into the country, that the prices of all our manufactures must be tremendously reduced. This surely does not afford any ground upon which to insist for protection to the manufacturer: for, if this were the case, there should be some provision made for the farmer, when, after devoting four or five years to the raising of stock, and having still a great number of cattle and hogs on hand, he finds the prices of beef and pork very sensibly diminished; or when he finds himself, after a most abundant wheat and corn harvest, in the midst of a glutted market of grain. There is no such thing thought of as protection for the farmer, under such circumstances; and his good sense tells him, that these circumstances are incident to his business—that they are beyond the reach of all the laws which can be enacted on earth—and that he must attend to his own business, and regulate his own affairs, to the best of his judgment, without the hope of governmental protection.

Then supposing there is a glutted market of manufactured articles, and that the prices of all those articles are reduced to three-fourths of the price at which they have heretofore been sold—what then? The fact is, the article, so far as needed in the community, can be now had for so much less than it was formerly furnished to us: somebody must lose, it may be; and, if so, the loss falls upon the manufacturer; but, if he loses, the community are benefited, to the extent of his loss; and it is only reversing the state of things which existed before. Then, he was accumulating riches from off the community—now, the community are saving from his losses. Such a state of things necessarily results from the state of society now existing; and so long as our laws shall protect and favor capital, rather than its producers, labor, we must expect these periodical disasters to occur. And who shall say, under these circumstances, that the now wealthy manufacturer, (even supposing that he shall be reduced to the necessity of again laboring for his subsistence,) is any more to be cared for—is any more entitled to the sympathies of the community, than the humblest worthy operative, who toils for a scanty subsistence, and whose small savings (perhaps to guard himself and family against the chills of winter,) have all been swept from him by the failure of some paper money factory, induced by the rascality of its managers? In the first case, we find that, with certain losses, the expression of sympathy is co-extensive with the country,—while, in the other, there is nothing heard, nothing felt, nothing thought of, nothing cared for, beyond the limits of his own poorly fed, poorly clad, and suffering family.

A New Steam Boat.

Our old friend, Captain WM. T. NORTON, informs us that he has contracted with Mr. Cunningham, of Elisabeth, to build him a new Steamer, to run as a regular Packet between Pittsburgh and New Orleans. Her dimensions will be 33 feet beam, 31 feet floor, and 168 feet keel. Captain NORTON is determined that she shall be the Queen of the Western waters, unsurpassed and unsurpassable, in beauty, neatness and speed. She will be complete and ready for her first trip some time in February; when those of our citizens who may wish to visit the Crescent City, on either pleasure or business, will have an opportunity to take a jaunt on the most splendid boat that was ever launched in the neighborhood of Pittsburgh.

General Cass.

The Rev. Dr. Bethune, in his address before the Phi Beta Keppa Society of Dartmouth College, chose for his theme, "Patriotism as a Motive to Literary Exertion," and in alluding to the history of the "Granite State," spoke of General Cass as "the stripling schoolmaster, who in obscurity left his native hills for a western wilderness, but whose name, now sounding from Maine to the Rio Grande, was the watchword of a vast and enthusiastic party."

Betting against Taylor.

A Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun, reports that the following bets were made at one of the large hotels in that city:—$100 that General Taylor will not get 6 states; $100 on 8 states; $100 on 10 states; $100 on 12 states; $100 on 14 states; and $500 that he will not be elected at all.

Another bet of $1000 that Gen. Taylor would not be elected was declined.

A Veteran Democrat.

The Kentucky Flag, notices Mr. Joseph Downing, one of the Pioneers of that State, who has resided in the State 57 years, and voted the democratic ticket fifty-one years in succession. He takes and pays for a democratic newspaper—is a whole souled Kentucky gentleman, and bids fair to live to give many democratic votes hereafter. If any of our cotemporaries can boast of a better democrat than this, let them introduce him to the public!

Written for the Pittsburgh Cass and Butler Glee Club.

Give the Whigs a Waterloo.

AIR—O, carry me back to old Virginia.

Come join the democratic ranks,
Your country's honor save,
From traitors who have wish'd our troops
A hospitable grave;
And we'll give them such a Waterloo
As Jackson did before,
And carry them back to old Salt river,
To old Salt river's shore.

Our Platform it is broad and free,
Protecting every class,
And to carry out its principles,
We've nominated Cass;
Then give the whigs a Waterloo,
As Jackson did before,
And we'll carry them back to old Salt river,
To old Salt river's shore.

The soldier finds in it maintained,
His conflicts for our rights,
The sailor in his native sea,
When he for freedom fights,
Then up and give them Waterloo, &c.

The merchant in his counting house,
The farmer in his fields,
The laborer at his daily toils,—
All equally it shields.
Then up, &c.

And while to capital it gives
Its full protection due,
It likewise to the artisan
Proves just as clearly true.
Then up, &c.

Then up and let us to the strife,
Our leader's true and tried,
It's Cass the brave old volunteer,
And Butler by his side.
Then up, &c.

We've seen him in the tented field,
Our land from tyrants seize,
We've heard him in the Forum plead
For freedom of the seas.
Then up, &c.

Come one, come all, that freely will
Their interests sustain;
On Baltimore's broad platform stand,
Its principles proclaim,
To the old White House we'll carry them,
As we did in forty-four,
And row the whigs far up Salt river,
Far up Salt river's shore.

TARENTUM, Sept. 14, 1848. J. B. F.

The National Slaughter House.

AIR—Sitting on a Rail".

'Twas on a cold and cloudy day,
In Clay-Whig Philadelphia,
Old Horace says the Whigs did slay
Their great and favorite coon.
Their great and favorite coon,
Their great and favorite coon,
Their great and favorite coon,
From old Kentucky State!

Before the victim was destroyed,
To Lexington he was decoyed;
And coaxed to have his mind employed
Against his country's war, &c.
Was old Kentucky's coon!

The men who urged the cruel blow,
Were friendly to our country's foe;
They laid the poor old grey coon low,
And never shed a tear, &c.
O'er "Ducats in his grave!"

"The war's unjust," the whigs all say,
"The war's unjust," says Harry Clay,
"But still we'll help to slay
A Mexican myself," &c.
Says old Kentucky's coon!

"No, no," cries Zack; "there's none for you,
For nearly all of them I slew,
And now I'll have a crack at you,
For preaching unjust war," &c.
Poor old Kentucky coon!

"Hurrah for that," says Judge McLean,
"Although the war's a moral stain—
Its chief, fresh from the bloody plain,
We'll take a hand!" Old Hal," &c.
And share the spoils ourselves!"

'Most upright Judge,' says Dan, 'you're right,'
Although the hero of the fight
Was terminated a species yet they might
Eclipse Kentucky's star, &c.
And place us into power!"

"Oh, shame! oh, shame! to murder Clay,"
Methinks I hear Tom Corwin say;
"But bloody lands' the game must play
Therefore let Harry die!" &c.
The faithful, trusty coon!

"Hold on," says Greeley, "should we slip
The crimson draught now near our lip,
We'll surely get the" TEXAS GRIPPE!
As once we did before, &c.
For slighting our old coon!"

So we Go!

The "Stimme des Volkes," published at Orwigsburg, Schuylkill county, says that on the 26th of August, the militia of Union township, in that county, held a meeting at the house of Michael Krebs, to nominate candidates for militia officers. After the necessary business of the meeting was over, a proposition was made to test the vote on the Presidential question, which resulted as follows:

For Cass and Butler,	33
" Taylor and Filmore,	3
The same paper adds: "So we go in the valley."	36

A First-rate Bull.

A Mr. Pollard, one of the Baltimore Reformed Drunkards, recently in a speech before a temperance assemblage made the following unique bull: "Fathers," exclaimed he, with most ardent enthusiasm, "you have children; or if you have not, your daughters may have."

Gen. Taylor's Friends.

A writer for the Boston Whig, thus disposes of this unlucky party:

"We have lost one mighty political victory by treason; another we have in turn to work on us. The two-faced captain fooled us; now we will see what the NO FACED GENERAL can do."

☞ The present year has this singularity, that it is divisible by no fewer than thirty different numbers; viz: 2, 3, 4, 6, 7 8, 11, 12, 14, 21, 22, 24, 28, 33, 42, 44, 66, 66, 77, 84, 88, 132, 154, 168, 231, 264, 308, 462, 616, 924. Next year will be the square of 13, while we have not had a "square" year since 1761; and the next that will occur will be 87 years after next near, namely, in 1936.

☞ Ex-Governor Francis Thomas, of Md., the crazy man who persecuted his wife until public opinion drove him out of the courts, has turned Van Burenite. He has long since been driven neck and heels out of all position in the Democratic party in Maryland, on account of his conduct in that affair.

☞ Joseph M. Root, a "whig" candidate for Congress, in the Huron district, in Ohio, is making speeches against Gen. Taylor and in favor of Martin Van Buren. Like a thousand other members of his party, in Ohio, he considers Van Buren a better whig than Taylor. Why don't the General resign; so that the Whig party may no longer be distracted?

☞ The Boston Traveller says a movement for Mr. Clay is about to be made in that city. A number of the friends of Mr. C. in that section contemplate a demonstration in his favor for the Presidency. Why will Gen. Taylor distract the Whig party?

Taylor Whig Losses in Vermont.

The whig candidates for governor, lieutenant governor and treasurer are defeated, and the Taylor whigs have chosen one member of congress, whereas they had three members in the last congress! The Burlington Sentinel says positively that George P. Marsh, whig, is defeated in the 3d district, as Hebard, whig, is in the 2d. L. B. Peck, democrat, is probably re-elected in the 4th—and this leaves the whigs one member, Mr. Henry in the 1st district.

For governor we have returns of 150 towns, showing the following comparative result:—

1848	1847
Dillingham, dem.: 2,538	10,666
Coolidge, whig...16,126	Eaton.....17,126
Shafter, free soil.11,280	Brainerd, abo.....4,993
36,994	32,785

Majority against the whigs in 1847.....2,537
Majority against the whigs in 1848.....4,742!!

So that "Old Zach" proves a relative loss to the whigs in Vermont of TWO THOUSAND TWO HUNDRED AND TEN VOTES in 150 towns, and a loss of two members of congress. Hurra for the star that never sets!

Whig Ticket in 1844.

FOR PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES,
HENRY CLAY,
of Kentucky,
The Glory of his Country, and the first Living Statesman.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT,
THEODORE FRELINGHUYSEN,
of New Jersey,
An upright and able Statesman, and Honest Man.

Wisdom and Innocence.

Lately a slave in the West Indies, who had been married to another slave by one of the Missionaries, at the end of three weeks brought his wife back to the clergyman, and desired him to take her back again. The clergyman asked what was the matter with her? "Why, massa, she no good. The book says she obey me. She no wash my clothes. She no do what I want her to do." "But the book says you were to take her for better or for worse." "Yes, massa, but she all worse and no better. She too much worse and no good at all."

Who Suffers?

The "free dirt" movement will in this state absorb three whigs to one democrat. We observe by the published proceedings of a meeting in Chicago, that the principal leaders were but recently the most influential captains of the whig party, whilst almost all those formerly connected with the democratic party are miserable broken down party hacks, who have always been seeking office, but could never get it from the democrats. They have now mounted a hobby well suited to their natures. We rejoice that our party has been thus purged.—Illinois State Register.

The Mob at Cincinnati.

A correspondent of the Chronicle, alluding to the late fatal and sanguinary riot in Cincinnati, growing out of an alleged outrage upon a little German girl, by two returned volunteers, says:

"And now, Mr. Editor, what do you think this mob has resolved into? A melancholy yet splendid humbug! The little girl was not only unmolested, but the poor soldiers were altogether innocent themselves. They were indicted because the avaricious and almost brutal father of the girl hoped to get some money, in the shape of land warrants, from them. The father himself, fearing an arrest, has fled the city, and now the tide of public feeling is setting against him and in favor of the prisoners. What a world we live in, and what is being of contempt and iniquity in man!"

☞ We say THAT.—The Pittsburgh Post says Pennsylvania will give a larger majority for Cass and Butler, in proportion to the number of votes polled, than any State in the Union. Now we intend to be at Pittsburgh one of these days, and we will just go a week's board at the "Cornuck hotel" that Michigan will be the banner state of this Union, after the 7th day of November.—Detroit Free Press.

We have all along contended that Illinois would retain the "Banner" in the coming election, but the omens which come to us from Ohio, Pennsylvania, Michigan, and Missouri, convince us that we will have to give it up to our formidable competitors for the prize. Taylorism is everywhere on the wane, and our twenty thousand majority will cut but a sorry figure on the side of the overwhelming legions for Cass and Butler, in other States.—Illinois State Register.

SCHUYLKILL COUNTY AGAINST THE WORLD.—A Mrs. Dress, wife of Michael Dress, of Wayne, (Pa.) township, was delivered of four children, two girls and two boys—three of them are living and doing well. She is now the mother of 24 children, and is only 33 years of age. Beat this if you can.

☞ Daniel Webster says that the nomination of Gen. Taylor was NOT FIT to be made. If it was not fit to be made, is it fit to be sustained?

☞ To Mothers.—The discovery which every mother of Feverish and Sickly children has been looking for, is relatively obtained by Dr. Clickener's preparation, called the Sugar Coated Vegetable Purgative Pills. The Pills are sugar coated with fine white sugar, so that it resembles and tastes like a sugar plum, which no child ever yet refused to swallow. For Worms this is a sure and speedy remedy, and has been used with excellent effect in cases of teething. The matron of the Farm School retires to Dr. Clickener, that she has used for some time, Dr. Segar Cordial Pills to both these complaints, and always with entire success.

☞ PILES.—This distressing complaint proceeds from a want of proper circulation of the bowels, or the intestines, instead of being thoroughly expelled from the body, are but partially so; a portion being left as a nucleus, which in the course of time becomes the most painful complaint called Piles; and is frequently neglected until it ripens into a more horrid form of disease, called Fistula. Dr. Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills, of the "North American College of Health," are a true and natural remedy for the above complaints, because they clear out from the body from those morbid humors which are not only the cause of Piles, but of every malady incident to mankind. Beware of Counterfeits and Imitations! Remember, also, that Messrs. WILL you still be without a beautiful set of white pearly TEETH, and a sweet, fragrant Breath, when you can have them both by using a 5c. box of Jones' Asiatic Tooth Paste? It whitens the Teeth, hardens the Gums, sweetens the Breath, and is, without exception, the most beautiful and economical dentrifice ever used.

For sale by
WM. JACKSON, Gen. Agent,
sep18 No. 57 Liberty st., Pittsburgh.

RING-WORM, Salt Rheum, Scurvy, Erysipelas, and Barber's Itch, are often cured by Jones' Italian Chemical Soap, when every kind of remedy has failed. That it cures pimples, freckles, and clears the skin, all know. Jones' Italian Vegetable Pills, of the "North American College of Health," are a true and natural remedy for the above complaints, because they clear out from the body from those morbid humors which are not only the cause of Piles, but of every malady incident to mankind. Beware of Counterfeits and Imitations! Remember, also, that Messrs. Feschwanger & Co., of New York; Jas. S. Glascoe & Co., of Louisville, are not agents for this medicine, and we cannot guarantee the genuineness of that offered by them for sale.

Principal Office, Dr. Wright's, 169 Race street, Philadelphia; and by JOHN THOMPSON, 155 Liberty street, Pittsburgh, Pa., who is sole agent, of whom dealers can be supplied at the wholesale rate.

☞ The present year has this singularity, that it is divisible by no fewer than thirty different numbers; viz: 2, 3, 4, 6, 7 8, 11, 12, 14, 21, 22, 24, 28, 33, 42, 44, 66, 66, 77, 84, 88, 132, 154, 168, 231, 264, 308, 462, 616, 924. Next year will be the square of 13, while we have not had a "square" year since 1761; and the next that will occur will be 87 years after next near, namely, in 1936.

☞ Ex-Governor Francis Thomas, of Md., the crazy man who persecuted his wife until public opinion drove him out of the courts, has turned Van Burenite. He has long since been driven neck and heels out of all position in the Democratic party in Maryland, on account of his conduct in that affair.

☞ Joseph M. Root, a "whig" candidate for Congress, in the Huron district, in Ohio, is making speeches against Gen. Taylor and in favor of Martin Van Buren. Like a thousand other members of his party, in Ohio, he considers Van Buren a better whig than Taylor. Why don't the General resign; so that the Whig party may no longer be distracted?

☞ The Boston Traveller says a movement for Mr. Clay is about to be made in that city. A number of the friends of Mr. C. in that section contemplate a demonstration in his favor for the Presidency. Why will Gen. Taylor distract the Whig party?

Taylor Whig Losses in Vermont.

The whig candidates for governor, lieutenant governor and treasurer are defeated, and the Taylor whigs have chosen one member of congress, whereas they had three members in the last congress! The Burlington Sentinel says positively that George P. Marsh, whig, is defeated in the 3d district, as Hebard, whig, is in the 2d. L. B. Peck, democrat, is probably re-elected in the 4th—and this leaves the whigs one member, Mr. Henry in the 1st district.

For governor we have returns of 150 towns, showing the following comparative result:—

1848	1847
Dillingham, dem.: 2,538	10,666
Coolidge, whig...16,126	Eaton.....17,126
Shafter, free soil.11,280	Brainerd, abo.....4,993
36,994	32,785

Majority against the whigs in 1847.....2,537
Majority against the whigs in 1848.....4,742!!

So that "Old Zach" proves a relative loss to the whigs in Vermont of TWO THOUSAND TWO HUNDRED AND TEN VOTES in 150 towns, and a loss of two members of congress. Hurra for the star that never sets!

LOCAL MATTERS.

THE TOMB.—"Well, well, such a crowd," said one of the cases Saturday morning, as he looked into the countenances of the other unfortunate people who were brought before the tribunal of municipal law. The most remarkable feature in the assembly was the fact that all were white. Two coats had been encroached upon by the watchmen of the previous night. One in the Fifth Ward, near the Water Works—three boys and an unfortunate girl were brought down and furnished with lodgings in the basement of the Mayor's office. The woman appeared to be a young vagrant; she said she was from Kentucky, and now lived in Sharpsburgh. Her sentence was thirty days in jail, which was better for her than a discharge could have been. The boys were sent up for five days, each.

A house on Smithfield street was cleared out by the watchmen. There was a row there, in which a woman was concerned. The neighbors have complained of the house for some time, and some of them appeared before the Mayor with information in regard to its character. The keeper and one or two other men, and two girls, were arrested. Some paid fines, and two of the keeper and the oldest of the girls were sent up. The youngest girl was an object for commiseration. She is not more than fifteen years of age, and is quite good looking, modest and amiable. We could not learn that there was sufficient cause for her arrest, as the watchman said she was found in bed, and the keeper of the house assured the Mayor that she was in no way concerned in the difficulty; she was his sister-in-law, and lived with him. So here is a view of the road to ruin. An innocent girl is in the world without any other home than such an one as the Smithfield dog-gery; and without sufficient knowledge of human affairs to hunt one that would suit her. Without having committed a single offence, she was put into the Tombs because found in bad company. What are the prospects of this poor girl? Society has pronounced her doom; her soul has been murdered and the vengeance of violated law will some day be wreaked upon her miserable body! Let people think upon this case, and ask "Who is responsible for the crimes that are committed?" We say not the criminal, who for the want of the proper guardiances is made an outcast at the very beginning of his career. But let us hope (if we can do no more) that there is "a good time coming" when the great truth will be recognized in the institutions of society that all who are born have "a right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness!"

An old man, trembling with age, stood before the Mayor to hear his sentence. The watchman brought him in for safety, and intended to recommend him to the protection of the Guardians of the Poor. They are to take him this day; till which time, at his own request, he was committed to jail. We presume he is dumpated, but do not know. One thing is certain, he is sick, poor and without a friend. He complained very much of the lodgings given him; said his room mate was turbulent; and here the crowd around laughed, but he did not, for his pains warned him that it was a serious matter.

Yesterday morning there were several cases, but all were very "common," as the watchmen say. Drunkenness and vagrancy were the charges against them, and five were sent to the Hill.

His Honor, Mayor Adams, who is a strict Church goer, does his "work of necessity and mercy" very early on Sunday mornings. While
